Gov. Tom Ridge Makes Prominent Appearances At Opening Of Pennsylvania Farm Show

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Pennsylvania's Governor Tom Ridge figured prominently in three major events that opened the Pennsylvania Farm Show last Friday and Saturday: the combined Farm Show and International Day dinner held Friday night at the Hershey Convention Center, a farm press conference held Saturday morning just off from the press office, and the grand tour of the show and official opening in the large arena Saturday around noon.

Supreme champion of the meat breeds is the fall ram lamb shown by Lee and Louise Wagner, Easton, in Northampton County. In the photo, from left, Andrea Musser, Lamb and Wool Queen; Bud Martin, judge; Walt Peechatka, executive deputy secretary; Lee Wagner, owner; and Craig Flack, at the lead. See story and results on page D8.

"I would say to all Pennsylvanians, 'You have no idea when you go to buy that box of cereal or loaf of bread or bottle of milk how little of the price you pay ends up to go to the farm families who produce it,'" Ridge said. "'You should all know out there that our farmers are the most efficient producers of food and fiber in the world. Dispel yourself of the notion that when you pay the price that it's going to the farmer. You might want to see how much they are paying the superstar for the endorsement. I'm just telling everybody, we have a lot to understand in what our agriculture and farm community do for Pennsylvania and appreciate the contribution they make to the quality of life in this country.'

"This week we honor Pennsylvania's creators and their creations. We celebrate our land and the families who work it. We pay homage to our rich agriculture heritage and tradition."

A major feature of the opening dinner was the inclusion of 125 international guests from 35 countries who were invited to come to Pennsylvania to see what our producers and agribusinesses have to offer the world for export. While specific agreements have occurred from the first attempt at an International Day last year, Farm Show officials are banking on the notion that if we "break bread together," the friendly atmosphere will encourage export trade through Philadelphia's seaport and the major airports from Pittsburgh, Harrisburg, and Philadelphia that have daily flights connecting to all major potential exporting partners.

"That's why we have opened our Farm Show to the world," Ridge said. "Farmers in Pennsylvania are making their mark in international markets, markets in which two-way trade can benefit all participatents.

"To every country, Pennsylvania will proudly show you quality products, equipment, and opportunities to purchase. But we understand a global market that is critically important to all of us depends on the development of bilateral relationships. Pennsylvania is not interested in paving a one way street. We are interested in short and long term relationships that insure that trade goes in two directions."

The Winner Is...

The record crowds at the 1997 Pennsylvania Farm Show matched the many visitors who registered at Lancaster Farming's booth for an original old fashioned White Mountain Ice Cream Freezer. We are pleased to announce that the winner of the drawing is DELBERT E. SWARTZ, Thompsontown, Juniata County, Pennsylvania. Congratulations to the winner and thanks to everyone who stopped and entered the drawing. Our staff enjoyed meeting everyone of you.

FFA Keystone Winners, Star Farmers Share Honors

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The number of members on the show floor could be a reflection — 205. In all, the more than 3,000 FFA members and family in attendance Monday night in the Farm Show Large Arena proved, indeed, that FFA is the largest student organization in the state — and perhaps the world.

Monday night was a major highlight in the lives of 205 Keystone Award recipients who awaited anxiously to receive the state's highest honor at the 68th Mid-Winter FFA Convention.

At the convention, Pennsylvania Secretary of Education Eugene Hickok told FFA members and family that FFA is the "largest student organization that exists." State membership stands at 6,400.

Paul Neer holds the halter of the supreme champion dairy cow of the 1997 Farm Show, Walnut Hills Logic Cathy, an EX95-point Holstein, while state Dairy Princess Angela Werley and Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brosius present the banner. See story on Page A19.

He also told them how important FFA members were to the "future of communities and agriculture as an industry."

Hickok told members to learn to apply their talents and energy to the future and to "stand up for the values you are concerned with."

U.S. Sen. Rick Santorum, also speaking at the convention, spoke about his own family growing up working for a "company store in a company town," as coal miners. "We were poor but we didn't know we were poor," Santorum said. He said they grew up in an environment where there was a "family who loved them, neighbors who looked after them, a community that cared, and faith in a God they trusted."

Santorum challenged the students to keep America good, keep it great with the work they do and will continue in their chosen careers.

Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brosius welcomed the FFA members and family to the 81st annual Farm Show. He reminded them that, with FFA, there is no other organization that "prepares you to take your place in society."

FFA supporters were recognized at the ceremony. The H.O. Sargent Award went to Dr. Ferman Moody, state director of vocational education, for his lifetime achievement — more than 50 years of service — to the formerly

Bud Dean, Strasburg in Lancaster County, received the J. Ira Coble Award at the Farm Show for his nearly 30 years of service as a 4-H leader. See story page A24.

NY Phil Frozen Eggs

JANUARY 10, 1997

Prices were lower for whole egg and yolks, and whites were unchanged. The market tone stabilized at the new lower price levels. Demand increased and was moderate to good. Supplies were generally adequate. Raw material supplies were also usually adequate, but seller confidence increased as floor stocks cleared and inquiry increased; thus, the undertone was steady to instances firm. Liquid and frozen eggs (ingredients included) processed under federal inspection in the East for the week ending January 4, 1997 were 7% more than last week, and 4% less than the same week last year.

NE Chicken Pts 1&2

JANUARY 15, 1997

Trucklot buying activity was generally slow and disappointing. Offerings were irregularly available with boneless skinless breasts and wings a little easier to obtain, bone-in still tight. A difference of opinion was apparent on leg items which were generally in good balance with current needs. The market tone was unsettled.

PRICES PAID PER POUND, ICE PACKED AND CO2 PACKED BROILER/FRYER PARTS, DELIVERED TO FIRST RECEIVERS IN POOL TRUCKLOT AND TRUCKLOT QUANTITIES. Delmarva Broiler

JANUARY 15, 1997

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds remained light and selective. Offerings were adequate to ample, and were more readily available on the over 3 pound sizes. Live supplies were at least moderate; weights were mostly desirable to heavier than desired. Processing schedules were moderate to heavy. Less than truckiot asking prices were 1 cent lower at 59 to 73 cents. Trade sentiment was weak. Bone-in breasts remained in short supply. Boneless skinless breasts were fully adequate to ample. Wings were adequate to fully adequate. Leg quarters had tightened and several plants reported a no more than adequate supply.

National Egg Market

JANUARY 15, 1997

Prices were unchanged to higher for the large sizes in the East and Midwest, elsewhere, prices were unchanged. The market tone was steady to firm, strongest for large. Demand remained moderate to good, best into retail and breaking channels. Supplies of large were adequate to tight partially due to increased molting, slaughter, breaking and export; the balance of sizes were generally adequate. Breaking stock supplies were adequate to barely adequate for the moderate to good demand, and the undertone remained steady to fully steady. Live hen supplies were adequate for full plant schedules.

National Grain Market

ST. JOSEPH, MO
JANUARY 15, 1997

Grain and soybean bids finished higher, today, due to adverse weather conditions across the Midwest, curtailing movement of commodities. Fund buying on the board was also supportive, especially to corn bids. Wheat 2 to 5 cents higher. Corn 2 to 5 cents higher. Sorghum 4 to 6 cents higher. Soybeans 8 to 10 cents higher. Cold temperatures and snow in the upper Midwest have created serious problems for movement of all commodities. Barge, rail, and truck movement have all slowed. PENNFIELD DAIRY DAYS

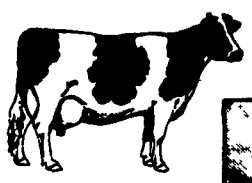
The Family Dairy Farm

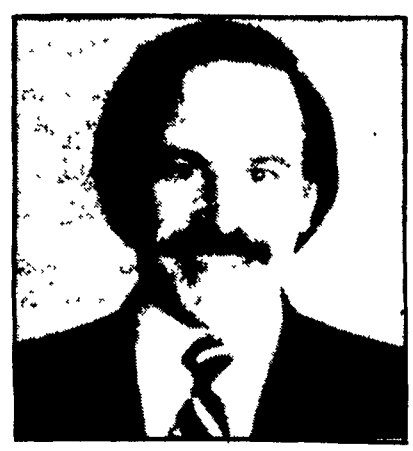
Profitable and Enjoyable

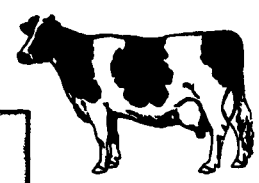


Featured Speakers

Timothy Snyder, Ph.D. PAS
Mgr., Dairy Nutrition,
Pennfield Corp.

Roger L. Saltman, DVM, PAS
Senior Technical Services Manager
Hoffmann – La Roche Inc.





Dr. Snyder grew up and worked on a central Pennsylvania dairy farm. He graduated from the Dairy Science Department at Delaware Valley College with emphasis on nutrition /management and went on for an advance degree at Va. Tech with emphasis on forage utilization. Dr. Snyder received his Ph D from the Dairy and Animal Science department at Penn State University in rumen function. During college he also worked on a dairy research farm and on a dairy farm in Germany.

Dr. Snyder was employed as a multicounty extension agent in North Carolina. There, he emphasized dairy and forage production.

He did extensive research and teaching in graduate school. He was previously employed in dairy/ruminant research and technical service for a farm supply cooperative for five years. He has been with Pennfield in dairy/ruminant research and technical service for the past 10 years.

Dr. Saltman was raised in southern California and came East to attend Princeton University. After college, he purchased a small farm with a partner and farmed in the Finger Lakes Region of upstate New York. Afterward, Dr. Saltman returned to school to take a veterinary degree at Cornell Veterinary School.

For six years, Dr. Saltman was in a multidisciplinary practice based in central New York. There, he specialized in production medicine, including ration formulation, nutritional consulting, and records analysis.

Dr. Saltman joined American Cyanamid in 1987 as part of the Bovine Somatotropin (BST) project. He became involved in research and animal industry education, new product development, and technical service consultation. After the sale of the Cyanamid feed additive business, Dr. Saltman became senior technical services manager with Hoffmann-La Roche.

The Old Farmer's Almanac This Week With Almanac

M. L. KING JR.'S BIRTHDAY, JAN. 20.

FULL WOLF MOON

Called by some the Winter Moon, the Full Wolf Moon this January 23 signals a time of long, cold nights. Besides Moon names, early Native Americans also had a bevy of remedies for the colds, chills, and chilblains that came at this time of year. Onions often predominated, whether in a restorative gruel, made into a plaster for the chest, roasted and applied hot to the feet for chilblains, or juiced for cough syrups and ear drops. For chills, hot rocks at the feet, warm blankets, and hot teas made with sage, peppermint, or yarrow were prescribed.

If cold wind reach you through a hole, say your prayers, and mind your soul.

TIP OF THE WEEK

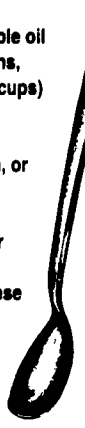
ONION SOUP

(Good for what ails you!)

- 4 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 2 pounds yellow onions, sliced thin (about 7 cups)
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 2 quarts beef, chicken, or vegetable stock
- pepper, to taste
- French bread slices or cubes (optional)
- grated Parmesan cheese (optional)



Melt butter in a 5-quart stockpot, then add oil, onions, and salt. Sauté over low heat for about 20 minutes. Sprinkle flour over onions and cook a few more minutes. Transfer onions to a dish, add stock to the pot, and heat to simmering. Return onions to pot and simmer 30 minutes. Just before serving, toast French bread and add to soup. You can sprinkle grated cheese on the bread, or on the soup itself. Melt the cheese under the broiler, if desired.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

The Old Farmer's Weather Proverbs

A fair day in winter is the mother of a storm.

Fog in January makes a wet spring.

Special Offer. Handy chart full of interesting weather proverbs. Send $3 to Weather Chart, Dept. UF, The Old Farmer's Almanac, Box 520, Dublin, NH 03444

Quotable Quotes

We often look for what we call "quotable quotes" when we talk to farmers or listen to public officials. And we are more inclined to quote the former rather than the latter. But we were in a press conference with Gov. Tom Ridge last Saturday that was just prior to the governor's annual tour of the Farm Show.

As this conference ended, Gov. Ridge made an off-the-cuff statement to Pennsylvania consumers that we think fallsvery nicely into our "Quotable Quotes" column. He said, and we quote:

"I would say to all Pennsylvanians, 'You have no idea when you go to buy that box of cereal or loaf of bread or bottle of milk how little of the price you pay ends up to go to the farm families who produce it,'" Ridge said. "'You should all know out there that our farmers are the most efficient producers of food and fiber in the world. Dispel yourself of the notion that when you pay the price that it's going to the farmer. You might want to see how much they are paying the superstar for the endorsement. I'm just telling everybody, we have a lot to understand in what our agriculture and farm community do for Pennsylvania and appreciate the contribution they make to the quality of life in this country.'

Thank you Gov. Ridge for this statement. With your permission, we will put your quote on our soon-to-be launched home page on the internet where all the world can see what's really happening inside the farm gate.

Now Is The Time

Lancaster County Agricultural Agent

To Look At Nutrient Management Regulations

The regulations for implementing the Pennsylvania Nutrient Management Law are nearing completion, according to Leon Ressler, extension environmental agent.

It is expected that the law will take effect in September 1997. The first nutrient management plans will be due one year later in September 1998.

Plans will be required from farms which have two or more animal units per acre of cropland. An animal unit is defined as 1,000 pounds of live body weight. The plans must be written by a certified nutrient management planner.

Farmers may become certified to write their own nutrient management plan or they may hire a commercial planner.

To Become Certified Nutrient Management Planners

People who are interested in becoming certified nutrient management planners must attend two days of required precertification training, according to Leon Ressler, extension environmental agent.

This training will cover what the Nutrient Management Law (Act 6) will require in nutrient management plans. The training will assume participants have a basic understanding of soil fertility, crop management, conservation practices, and manure management.

Optional one-day workshops will be conducted for those desiring training in these areas. After the required training is completed, those desiring certification will then take a certification exam. The exam will cover nutrient application and management, soil science and fertility, soil testing and analysis, fertilizer materials, best management practices for nutrient and water management, Act 6 and other applicable laws.

Contact your local extension office for training and certification exam dates. For Lancaster County, the meetings will be held at the Farm and Home Center. The training dates are March 10 and 11 and the exam will be given on March 18.

To Melt Ice On Walkways

With the recent ice storms, Dr. Tim Elkner, extension horticultural agent, reminds us to use sand or kitty litter on ice instead of salt or fertilizers.

Salt washed into lawns and beds will damage plant roots. However, you will not see the damage until later in the year when warmer weather returns.

Fertilizers, while generally being good for plants in the yard, tend to concentrate at the edges of walks and driveways when the ice melts. These areas of concentrated fertilizers may cause the same type of damage to your plants as salt.

You may use your fertilizer spreader to sprinkle sand on icy areas. This will result in a more even application of sand and will be much easier than spreading with a shovel.

Editor:

Several years ago I wrote Joyce Bupp expressing to her the pleasure I received from reading her column each week. My exact statement to her at that time was — the first thing I read each issue is the "Bible Speaks" by Lawrence W. Althouse and then turn to your column. Her gracious reply was — you have your priorities in perfect order, the Sunday School lesson first.

I was surprised Friday, yesterday, to find this weeks issue already delivered, ordinarily the delivery comes on Saturday. As usual I turned first to page 10 and read the Sunday School lesson then to Section "B", and I looked and looked and looked some more, finally 213 pages from the front there was Joyce Bupp's column. I had already concluded that the Farm Show had already bumped from this edition, fortunately I was wrong.

Mrs. Bupp's picture with the article is the third update that I can remember, and it almost seems like she looks younger and more attractive with each change, almost like running a film backwards. I am sure that she is pleased with the current picture.

For what it's worth, I want to commend you on the excellent paper delivered to me each week. I was involved in the publication of our Bi-Centennial Book "Alloway Remembers," a 400-page hardcover in 1976 and an updated second edition in 1986 so I have a slight knowledge of the work involved in your publication. You have evidently assembled a competent staff to have such excellent results. I hope you continue to provide me with Lancaster Farming through my eighties and nineties.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

CHECK YOUR DIAL, PLEASE!
January 19, 1997

Background Scripture:
Matthew 4:18-20; 16:13-23
Devotional Reading:
Luke 22:54-62

I double that there are many in this land who have never seen or at least heard that famous Bud Abbot and Lou Costello routine, "Who's on first; What's on second." Much of its undying popularity is based upon our ability to identify with the confusing vs. the communicating power of human language.

We have some of the same problems when we try to understand the gospels and it seems that this is why Jesus seldom accepted or claimed titles for himself. He knew, for example, that the connotations of the word "messiah" could convey so many different meanings to people and he wanted to avoid the word games which so many of his followers continue to play. We see this same paradox when he tells his disciples "whoever would be great among you must be your servant" (Mt. 20:27).

It is this same ambiguity that is the heart of the controversy over "the primacy of Peter." When Jesus says, "And I tell you, you are Peter, and on this rock I will build my church," is he establishing Peter as the first primate of the church or is he simply speaking about the faith which Peter exhibited in this incident? The Roman Catholic church, of course, believes the former and most others the latter.

WHAT DO THEY SAY?

I really don't care who wins that argument — it doesn't really change for me the meaning of following Jesus Christ — but I think the subtlety of the words used here are instructive for all of us. When, stopping for a sojourn in Caesarea Philippi, Jesus asks, "Who do men say that the Son of man is?" He gets a variety of answers from his followers. When he asks, "But who do you say that I am?", only impetuous, straight-forward Peter blurts out: "You are the Christ, the Son of the Living God" (Mt. 16:14-16).

Who is this impulsive Galilean? His name is really Simon Bar-Jona, meaning "Simon, son of John." When Jesus says, "And I tell you, you are Peter, and on this rock I will build by church," he is saying in Aramaic, you are Cephas, a word very close to kepha, the word for rock. When his words were translated into Greek they became Petros (Peter) and petra (rock).

We know that Simon Peter (as we call him today) was a fisherman and a if not the leader of Jesus' band of disciples. We know he has outspoken and impulsive and on Jesus' last night on earth Peter denied him three times. Never a perfect man, Peter was nevertheless a man of faith and I think it was Peter's faith that was lifted up by Jesus as an example to the rest of his disciples.

FROM 'ROCK' TO 'SATAN'

Actually, Peter's faith is like ours-imperfect. Not only did he deny his Lord, but in Matthew 16 in just five verses he goes from being the "rock" of faith to an aide of Satan! When he protests Jesus' prophecy of his impending death, Jesus replies, "Get behind me, Satan! You are a hindrance to me; for you are not on the side of God, but of men" (v.23). What a slide! Does it remind you of any of your own descents from faith in God to faith in human wisdom?

Earlier in this episode, Jesus salutes Peter with these words: "Blessed are you Simon Bar-Jonah! For flesh and blood has not revealed this to you, but my Father who is is heaven" (v.17). What Jesus is saying here is roughly akin to 'Good for you, Simon, you've been tuned into God.' And in contrast to that, he says later "for you are not on the side of God, but of men."

So the crux of the matter is being tuned into God or tuned into society. Most often is makes a big difference in the message we're hearing.

FFA Keystone Winners, Star Farmers Share Honors From Largest Youth Organization

New Farmers of America, which was incorporated into National FFA in 1965. This is the inaugural year for the national award, presented to three individuals that have devoted a lifetime of commitment to agricultural education and promotion of diversity within ag education. Sargent was the founder of NFA, a black vocational student organization. Moody, who was an NFA adviser in Virginia, is the national president of the National State Directors of Vocational Education. Next year the award will also honor students nationally for their work in FFA chapters.

The Blue and Gold Award was presented to Kerry Hoffman, Penn State pesticide education coordinator, and to Glen Wenger, who operates a farm machinery business, for many years of dedicated service to FFA.

Ten-Plus Chapter Awards were presented to the following chapters: Central Columbia, Chestnut Ridge, Greater Johnstown AVTS, Line Mountain, Octorara, Reading-Muhlenburg AVTS, and Shippensburg. The Agri-Science Award was presented to the following individuals: Travis Frey, Cloister; Tara Plewa, Twin Valley; Michelle Cornman, Big Spring; Greg Hubbard, Central Columbia; and Roberta Cauffman, Greenwood. The Pa. Dept. of Ag Safety Award went to the following chapters: Berlin Brothersvalley, Manor, Spudgrowers, and Lenape AVTS.

National Chapter awards were presented to the following: Gold: West Snyder, Berlin Brothersvalley, and Spudgrowers; Silver: Manor, Cedar Crest, and Conococheque; Bronze: Greenwood, Lenape AVTS, and Manheim; and Superior Chapter: Hans Her, Cowanesque, State College, Upper Dauphin, Tyrone, Ephrata, Mason Dixon, Redback Valley, Headwaters, Tulpehocken, Mohawk, W.B. Saul, Mifflinburg, Tri-Valley, West Perry, Cumberland Valley, and Central Columbia.

Honorary Keystone degrees were bestowed on the following families: Raymond and Sharon Bollinger, Ephrata, Cloister Chapter; Robert and Leslie Best, Holtwood, Manor Chapter; Robert and Doris Kimmel, Home, Marion Center Chapter; and Glen and Faye Cauffman, Millerstown, Greenwood Chapter.

The Ag Sales, Service, and Mechanics Star went to Charles Aurentz, Cedar Crest FFA and eastern region star, left. Charles was also named Star Agribusiness Award winner. At right, presenting the award, is Tim Weiler, state adviser.

A Special Parent Award for a family who received the honorary degree and who still devote their time to helping their children achieve the Keystone was given to John and Margaret Bomgardner, Ono, Northern Lebanon Chapter.

The regional and state stars were also presented. The following regional stars were honored:

- Specialized Agriculture: Preston Hoopes, Headwaters FFA member, north central region. Preston, 17, is the son of James and Sandra Hoopes, Ulysses. He has served as chapter student adviser and treasurer and as chairman of the citrus committee. He completed projects on green beans and carrots and plans to work on the family crop farm.
- Horticulture: Randall A. Harting, Tevoca/Brownstown AVTS, and eastern region star. Randall works at the Stauffer's of Kissel Hill nursery and will continue to work there after graduation.
- Ag Sales, Service, and Mechanics: Charles Aurentz, Cedar Crest FFA, and eastern region star. Charles, 17, is the son of Russell E. and Carol Aurentz, Lebanon. Charles plans to attend a two-year technical college to obtain an associate's degree in automotive mechanics. He has served as chapter reporter and president and on various other committees. He completed supervised ag experience (SAE) in shop and other areas.
- Production Agriculture: Michelle Cornman, Big Spring FFA, south central star. Michelle, 17, is the daughter of Melvin and Betty Cornman, Carlisle. She plans to attend Penn State to major in dairy and animal science. She has served as chapter secretary and president and is CDP area president. Michelle has completed project work in swine, sheep, and beef finishing, in addition to goat finishing and breeding swine. She received the PLA Livestock Award.

The Production Agriculture Star went to Michelle Cornman, Big Spring FFA and south central star. She also won the state Star Farmer Award. Tim Weiler, state adviser, presented the award.

The state Star Farmer award went to Michelle Cornman and the state Star Agribusiness Award went to Charles Aurentz.

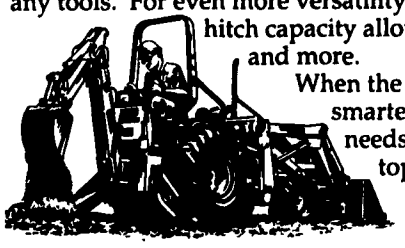
ALL THE ANSWERS FROM KUBOTA

When the question is how to work smarter, Kubota gives you multiple choices!

Kubota's new L-35 has performance features that include a GST transmission for clutchless shifting on the go through all 8 forward and reverse speeds, hydrostatic power steering, and a roomy ISO-mounted operator's platform that reduces vibration. An optional hydraulic port offers the versatility to use hydraulic breakers and other tools.

The rugged B-20 offers a liquid-cooled 20 HP diesel engine with hydrostatic transmission, integral power steering, and standard 4WD for greater traction and power.

Both the B-20 and L-35 feature a loader-integrated reinforced frame that withstands rigorous work . Loader operation is simplified with a single-lever control, and the durable backhoe can be attached or detached in just a few minutes without the use of any tools. For even more versatility, a Rear-PTO and 3-point hitch capacity allow you to till, scrape, mow, and more.



When the question is how to work smarter, Kubota responds to your needs with tractors that are at the top of their class!

Kubota.

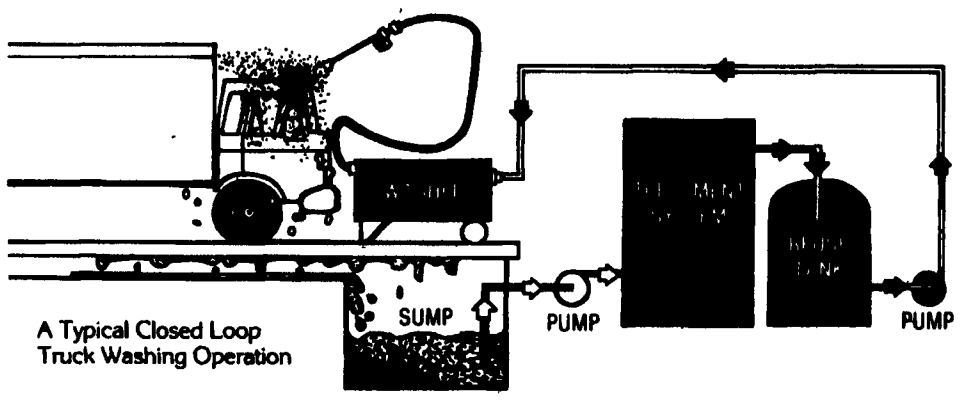
WASTE WATER PRETREATMENT & RECYCLING



A Typical Closed Loop Truck Washing Operation

Since most of our area businesses are operated by good common sense people, there is a concern about waste and hazardous materials. Our goal is to relieve those concerns and provide local and state authorities to answer your questions. Throughout the day lectures with question and answer sessions will be held.

Thanks Your Farmers For Giving Us Over [illegible] More Tobacco.

"Farmers"
If you need a contract for 1997 crop of tobacco, make sure that it is no less than $1.80/lb. And it should be $1.92/lb. Our tobacco in PA is as good as the Burley tobacco. We at Paradise think it is better than the MD grown tobacco.

'97 Farm Show Sets Attendance Records, Many Firsts

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — In almost every regard, the 1997 Farm Show may have well been one of the best, if not the best Farm Shows ever.

At least that's the way Dennis Grumbine, director of the Farm Show, saw it Thursday after the conclusion of the sale of champion livestock animals.

"I've been an exhibitor here for close to 30 years," Grumbine said. "For 35 years I've been connected with the Farm Show, and the last 16 as a commissioner, and the past year as director.

"I think it's probably one of the greatest we've had," he said, "with international folks coming in here (a group of Russians urged by the first interantional trade day last year purchased booth space at the Farm Show this year); attendance is probably 30 percent above the best year ever; and in talking to vendors and commercial exhibitors, they all seem very pleased with busines leads and sales.

"We had great weather, probably some of the best in the nation, with snow in Texas and Florida and not here. It sure was a contrast

Shepherds And Sheep Compete At State Farm Show

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Almost 200 head of the most stylish sheep representing 12 breeds filled the small arena in the Farm Show Complex Wednesday afternoon. Two shows ran simultaneously from which champions were selected from each breed.

Following the breed competitions, 46 showmen competed in the youth showmanship classes divided into four classes according to age groups. Judge Heath Geiman, a Suffolk breeder from Westminster, Md., said that the high quality youth sheep show had lots of good showman and many more with good potential.

The showmanship champions from each age group were Matt Trostle, senior division; Jodie Champman, intermediate; Ann Leed, junior division; and Kyle Fleener, primary.

"The secret is to stay calm," said 18-year-old Trostle who has clinched the title several times at state competitions.

His calmness no doubt also resulted in being named champion showman in hog competition held earlier at the Farm Show Complex. He is the son of Ronald and Yvonne Trostle.

Sixteen-year-old Jodie won showmanship at the state level two years ago. She is the daughter of Jeff and Joan Chapman of Washington. The family raises about 60 head of Montadales.

Ann Leed demonstrated that when it comes to sheep, she knows her stuff. Not only did she win her age division in showmanship but also was named Champion Shepherd in the junior division. To achieve that distinction, Ann competed with about 20 other youth in a 2½ hour test. Each participant needed to fit a sheep from the stockyard, identify seeds and equipment, and was required to judge a class of wool and a class of sheep. Contestants also took a test on sheep management.

Ann is the daughter of Bob and Nancy Leed of Lebanon, where they operate Deep Run Sheep Farm.

Ironically the Champion Shepherd in the senior division was also from Lebanon. Ben Bow is well known in sheep show circles.

After showing the reserve champion Southdown, Kyle went on to clinch the showmanship title in his age division. Kyle, the son of Tim and Sarah Fleener of Robesonia had achieved the same success in showmanship two years ago at Farm Show.

Walnut Hills Cathy Captures Farm Show Supreme

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Walnut Hill Logic Cathy, an Excellent-95 point, 6-year-old Holstein with an excellent mammary, on Tuesday was named supreme champion 1997 Farm Show.

Cathy is owned by Paul Neer of Belleville, Delmar and Larry Zimmerman of Mifflin, and Frank Connelly of State College, and has seen the limelight before. She was grand champion of the 1995 Pennsylvania Holstein Association Spring Show and has won other championships.

The supreme championship at the state Farm Show is a final selection between the grand champions of each of the six dairy cattle breeds recognized in Farm Show competition.

Cathy was up against the top Jersey, a 5-year-old, Cotton spring Sooner Rosey, owned by Jennifer Vance of Mt. Pleasant; a 3-year-old Brown Swiss that was given honorable mention by the judges, Heilinger Eventide Peg, owned by Bruce and Laura Heilinger of Newmanstown; a 5-year-old Guernsey, Sniders Fayettes Century, owned by Aaron Gable of New Enterprise; a 6-year-old Ayrshire, GR New Era-Dairy Fietta, owned by Ralph Fogleman of Muncy; and a 3-year-old Milking

Shorthorn owned by Melissa Wolfe of Selingsgrove.

Neer said he was very pleased with the win. He said she has been a good cow for he and the other owners.

Starting her fourth lactation, she has a record of 27,000 pounds of milk in 305 days. She comes from a good dam, according to Neer.

He said that she is going to be flushed soon to a mating of either Carnation Counselor or the Storm bull.

She had a heifer calf showing at the Farm Show also. Her Hanoverhill fall yearling, Miss D.L.P. Stardust Cameo, took first in its class.

However, all of the contenders were special.

Gable's Fayettes Century, which was lead during the supreme selection by by Brandon Snider, is projected to make 20,973 pounds of milk and has classified 93 points. She was born at the Farm Show five years ago to a dam that was supreme champion at the Farm Show in 1991 and 1992.

Century was first in the 4-year-old age class and reserve grand champion at last fall's All-American Dairy Show.

Kristi Snider lead Century to her win in the regular competition.

The Jersey, Sooner Rosey, was also special, considering it is owned and bred and that Jennifer is 14. The cow has a projected record of 18,596 pounds milk, 680 fat and 605 protein and 42,000 pounds of milk.

Fogleman's Ayrshire Fietta is 86 points and is project to make 19,700 pounds of milk in its fourth lactation.

The Heilinger's Brown Swiss is classified 87 points and was first 2-year-old at the Maryland State Fair last year, and it was second in its class at the All-American.

The Milking Shorthorn was classified 83 points and made 16,000 pounds milk.

Judges for the supreme cow were John Batchelder of Orland, Calif., John Burkett of East Freedom, and Jerry Myers of West Springfield, Mass.

Batchelder judged Jerseys and Guernseys. He and his wife have Starpoint Jerseys in California, though they in recent years farmed in southern Lancaster County. In addition, Batchelder had worked as a classifier for the national Jersey cattle breeders association.

Burkett judged Holsteins and Milking Shorthorns, while Myers judged Brown Swiss and Ayrshire breeds.

Holsteins

There were 93 exhibitors registered for the Holstein show.

In the open division Holstein show, while Cathy won grand and open division senior championships, the reserve grand champion was also a 6-year-old, of course second in the age class, Miss Nightingale-ET, owned by Doug Beatty, M. Campbell, and H. Hamond, of Enon Valley.

The open division junior champion was a summer yearling, Brendayne Raider Reba, owned by Melanie Balmer of Manheim and Duane Stoltzfus. The reserve junior champion was owned by Paul Miller of Harrisburg.

The youth division senior and grand champion was a 3-year-old cow shown by Elizabeth Walton, of Carlisle, while the reserve senior champion was also a 3-year-old, shown by Holly Miller, of Harrisburg.

Green County Youth Takes Champion Steer Award

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The champion middleweight steers in the junior livestock steer show went on the become the grand champion and reserve grand champion of the 1997 Farm Show.

Kevin Campbell, Sycamore, in Greene County, won the top honors with his Angus-Chimaine crossbred steer that weighed in at 1265 pounds. The well-muscled black steer named Josh and his 15-year-old owner became the focus of many newspaper reporters and TV cameras right after being named grand champion Wednesday afternoon.

The reserve grand champion went to Casey High, Lancaster, who had the grand champion last year. High's reserve middleweight crossbred followed the grand champion into the winner's circle. Judge Michael Milicevic, manager of a large commercial beef herd in Okeechobee, FL, called the two champions nearly equal, giving the nod to the champion because slightly more muscling in the hind quarters.

In the lightweight division, Hope Long, Lancaster, had the champion, and Kyle Hummel had the reserve champion.

In the heavyweight division, Heather Fuls, Lebanon, had the champion and Bree Taggart, Green County, had the reserve champion.

Two Chester county boys took top honors in the Angus Breed. Nathan Howe had the champion, and Jason Marsch had the reserve champion.

In the Hereford breed, Travis Reid had the champion, and Donald Sunday had the reserve. They are both from York County.

Rachel Kerper, Lancaster County, had the champion Shorthorn, and Erin Livengood, Somerset County, had the reserve champion Shorthorn.

In the all other class, LaDonna Miller, Bedford, had the champion and Jeremy Wolfe, Union County, had the reserve champion.

Dairymen's Banquet Award Winners Named

Helene Dreisbach, from Hamburg, was named the 1997 distinguished dairy women. Helene is pictured here with her husband Bob, and daughter and son-in-law, Todd and Patty Stroup.

HARRISBURG — The Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association highlighted their annual meeting with the presentation of several awards.

The Charles E. Cowan Memorial Award was presented to Lester Martin of Chambersburg, Franklin County. This award is given in honor of Mr. Cowan, a former secretary/treasurer of the PA Dairymen's Association. It is presented to a dairyman who has demonstrated superior management capabilities and exhibited outstanding leadership qualities in the dairy industry.

At the age of 20, Martin purchased his first farm which consisted of 30 head of grade Holsteins on 120 acres. He began to

"Bud" Dean Given Outstanding 4-H Leader Award

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — A Lancaster County 4-H beef club leader got the suprise of his life when his name was called over the large arena sound system at the Farm Show Thursday during the youth market steer show.

William A. Dean, Jr., better known to his Red Rose 4-H Beef Club members and Cooperative Extension friends as "Bud," was called to the front to receive the J. Ira Coble award for his outstanding work with youth over the last nearly 30 years.

It seems there was a conspiracy aloft in local farm circles to keep Bud from knowing he was to receive this honor. And everyone seemed quite pleased that it worked.

Dean was born and reared in the Philadelphia suburb of Aldan, and moved to Lancaster County in his early twenties after employment with the Victor F. Weaver Poultry Company. He purchased a small farm in Strasburg Township where he and his wife Ruth have grown commercial vegetables, finished steers for a local butcher, and operated a 150 sow feeder pig business. This farming enterprise has included selling farm fresh produce for 40 years at the Germantown Farmer's Market.

He became involved in 4-H in 1964 when his son Gary became a member of the Lancaster beef club. Under the direction of County Agent Max Smith, and at the urging of 4-H leader/neighbor Elvin Hess, Bud became a leader in the beef club a few years later.

Over the past 29 years, Dean has devoted countless hours to Penn State Cooperative Extension and the local 4-H beef club. His ability to spark the interest of young people and direct them in a long term project of raising a 4-H steer is remarkable. Under his guidance, a high percentage of members from his leader group have achieved top honors. During the last 10 years, his 4-H members have been awarded "Best Project Book" seven times, the club's "Rookie" award seven times, and the club's "Leadership" award four times. During the same period five members of his group have been members of state champion 4-H livestock and meats judging teams. Seven of Bud's members were awarded the prestigious "Intell Calf" as the top showman in the county. These achievements by his members are indicative of the well-rounded, complete program that Bud provides to the 4-H families in his area.

Dean has always been an active 4-H leader, often hosting meetings and judging practices at his farm. He has conducted tours of beef projects, organized the club's annual ice-cream social, and provided temporary housing for project animals in his barn. Over the years, Bud has freeze branded, eartagged, dewormed, and weighed hundreds of 4-H steers. He has assisted with halter-breaking, showmanship demonstrations, fitting clinics, hoof trimming, and wild steer roundups. His talents have also included entertaining 4-Hers at the annual livestock banquet.

Bud remains very active in 4-H and his community. He has served on the board of directors of the West Lampeter Fair for over 25 years, sharing the 4-H beef show and fostering cooperation with FFA in a joint market animal sale. He was instrumental in the completion of the new livestock facilities on the fairgrounds in 1992. In addition, Dean has been chairman of the Strasburg Township Planning Commission, director of the Lancaster County Extension Board, and county director of the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau.

Bud, Ruth, son Gary and daughter Michelle are all active supporters of 4-H in Lancaster County. Gary and Michelle were both successful members of the Red Rose 4-H Beef Club for 10 years and participated on state winning judging teams. Currently Gary is a leader in the beef club and Michelle serves as a leader in the 4-H Swine Club. Both are graduates of Penn State and are employed in agriculture in Lancaster County.

The William Dean family recognizes and supports the values of the 4-H program. Now the grandchildren are getting involved too. In 1992, Dean was honored in Lancaster county for 25 years of service to the 4-H beef program.

More of What You Grow Corn For

Thousands of genes working together. That's what it takes to deliver more harvestable yield. Genes for staygreen, drydown, root strength, drought tolerance, insect resistance, disease resistance and most importantly, yield. That's what makes Pioneer® brand hybrids different – attention to the entire genetic package. Research. It's what helps you do better. It's what we've been doing best since 1926.

add Jerseys to the herd in 1976. Ten years later the entire herd was composed of registered Jerseys. Today the farm is operated as a partnership between Lester and Ruth Martin and their son Doug and his wife Julie. The Pleasant Valley Jerseys herd is made up of 340 milk cows as well as replacement heifers. The farm consists of 800 acres, three hundred of which have been converted to rotational grazing in the last four years.

Martin has raised many award winning cattle, including the first Supreme Champion dairy cow at the Pennsylvania Farm Show. Martin has devoted much of his time to the cattle leasing business in order to help young dairy farmers get a start in the business and is also a strong supporter of the 4-H program. For the past ten years he has served on the York Farm Credit Board of Directors serving nearly two terms as president. He has also served as a board member and president of the PA Jersey Cattle Association. Martin helped establish the Cumberland Valley Jersey Breeders and the 4th of July Annual Jersey Sale. He currently serves or has served on several farm-related boards including Cumberland Valley Cooperative, Franklin County DHIA, and Franklin County Farm Bureau.

The 1997 PA Dairymen's Association Distinguished Dairy Women Award was presented to Helene Dreisbach of Hamburg, Berks County. In 1970, Dreisbach and her family started Long Meadows Farm, where they began breeding their "Wilderness" Jerseys. More than a dozen of their bulls have entered A.I. service with Wilderness Valiant ranking in the top ten.

The Dreisbachs are avid supporters of American Jersey Cattle Association programs and are leaders in the progressive breeding of the Jersey cow. In 1995, Helene Dreisbach was elected director of the American Jersey Cattle Association. She also serves on their Performance, Planning, and Finance committee. A former director of the PA Jersey Cattle Association, she currently is the president of PA's District III Jersey Association. She also serves on the PA DHIA Technician Training and Certification Advisory committee. A member of the World Jersey Cattle Bureau, Helene frequently attends international dairy events.

Dreisbach advocates the portrayal of farming and dairy products in a truthful, consumer-friendly manner. She and her husband recently made an appearance on "CBS This Morning" to discuss milk price and the consumer. The television show did a follow-up with a segment on America's dairy farmers featuring the Dreisbach's and their daughter Patty Stroup's family farm.

Hybrids that bring it home

3496 NEW 107 Grain CRM

3496 combines exceptional yield potential with higher levels of resistance to gray leaf spot and southern leaf blight when compared to 3525. Exceptional staygreen and stalks keep this hybrid standing. Good early growth and test weight will also make this newcomer a popular choice.

3335 113 Grain CRM

2550 GDU's to 1/2 Milkline. An exceptional yield leader for your better soils. Very good staygreen and above average test weight. Good roots with acceptable stalks. Moderate resistance to gray leaf spot Plant at moderate rates; impressive ear flex. 3335 will be a yield leader for grain and silage. One of the most digestible hybrids in the lineup. Tall plant with good ear attachment and impressive tonnage.

Shepherds And Sheep Compete

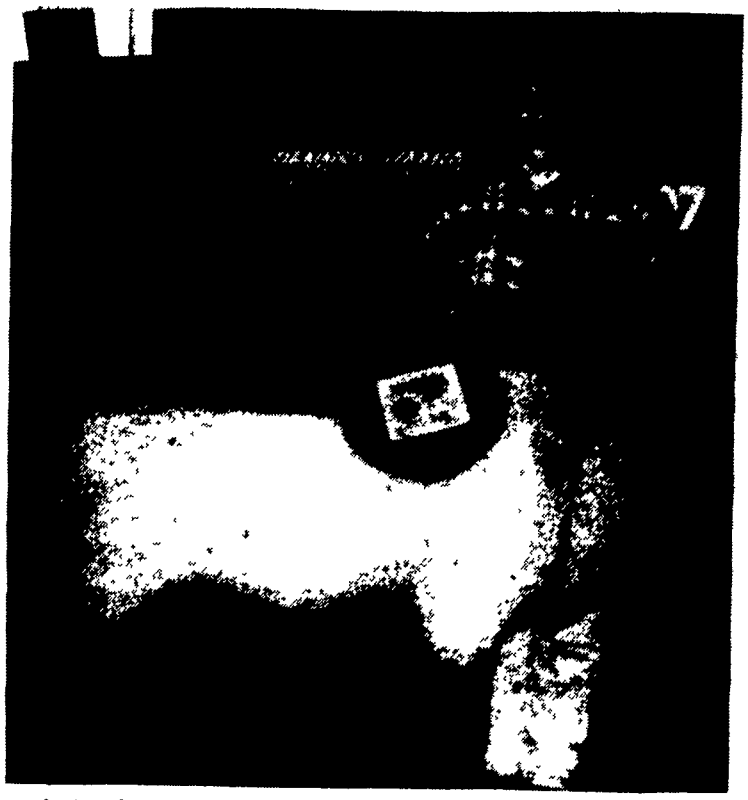
structural soundness. She also showed a ewe lamb for the reserve champion title.

Michele is no newcomer in the show circuit. For the last several years, she clinched the championship with other Cheviots from her flock of 25 brood ewes on the family's A-C Valley Farm. Her parents, Jack and Donna Snyder have watched Michele and her sister Melodie, 19, who shows Suffolks carry on the tradition of showing champions, which Jack had done in his youth.



In her last year of showing, Melodie Snyder clinched the champion Suffolk title. It was a title she had also attained in her first year of showing about 10 years ago and had achieved only one time in between.

Columbia

The grand champion Columbia was shown by Travis Crouse who competed the first time at Farm Show. The yearling ewe named Rip was named supreme champion at five county fairs this past year.

Nine-year-old Travis and his 10-year-old brother Darren have Crouse Brothers Sheep on the family's Hill Top View Farm in Sycamore.

The reserve grand champion Columbia was shown by Billie Jo Zeigler of Carlisle, Cumberland Co.

Corriedale

Kelly Glaser wrapped up the Corriedale division by showing Madonna, a spring ewe, and Queen, a yearling ewe, for the champion and reserve titles, respectively.

The 16-year-old brought seven of her flock of 60 to Farm Show competition. She got her start in sheep raising through her grandmother Ruth Hartman. The Corriedales are all registered in Kelly's name under Limekiln Farms located in Berks County. The judge remarked that Kelly's Corriedales have open fleeces from front to rear and top to bottom. "The complete ewe is super straight," he said.

Dorset

Jaime Fought showed a spring ewe lamb to clinch the Dorset championship. The Foughts from Carlisle, Cumberland County, have about 60 brood ewes on their Sulfur Run Farm. The homebred grand champion Dorset showed outstanding breed characteristics, a pretty head, and bone structure according to the judge.

The reserve Dorset was shown by 18-year-old Angela Lovell of Linden, Lycoming Co. Parents Ralph and Marian Lovell and their four daughters operate Maple Spring Farm with 50 brood ewes composed of Dorsets, Hampshires, and Suffolks.

Angela, the Lycoming dairy princess, also showed the reserve champion Suffolk market lamb earlier that day. She is in her second year at Penn College of Technology in Williamsport.

Hampshire

Champion and reserve Hampshires were shown by Josie Fought, 15, sister of Jaime who showed the Dorset champion. The sisters interchange by showing both breeds.

Their dad, John Fought, started the flock when he was a youth and has been pleased to see his daughters continue the tradition of showing champions at the Farm Show for many years.

The homebred Hampshire champions are noted for their breed character, volume, and broodier ewes.

Merino

In his first year at Farm Show, 10-year-old Darren Crouse clinched the grand champion Merino title with his fall ewe lamb. Darren's dad Lew showed champions in his youth and is pleased to see his sons Darren and Travis, 9, compete.

Lew, his wife Debbie, and sons have about 100 head of both meat and wool breeds on their Sycamore, Greene County farm. Darren said that he prefers the Merino breed because the sheep are quieter and smaller than the Rambouillet breed of which his brother showed the grand champion at the Farm Show. The sheep are registered under the name Crouse Brothers Sheep.

The reserve grand champion Merino was a homebred ewe shown by Jacob Gargas of Telford, Montgomery Co. The 15-year-old son of Eileen and Paul Gargas has been showing for eight years. His reserve champion was last year's Farm Show champion in the Merino breeding sheep junior competition.

Billy Leib shows the champion Rambouillet. He also had the reserve champion in this breed.

Montadale

For four years in a row, Tisha Ebling has exhibited the champion Montadale and for three years the champion market lamb in that breed.

The champions have all been from the same flock that Tisha, her parents Warren and Jane Ebling and older brother Tony raise on their Newmanstown farm.

While the 18-year-old is a pro at showing champion sheep, she remarked that for the first time she showed a reserve champion hog in the Hampshire breed at the Farm Show this year.

In a repeat of last year, Paul Kitzmiller showed the reserve champion Montadale. The son of Thelma Kitzmiller of Wellsville,

(Turn to Page A29)

York Co., said that the yearling ewe was named Two Step because it was from Lot 2 purchased from Jeff Henry of Pittsburgh and because both he and his mom like the Two Step dance.

Jacob Gargas shows a spring ewe lamb to clinch the grand championship in the Oxford breeding sheep competition. He also showed the reserve in the same breed.

Oxford

The grand champion and reserve in the Oxford breed were shown by Jacob Garges who also showed the reserve champion Merino. The grand champion Oxford was a spring ewe lamb that was purchased at a national sale in Illinois.

Jacob is the son of Eileen and Paul Gargas of Telford, Montgomery Co.

Rambouillet

In keeping with an eight-year achievement, Billy George Leib again wrapped up grand champion and reserved titles with his homebred Rambouillets. This year's champion was a fall ewe lamb. Billy and his parents Bob and Susie Leib operate Shepherd's Crook Farm in Mechanicsburg, Cumberland Co. The grand champion and reserve Rambouillets were both noted for correctness and outstanding fleeces

Shropshire

Jessica McMurtrie from Pleasant Gap in Centre County showed both champion and reserve Shropshires. Both champions were homebred spring ewe lambs, which were also champions in the open show at Farm Show.

The 10-year-old Jessica had help showing her Shropshires from her brother Greg, 12, who shows Southdowns. This was their first championship in the family's second year at the state Farm Show.

The siblings parents are Mike and Eugenia from Pleasant Gap, Centre Co.

Southdown

Darla Phillips from Amity, Washington Co., showed the champion Southdown, a homebred ewe lamb. Darla Phillips had won the same title last year with another Southdown from the family's Walnut Springs Farm. Darla and her sister Darcy, 6, are the daughters of

Sodium Hydroxide Treated Whole Grains For Dairy Cattle

An Invitation to all Dairy Farmers

Throughout Europe and around the world, thousands of top producers have been using a unique method for processing their grain with a unique type of mixer wagon and feeding system.

It's called the Keenan System of TMR and it's been used worldwide for over 10 years. One of the key features of the system is the Keenan Sodagrain Process which provides a one-step method of treating whole grain which can then be incorporated in the TMR with no further processing.

If your herd suffers from any of the following...

Lameness
Acidosis
High Replacement Rate, etc.

Then you really should spare the time to attend one of our up-coming farm meetings. You'll be able to talk directly to Pennsylvanian farmers already using the System, and see it in action on farm.

The Meetings are as follows:

Monday, January 20
Meet 10:00 a.m. Crossroads, 399 Carlisle Road, Newville PA

Tuesday, January 21
Meet 10:00 a.m. Valley View Restaurant, 1426 Lancaster Pike, Buck, PA

Wednesday, January 22
Meet 10:00 a.m. Holiday Inn, Route 219 & I-80, DuBois, PA

All meetings will include a practical on-farm demonstration and refreshments will be provided.

AGRI-KING KEY TO PROFIT

Attention Farmers

Concerning fair auction. When a buyer with Six contracts 2 million lbs or more, 5 million between 2 I feel, giant share! Why unhappy? 1/2 of Lanc. Co. Crop. If fair auction is true, why not overwhelming support? #1 Reason, Wonderful 2¢, (contract plus Market Riders). #2 Wake up your Dad, quit giving contracts, send to fair auction instead. Buyer offered me 1.65, plus cash to 1.69, refused. Wow! If paradise! Why buyers bid cash to keep doors closed, walk off sale except one, or any tricks conceivable to despair auction? Reason: (Market Control). All points against them. What hurts when farmers say is no auction, blame auction for buyers actions. What's amusing, despised to lowest notch, they ask, Have you heard what auction did today? (Contract plus). Auction's trying to raise price. Please Farmers! (don't whip the horse that pulls) Support. America, Freedom, Competition To auction guys, (When you come to end of rope, tie a knot, and hang on for dear life!)

Farmers! no signing Contracts when Auction, safeguard against Dark ages. Didn't know where to go 12 yrs. ago. Just a weary 609 Farmer straining to pull the load of (contract plus) to their destination, (1.75) S.O.S. Help!

From Lanc. Co. Farmer

DAVID BIGELOW
Training Coordinator

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Recently Norma Horman, field operations secretary and Diane McIlwain, Region 3 manager, were honored for their years of service and devotion to Pa. DHIA.

Norma retired to run her craft business known as Family Crafts and Ceramics after 12 years of service.

Diane moved on to service a circuit of her own as well as to serve as a substitute in times of sickness and vacations along with training newly hired technicians which will all be part of her duties as a senior technician. Diane served as a region manager for five years.

The staff at Pa. DHIA would like to wish both Norma and Diane good luck in all their future endeavors.

Dairymen's Banquet

A strong supporter of youth and the community, Long Meadows Farm has hosted a Purebred Dairy Cattle Association Judging School, opening up the herd for students from Penn State University, Delaware Valley College, and California Polytechnic Institute, as well as local 4-H clubs to practice judging.

The 1997 PA Dairymen's Association Extension Award was presented to Dave Dunbar of Dorneyville, Lehigh County.

In 1962, Dunbar began his extension career as an assistant agent working with the dairy program in Franklin County. In 1967, he began managing the Smith Kline research farm in West Chester, Pa. Five years later, he became a partner in Dairyland Farms, Mansfield, Pa., and helped operate a retail milk store and restaurant.

Dunbar later returned to extension work in Lehigh County as an associate agent. Since then he has served 22 years as an extension agent working with both the adult and youth programs. His great concern for people has been demonstrated in his effective work with the 4-H program.

Dunbar has been a member of the Farm Show Dairy and Livestock committees during most of his extension career. For over twenty years, he has worked on the All-American Dairy Show committee. Dunbar is also a member of the National Dairy Shrine and the American Dairy Science Association. An active member of the PA Association of County Agricultural Agents, Dunbar has served on its board of directors and has helped to host the organization's national meeting when it convenes in the Northeastern part of the United States. He retired from Extension in December.

Windermere Farm (Again) Shows Supreme Draft Horse

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Windermere Farms of Spring Mills showed a 5-year-old Percheron mare McGraths Vanna Tude to win the supreme of the three-breed show — again.

It wasn't the same horse returning the center ring for another applaud. The family farming operation has done that with others out of its stable over the years.

The farm has shown several supreme champion draft horses at the Farm Show, going back to a Canadian black stallion that had been used as a major stud for the breed until two years ago when it died.

Windermere Farms is owned by Abe and Gerald Allebach and families, a father and son and family horse breeding operation that grew out of a dairy farm, though the family's involvement with draft horses runs deep.

Gerald is now involved full time with breeding and caring for horses, and he said he was actually surprised that their mare beat out their 3-year-old stallion, King Cong for the top seat in the Percheron breed.

However, the Allebachs showed the senior and grand champion stallion with Cong and the grand champion mare with Trude.

Judges of the draft horses were Dick Menkins of Tully, N.Y. for the Percheron show; Tom Justin of Williamsburg, Ohio, for the Belgian breed; and Ned Niemiec, of Lakeville, Mass. for the Clydesdale/shire division.

Other winners in the Percheron breed include Marvyn Forwood of Delta with the reserve senior champion stallion. Phillip Yohe of Thomasville showed the junior champion stallion and the reserve junior champion, as well as the reserve grand champion.

The reserve senior and reserve grand champion mare was shown by David Hershey and family of Warriors Mark.

The Biddles also showed the reserve senior and reserve grand champion mare, and the junior champion mare.

The reserve junior champion mare was shown by Donald and Mark Ryburn of Washington. They also showed the reserve junior champion stallion.

Elmer Lapp of Kinzers and son Elvin celebrated Elmer's 50th trip to the Farm Show with a win of showing the reserve grand champion stallion, according to Jennifer Lapp, daughter of Elvin and Tammy, who is the Pennsylvania Draft Horse and Mule queen.

In the Clydesdale/shire breed, the grand champion stallion was shown by Norman Weber of Butler. The 2-year-old stallion was also the junior champion.

The reserve grand champion stallion was the senior champion exhibited by Robert and Laura Martin of Newport.

The grand champion mare was shown by Windermere Farms, a 2-year-old that also won for junior champion.

Attention Tobacco Farmers
OLDHAM/A.L.C. TOBACCO
is currently writing contracts for next year's 609 crop. We would like to sign 3 million pounds to help maintain a premium price for next year's crop. We feel we have finally established a fair and consistent market for Lancaster Co. farmers. We need your support! We raised the price for our farmers again this week and we will continue to work for a premium price for your quality tobacco. Right now we have orders for 609 and 41 type tobacco for this season. We need your tobacco. We have been buying 609 tobacco for 16 years in Lancaster Co. We have two locations to serve you. Please contact our buyers at:
Receiving Location #1: 374 S. Farmersville Rd., Ephrata, PA, 656-9847
Receiving Location #2 (Behind Ross's Feed & Grain): 27 N. Church St., Quarryville, PA, 786-6135
Buyers: Clarence Shirk, Joey Bowen
Buyers: "Big" Ron Bowen, Ken "Groundhog" Swayne
We sell 609 seed.

Denny and Debbie Philips.

The reserve grand champion Southdow was shown by Kyle Fleener of Robesonia.

Kyle's homebred, long-bodied ewe with good breed type is one of 15 he raises on his parent's, Tim and Sarah Fleener's, farm, famous for its Hampshires. Kyle also showed the champion Hampshire market lamb and was named champion showman in his division. Two years ago, he had also earned the champion showmanship trophy in his age division.

Suffolk

An ecstatic Melanie Snyder closed out her last year of showing by taking the grand champion title in the Suffolk breed with her fall ewe lamb Nittany. With a name like that, it is no surprise that Melanie is a student at Penn State. The 19-year-old said that her 60-head flock will be culled severely because she is no longer at home to care for them. Her parents, Jack and Donna Snyder will care for the remainder.

Melanie had shown the grand champion Suffolk the first year she competed in the Junior breeding sheep at Farm Show about 10 years ago. Since then, she had achieved that honor one more time. "It was my dream to do it again this year in my final year of showing," Melanie said.

The fall ewe lamb was complimented by the judge for being "the most complete ewe out there."

Kelly Pike showed the reserve champion ewe Suffolk. The Pikes are from Quakertown, Bucks Co.

A partial listing of sheep show results follows.

Livestock Sale Supporters Rally To Cause

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The annual Farm Show sale of champion livestock animals received enthusiastic support Thursday as sponsor-buyers came through with strong prices for every breed.

The festivities capped what many have said they consider to be one of the most successful Farm Show events to memory.

Total sale prices and averages were not available by deadline, however the general sense through the bidding on the grand and reserve grand champion steer, lambs and swine was that support for the youth education programs that lead to exhibiting livestock at the Farm Show is strong.

State Lt. Gov. Mark Schweiker helped with the sale, urging ag industry supporters to do their best because of the impact the program makes toward helping to further the education of the state's youth.

The sale of champions is tied into a state Farm Show Scholarship Foundation that was initiated in 1993 through the consideration of youth who felt that the balance of support should somehow be spread out somewhat, and through the cooperation of supporting business leaders who also sought a mechanism for being able to help more than a handfull of youth every year at the sale.

The Foundation is funded through the donation of a portion of the sale price of the champion animals.

That money gets turned into scholarships for derserving students.

This year 12 students each received $2,000 scholarships through the combined resources of the Farm Show Scholarship Foundation and a new addition — the Ambassador Club.

The Ambassador Club allows individual and corporations an alternative means to support the youth scholarships without having to wait for the once-per-year opportunity to bid on a champion animal.

Topping the sale this year was the grand champion market steer exhibited by Kevin Campbell of Sycamore.

His 1,265-pound crossbred steer, Josh, sold for $20,000 to Hoss's Steak and Sea House, operated by William Campbell, of Duncansville.

Livestock Sale

Campbell last year set a record price of $26,000 for the grand champion steer. That was done during the auction held at the end of the week that had seen the state mired down in because of a blizzard.

There were fewer buyers last year, because of travel restrictions.

This year support was strong and all prices were relatively high.

The reserve grand champion steer, a 1,255-pound crossbred, Cosmo, owned by Casey High, who sold the record-setting steer last year, was purchased by Glatfelter Insurance Group.

The grand champion market lamb, a Suffolk shown by Erin Livengood of Somerset, was sold to Hoss's Steak and Sea House for $5,000.

The reserve champion lamb, a crossbred named Harry, was exhibited by Molly Blackburn of Bedford and sold to Carlos R. Leffler Inc. for $1,600.

The grand champion swine was a 257-pound crossbred animal exhibited by Philip Charles of Millersville. It sold to Tom Leidy, Inc. of Souderton for $5,200.

The reserve champion swine was a crossbred animal, Kate, exhibited by George Billig of New Tripoli, son fo Teresa and Timothy Billig. It sold to Lebanon Valley National Bank and Kesslers Inc. for $3,500.

Harry Bachman of Annville auctioned the grand champions. Lt. Gov. Schweiker talked to the group during the bidding to urge them to contribute as much as they could, with the explanation that support of the program was an investment in the next generation and the future that both share.

3700 SERIES SPREADERS

Twelve Farm Show scholarship recipients stand with representatives of supporters of the annual Farm Show junior livestock sale of champions. Through a formula, a portion of the sale price of one of the six champion animals goes into the state Farm Show Scholarship Foundation. In addition, a support group has been established — the Ambassadors Club — that provides another means for individual and corporate support of the educational program.

'97 Show

to last year," he said.

Grumbine said it should be of special note that even with the tremendous crowds that all who attended should be commended on their behavior. He said that with possibly the biggest crowd ever, they may have well had the fewest problems ever.

Grumbine said it would be a tough Farm Show to follow, but he said the key seems to be to stay on top of what appeals to people. He has state that the Farm Show is probably the greatest marketing tool Pennsylvania agriculture has.

In fact, a publication of the nation's special events industry in March rated the Pennsylvania Farm Show as 32nd out of the top 250 events nationwide. That's out of a comparative base of 38,000 events.

"It's a tough Farm Show to follow, but we have to keep appealing to broader segments. Few places have the educational value," Grumbine said about the Farm Show's impact on the general public.

"(The public) can see chicks being hatched, and learn how honey is created and used. There's just so many things that take place educationally under this roof, I think it's one of the world's greatest events."

For the first time this year in a little more than several years, the state auctioneers association held its annual auctioneer's calling contest in conjunction with the Farm Show.

Out of a heavy field of contestants, the top 10 are selected for recognition and each receives a gavel award.

The top three are then selected from the 10. This year the 10 became 11 because of a tie.

This year's champion caller was Frank Trunzo of Apollo, a member of the southwest chapter of the organization.

Larry Porter of Conneaut Lake was second, while John Root of Ephrata was third.

Food sales in the Food Court were extremely high, with more than two tons of roast beef being sold in sandwiches. According to early reports, two tons of french fries were sold on the opening day.

Most of the commodity groups that sell food in the court use funds for support of youth activities and programs, or for promotional activities.

While the gains didn't quite makeup for last year's losses, they definetly put a different slant on the outlook for the coming year.

International trade was emphasized somewhat with the trade day attracting representatives and buyers from at least 35 different countries. They met at the Hershey Convention Center for a trade show, joined in the Farm Show banquet, Center and attended the Farm Show.

Support from Gov. Tom Ridge and his administration was particularly evident throughout the week.

Lt. Gov. Mark Schweiker even helped out with the auctioneering of livestock animals Thursday.

A Scooper Bowl event raised $2,300 for the Four Diamonds Fund at Milton S. Hershey Medical Center. With more than 350 children helped annually through the fund, this year three Pennsylvania ice cream manufacturers donate time, ice cream and frozen yogurt for the fourth annual event.

Farm Show visitors paid $3 each to eat, consuming 145 gallons ice cream, as well as getting to watch celebrities compete in a blindfolded contest.

Almost 5,000 animals, thousands of plants, pieces of farm equipment, some souvenirs, service groups, educational groups, outreach groups and hobby groups filled the upated Farm Show Complex.

And educational display by Students for the Responsible Use of Animals along with its parent group, PRUA — Pennsylvanians for the same thing — may have been one of the most frequented sites with its miniature ponies, baby lambs, chicks, etc.

A dairy educational competition operated by the Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Agency (MAMMA) and supported by milk dealers drew strong crowds to watch as groups of youth took their turns trying to answer questions correctly.

And while the Farm Show is probably one the best public relations tools the agricultural community can have, in addition to adding to its marketing affect, it is also one one of the most visible in supporting education.

The Farm Show Scholarship Foundation doubled the amount of its scholarships thanks to the creation of an new Ambassadors Club which provides a means for individuals and corporations to support the education of youth without having to purchase a champion livestock animal and without being restricted to the Farm Show event.

Those who recieved scholarships this year, and the school to which they attend, include Sun Anderson, daughter of Gordon and Vickie Anderson, of Smithfield, California University of Pennsylvania; Andrew Blackburn, son of Robert and Linda Blackburn, Bedford, Messiah College; Christopher Connelly, son of Ronald and Denice Connelly, Pennsylvania Furnance, Penn State; Michael Cornman, son of Melvin and Betty Cornman, Carlisle, Delaware Valley College; Jon Harnish, son of Guy and Carol Harnish, Lebanon, Black Hawk Junior College-East; Leon Martin Hunter, son of Patricia and the late Leon Hunter, Fleetwood, Worchester Polytechnical Institute; Laura Kwisnek, daughter of Ronald and Lynn Kwisnek, Clarksburg, Delaware Valley College; Melissa Lyle, daughter of Dennis and Nancy Lyle, Claysville, Bethany College; Beth Anne McAllister, daughter of Barbara and E. Scott McAllister, Centre Hall, Penn State; Jamie Louise Risser, daughter of Jill Risser, Lebanon, Penn State; Melanie Snyder, daughter of Jack and Donna Snyder, Parker, Penn State; and Kelli Zeigler, daughter of Ronald and Lois Zeigler, Newville, Delaware Valley College.

FORAGES

ARE THE SECOND MOST IMPORTANT INGREDIENT OF ANY DAIRY RATION (BEHIND WATER)

Excellent forages are the beginning for any successful ration and now is the time to start preparing for next year's forage crops.

Many of the decisions you make now can have a great impact on the quality of the forages you harvest next year and the level of herd performance you experience as a result of your forages.

SOME INDUSTRY ACCEPTED GUIDELINES

- When selecting a silage corn variety use plant energy density as the first criteria followed by total plant yield and digestibility.
- Harvest forages on the basis of plant maturity first and then store in the form best suited to existing weather conditions.
- Chop corn silage short (3/8" to 1/2") and haylage longer (3/8" with 15-20% greater than 1 1/2")
- Forages harvested with greater than 70% moisture run a significant risk of Clostridia Fermentation.

PROPERLY HARVESTED AND STORED FORAGES ARE KEY TO TOTAL HERD PERFORMANCE

These Research Proven Products are Designed to Help You in the Successful Harvesting and Storage of your Important Forages, and Are Now Available with Special Pricing Incentives During MASTER MIX FEEDS 1997 Forage Treatment Booking Program.

NEW FOR 97

ALLIANCE PRO-SILAGE BUILDER - Available in a liquid or dry form this product is formulated with both Lactic Acid and Propionic Acid producing bacteria and is an excellent product for storing and preserving wrapped baled hay. This product is especially effective for wrapped high moisture small square bales. The Propionic acid will help to preserve forages in a non air tight environment. This product may Also be used as an economical way to improve TMR bunk life.

ALLIANCE SUPER SILE - Available in a liquid or dry form this product is the new version of the popular Master Mix Feeds Silo Booster product. Super Sile is a highly concentrated source of Lactic Acid producing Bacteria which aide in the rapid fermentation of ensiled forages. Excellent for Corn Silage, conventional Haylage, and High Moisture Grains.

ALLIANCE SUPER HAY - Available in 5 gallon and 55 gallon containers, Alliance Super Hay does an excellent job of preserving baled hay harvested with moisture levels up to 25%. Alliance Super Hay replaces Master Mix Feeds Bale Booster, is buffered to avoid corrosion damage to equipment, and aides in increasing digestibility of treated forages.

'Intrepido' Keeps Popping Up As Baking Champion

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Laughter and cheers sounded throughout the Farm Show Complex on Saturday, but few were more ecstatic than those of Julie Intrepido when she placed first in the Blue Ribbon Apple Pie Contest.

"I've been trying for this nine years!" Julie said among a jumble of tears, cheers, and laughter.

The first-place pie earned $100.

"It took me five hours to bake it," Julie said of the uniquely fluted three-layer pie. Labor over her Bavarian Apple-Cheese Pie was simple compared to the "torturous" 2½ hour wait during the judging held in the Family Corner on Saturday.

Several hours after the announcement of apple pie winners, Julie's emotions erupted again when she placed second in the Hershey's Chocolate Cake competition that was announced simultaneously with her 11-year-old daughter Jennifer's win in the Hershey Greatest Cocoa Cookie, Brownie, and Bars Contest. (See corresponding articles for details about those contests).

While it might sound like a family affair, winning these honors are no easy feat. To be eligible to compete, contestants must place first at one of the 114 fairs held throughout the state. From these entries the best of the best are selected by four judges for each event.

Although great bakers run in the family, the mother and daughter winners from Nazareth are never content with tried and true recipes. They are forever experimenting to "make it taste a little better."

The day before the contest, both mother and daughter rebaked their entries because they "didn't like the way the first ones looked."

"Believe me, we have lots of flops and never to be published recipes," Julie admitted.

Over the years, Julie said that she has won every culinary contest at the Allentown Fair. Now that she is a coordinator at Allentown Fair, she no longer enters there but at the Schnecksville and Plainsfield Fairs.

Although Julie has been a hairdresser and loves it since the age of 18, she said that she often thinks about opening a bakery. Neighbors and her church choir are eager taste testers of the Intrepidos culinary skills.

Second place and the $60 prize was for the Country Apple Pie baked by Judy Kneebone of Bangor who won first place at the Plainfield Farmers Fair earlier last year.

Roger Deetscreek of Muncy was back again with his Hot Shot Apple Pie. He was hoping that the same recipe that garnered him a third-place in last year's competition would edge up with a new set of judges. Instead, the pie maintained third place, which is commendable since it was selected from 86 entries.

The contest is mute evidence that there is more than one way to bake a delicious apple pie. Ingredients found in some of the pies included cheddar cheese, cloves, caraway seeds, rhubarb, raspberries, apple jelly, vanilla caramels, cranberries, coconut, and pear juice.

Each of the four judges, Minnie Siefreid, proprietor of Our Daily Bread; Pat Miller, a baker from the same restaurant; Brad Flick, disk jockey from Z107 Moo-Crew Morning Show; and Wendy Vonada, a baker at the Kitchen Works, said that they had distinct preferences when it comes to looking for the most outstanding pie.

Flick said that he thought every pie tasted delicious, but he looks specificately for a pie that is well done and has a heavy texture.

Miller prefers a sweet tasting apple with cinnamon flavoring and a fresh crispy crust.

"I like the opposite," Vonada said. "I like a tart apple with a strong apple flavor that prevails even if combined with peaches, pears, grapes, and cream cheese."

Siefried said that the crust is really important in a pie. Although she believes the appearance of a pie is important, she found looks could be deceiving. Some of the simpler appearing pies tasted better than those intricately designed.

But all three judges agreed that the first-place pie was excellent in creativity, color, flavoring, and texture.

The annual contest is sponsored by the Pa. Dept. of Agriculture, the Pa. State Association of County Fairs, and the Pa. Apple Marketing Program.

Here are the recipes for the top three pies.

BAVARIAN APPLE-CHEESE PIE
First Place

Pie Crust:
1⅓ ups flour, sifted
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter-flavored Crisco
3 tablespoons cold water

Combine flour and salt. Cut in shortening with pastry blender. When water is added work dough into a ball. Make this recipe twice to have leaves on top of pie.

Cheese filling:
2 8-ounce packages cream cheese
½ cup granulated sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 tablespoon flour
¼ cup Smucker's butterscotch caramel
3 to 4 large Granny Smith apples, peeled, cored, and sliced
⅔ cup spiced apple wine
½ cup sliced almonds

Topping:
¼ cup flour
¼ cup butter
¼ cup brown sugar
¼ cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg

Peel, core, and slice three apples and pour ⅔ cup spiced apple wine in a bowl. Marinate apples for one hour.

Judging 86 apple pies is a filling job for these judges. From left are Minnie Siegfried, Pat Miller, Wendy Vonada, and Brad Flick.

Greatest Chocolate Cake, Cookie Contests Draw Crowds

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — "The worst part about entering the contest was watching the judges eat my cake," said Jennifer Strohl.

The 22-year-old could detect no emotion while the judges sampled her Chocolate Cherry Cake, but she soon found out that they really liked it. It took first prize among the 58 entries and guaranteed Jennifer a weekend stay for four at the Hershey Resort and Conference Center.

"I thought the cake would never make it to competition," Jennifer said of the whipped cream and cherry layers that kept sliding to the side during the drive from her Lehigh County home to the Farm Show Complex.

Not only did the cake make a beautiful debut for the first-time Farm Show contestant, but it topped the competition in tastiness.

The recipe is a hand-me-down from her grandmother's collection. Throughout the judging, her fiance Brett Thompson maintained a calm composure.

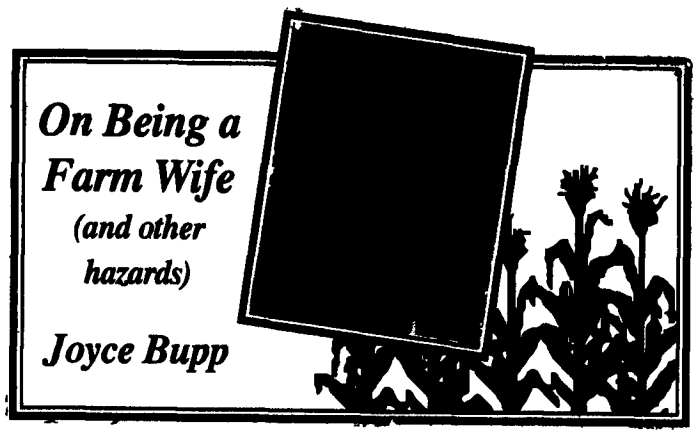
"I thought certain she'd win until I saw all the competition," Brett said of the awesome display of intricately decorated cakes. "Then I wasn't so sure."

The couple plan to marry in May, but the wedding reception will not feature a wedding cake baked by Jennifer. "It's too nerve wracking," she said.

Second-place winner was hairdresser Julie Intrepido with her

(Turn to Page B9)

Jennifer Strohl's cheering section for winning the Greatest Chocolate Cake Contest included fiance Brett Thompson, parents Don and Pat Strohl and Aunt Eleanor and Dan McAfee.



They certainly couldn't be considered "fair weather" friends. During the prolonged stretch of warm weather over the holidays, their absence was conspicuous.

But, then, with the arrival of last week's first snow of the new year, dozens of our old friends came flocking in.

The first — and certainly unexpected — foul-weather visitors showed up early in the morning, heralding their coming with that unmistakable call. After a few inspection circles of the pond, the flock of two dozen Canada geese splashed down, honking exuberantly.

Less than an hour later, the first flakes began gently settling around the farmstead. And, by mid-morning, the snow had drawn a large crowd squabbling over space at the bird feeders.

The usual resident sparrows hauled along all their relatives, gobbling oil sunflower seeds as though there was no tomorrow. Scattered among them were several of the larger and more elegant of the species, white-crowned and white-throated, and the perky, beautifully-voiced song sparrows.

In the willow tree by the fishpond perched a kestrel, seeking shelter from the falling snow while scouting lunch. A sharp-shinned hawk frequents the same tree, using it to launch attacks on the sparrow clan. Below the small hawk, on the edge of the pond, stalked the great blue heron. This beautiful opportunist comes often to dine on sushi, impaling on its long beak hapless victims from The Farmer's driving school of goldfish.

A series of distinct chirps marked the arrival of a favorite, also notably absent lately. With a flash of brilliant scarlet, the male cardinal fluttered to the feeder to dine. Minutes later, his mate, of more subdued color but boasting a glamorous beak of neon-red-orange, joined the diners.

In few numbers this year are the house finches, reddish head and back feathers marking the males and the females with neatly-striped markings. Perhaps their population has not yet recovered from the mysterious disease that plagued them a year or two ago. During lunch, The Farmer spotted a blue jay whisking by the window. After counting as many as a dozen around the yard a few winters ago, they, too, have ignored the feeder so far.

Busy at the chunk of suet on the maple tree trunk was a downy woodpecker, a pretty, black-and-white little fellow, sporting a patch of bright red wrapped around the back of his head. His mate often feeds as well, mirroring his costume, but minus the red head accent.

However, these small woodpeckers hustled up to a higher level when their large, bossy, red-bellied cousin came ratcheting down the trunk. Few birds tempt battling with the rapier-like bill of the red-bellied woodpecker.

"You have the fattest squirrels I've ever seen," observed our daughter during her recent holiday visit. Small wonder. The squirrels have gnawed holes into the the plastic garbage can where the ear corn is stored on the porch, and self-serve themselves.

But even our pudgy bushy tails back off from the sword-beak bully of the birdfeeder, who decides on this day to bypass the suet. Instead, he wrenches a kernel from the earn of corn, strolls up the tree and pounds it into the bark, perhaps to save some day when the buffet is bare.

With a delicate flutter of wings, another old friend glides to the ground. It's a lone mourning dove, perhaps one of the pair that visited daily last fall. Until after the opening day of dove hunting season last fall, when only one returned to forage under the feeder.

So against the stage of fresh snow, we welcome back old feathered friends.

And, like "birdbrains" everywhere, hope to spot a few new ones.

Children Need Love

Children need our love. This doesn't mean you have to approve of everything your child does. It means you always love your child no matter what he does. Love helps kids grow into lovable adults. It gives them a feeling of security.

A person cannot love others if she does not love herself first. The self-confidence a child gains by knowing she is loved will help her to interact well with other children.

A child who feels secure can deal with the times when he makes a mistake. He will be able to say, "I goofed this time, but I'll do better the next."

The most important thing you can give your child is love!

Make the pie dough and roll out pie crust to fit 10½ -inch fluted quiche pan. Make sure crust is even around the fluted quiche pan. Pre-bake pie shell at 400 degrees for 4 minutes.

Take the marinated apples and place them in a shallow baking dish sprayed with vegetable spray. Make sure the apples are not on top of each other and pour remaining wine over them. Bake at 400 degrees for 10 minutes.

In bowl, mix softened cream cheese and sugar at low speed with electric mixer. Add eggs still mixing on low speed. Last, add the vanilla and flour, mixing on low speed until well blended.

Pour cream cheese mixture into the prepared pie crust.

Take ¼ cup butterscotch caramel and swirl into cream cheese mixture.

Take the ½ cup sliced almonds and place them over cream cheese mixture.

Carefully place the pre-baked apples over the sliced almonds.

Last spread the streusel topping over the apples evenly.

Place cut out pie crust leaves over streusel topping. Bake at 400 degrees for the first 15 minutes, then reduce oven to 350 degrees for the last 30 minutes. Cool pie then refrigerate.

MY COUNTRY APPLE PIE
Second Place

Crust:
2⅔ cups flour
1 heaping teaspoon salt
1 cup Crisco plue 3 tablespoons butter
Sprinkle of cinnamon and sugar

Mix with pastry blender and add approximately 8 tablespoons ice water to make a workable dough.

Filling:
6 cups MacIntosh apples
¾ cup sugar
2 tablespoons fine tapioca

Drizzle with melted butter, sprinkle with salt, cinnamon, and lemon juice. Mix thoroughly. (Must double for 10-inch pie).

Crumb topping:
1 cup flour
½ cup sugar
3/8 cup butter

Make crumble with pastry blender. Drizzle with caramel and nuts.

Bake at 425 degrees for approximately 45 minutes. Decrease to 375 degrees until done, approximately one hour.

HOT SHOT APPLE PIE
Third Place

Crust:
3 cups flour
1 cup vegetable shortening
¼ cup butter
1 large egg
1 teaspoon salt
5 tablespoons water

Sift flour, blend in shortening and butter until crumbs are the size of peas. Blend together egg, salt, and water. Mix the liquid into crumb mixture just until the liquid is totally incorporated.

Pecan Filling:
1 cup sugar
1 cup dark corn syrup
4 eggs
½ teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon flour
3 tablespoons melted margarine
2 teaspoons vanilla
1 cup pecans

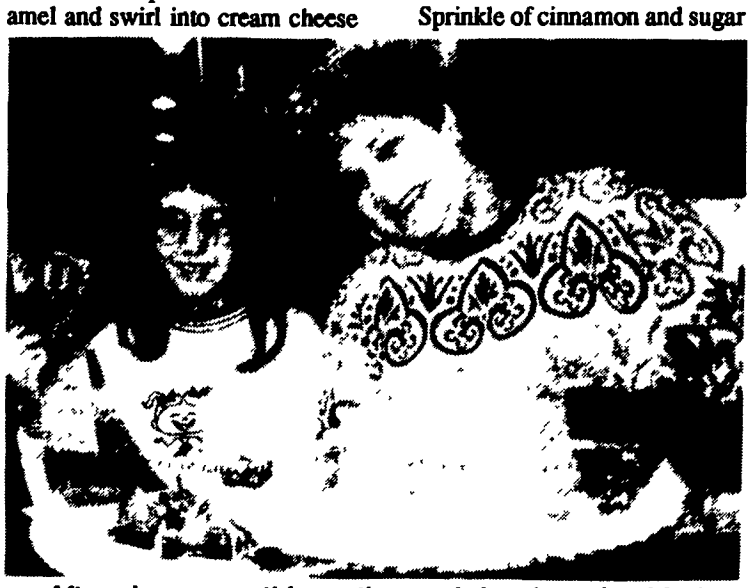
Beat eggs. Add sugar, salt, flour, and margarine. Mix well. Add vanilla and corn syrup. Mix thoroughly and add nuts. Fill pie shell half way with pecan filling. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Hot Shot Apple Filling:
4 cups peeled, sliced Ida Red apples
⅓ cup granulated sugar
4 ounces melted cinnamon Inperials
1½ tablespoons minute tapioca
½ cup chopped pecans

Bring to a boil for approximately 5 minutes.

Cover pecan filling at the end of step 4 with hot shot apple filling. Lattice the top of the filling with pie crust. Bake at 425 degrees for 25 minutes.

Cool pie and glaze with powdered sugar mixture.



After nine years, this mother and daughter duo hit the jackpot when Julie Intrepido won the Blue Ribbon Apple Pie Contest and placed second in the Greatest Chocolate Cake contest. Her 11-year-old daughter Jennifer won the Greatest Chocolate Cookie Contest. After three years of sitting through the judging event, Julie's husband didn't attend because he felt frustrated that she never wins. "He gets more nervous than I do while watching the judges," she said.

Second-place and the $60 prize goes to Judy Kneebone of Bangor. For the second year in a row, Roger Deetscreek of Muncy won third place in the state apple pie contest.

WORK WATCH
Still Running Strong

In past years we sold hundreds of work watches to hard-working individuals like yourself who needed an accurate, dependable timepiece. A watch that would withstand the dust, moisture, bumps and temperatures encountered on the farm, in the orchard and in the woods. Many who bought the work watch told us it was the best watch they had ever owned.

Our work watch has all the features needed to endure the punishment you will put it through. The WATER RESISTANT seal will protect your watch when you irrigate fields, fix broken water systems, get milk splashed on your arm while feeding calves, or walk the fence in the rain, to find out where your cattle are getting out. Being SHOCK RESISTANT, your work watch will continue to work when it is slapped by a cow's tail, a falling board, or the belt shield that your arm slams against when your wrench slips off the bolt. While your watch is scraped by branches, rubbed against walls, and knocked against machinery, the low profile, SCRATCH RESISTANT, glass crystal will resist the scratches and cracks that render watches unreadable. The BATTERY POWERED QUARTZ movement of your work watch is accurate to within 2 minutes per year, and does not need to be wound, meaning that your watch will be on time, all the time, without any effort on your part.

A final proof of the strength of this watch and of its suitability to your needs is the warranty. If your watch stops running within TWO YEARS of the date of purchase the manufacturer will repair or replace your watch at no charge.

To receive your new work watch, complete the coupon below and send it with your payment. Your work watch will arrive shortly.

Family Living Focus

by Alletta Schadler
Lebanon Co. Extension

I have been besieged by many phone calls in the past year about problems with colors fading and running in the laundry. Recently, I received a newsletter from the Soap and Detergent Association that sheds some light on this increasing problem. I am sorry to say the news is not very good but it may help explain what happened to your wash and may reassure you that it was not something you did wrong, necessarily.

Reading the care labels of garments will probably provide some clues for what is in store. By the way, you should be reading and filing the care labels for new clothing items received as gifts during the holidays. Pass the word on to students living on their own to be sure to read labels before dumping the new clothes in with everything else. When terms such as "Wash in ice cold water," "Color rubs off," "Color may wash down," "Turn inside out to launder," "Wash before wear," "Use Cold Water," "Avoid bleach or Woolite" appear on a label, it is a clue that the dye may not be stable.

Garments with unstable dyes may fade or run under certain conditions, causing damage to the garment itself or to items laundered with it. These conditions can include abrasion, long soaking time, hot water, use of bleach or some stain removal pretreating products.

If there are no warnings on the label, it is probably safe to assume that the fabric is colorfast. The term "colorfast" means that the fabric retains its original hue without fading or running and can be satisfactorily washed. However, this does not mean that it is safe to mix colorfast fabrics in with any type of wash.

Almost all new fabrics contain a small amount of excess dye that can come off during the first few washings and/or wearings. Any new colored garment should be washed before it is worn according to the SDA. For this wash, and the next few washings, launder it with like-colored garments.

Some colorfast fabrics will contain certain dyes that will transfer to the wash load every time the fabric is washed. This can occur even if the garment itself does not appear to lose color. Bright red and orange dyes on cotton fabrics are a particular problem.

Color loss can occur immediately after the first wash. Or, dyes can remain stable for several washings, and then suddenly fade. Or, the fading can occur gradually each time the garment is washed. The latter is referred to as "washdown."

Even the choice of detergent can influence color loss. To an effective laundry detergent, an unstable dye is the same as loose soil — it washes both of them away. The better the detergent performs, the more loose soil and/or dye it removes.

On cotton fabrics, certain types of bright red, yellow and blue dyes can be completely removed if they come in contact with liquid household bleach (sodium hypochlorite). If a color-safe (oxygen) bleach comes in contact with certain dyes, especially those used to create turquoise, olive, and rust colors on cottons, it can cause spots of colors to disappear.

Some dyes, especially the blue dyes that are used in cotton jeans, come off where the fabric rubs against other things. This is why jeans sometimes lose their color along seamlines and garment edges. If the jeans rub against the machine's agitator post during laundering, streaks may appear where the color has rubbed off. For this reason, some manufacturers recommend turning the jeans inside out for washing.

Blue dyes and colors that included blue such as turquoise, or green, are a special concern, no matter what the fiber. They may prove unstable.

In addition to following the care label instructions, you will help avoid color loss if you will always add the detergent to the machine first, then the water and finally the clothes rather than pouring detergent on top of the clothes. Bleach should be added via the dispenser or according to the package directions, never directly on top of garments.

To determine the sensitivity of the dye to a laundry product, dilute two tablespoons of the product in a cup of warm water. Soak an unexposed area of the garment (if there is one) in the solution for 20 minutes. Or, apply a pretreatment product directly to an inconspicuous area of the garment. Rinse in warm water and air-dry. If the color changes or runs, try another type or product or try water alone. If the water removes color, return the item to the store. Dry cleaning is a possibility but that does not guarantee that the color will not fade or run.

My own personal recommendations are to very carefully read the labels on any garment that is more than one color — especially white and something else. Look for the clue words that lead you to expect problems. Maybe reconsider the purchase or at least save the sales slip in case there are problems. Also, do not allow wet clothes to sit around in the washer or wash basket. Dry them quickly. If there has been a fading incident, rewash the item in lots of water immediately before it dries. Perhaps you can dilute it. Perhaps not. Washable rayon garments are especially unstable color-wise. Be alert to problems the first few times you wash them.

A final comment about rayon. Some rayons can be successfully washed and others cannot. Sometimes the colors will fade severely and sometimes the fabric will shrink. You cannot tell if this will happen by looking at or feeling the fabric in question. Just because you have one washable rayon garment, do not assume that all rayon is washable. Read and follow the directions on the care label unless you are willing to risk wrecking the item with no recourse to the manufacturer. Read it or weep!

Tasty Jerky Recipes

Jerky is right up there when it comes to fat-free and healthy," said Mary Bell who wrote a cookbook "Just Jerky, The Complete Guide To Making It."

Jerky can cost as much as $30 a pound if you buy it in those snack strips found at grocery counters. But, when you make it yourself, it is an economical way to preserve meat and can be used in many recipes.

Although jerky is often associated with venison and beef, Bell has a whole reportorie of jerky recipes using poultry, goat, lamb, ham, trout, salmon, cod, tuna, catfish, panfish, halibut, sole. Just in case none of those meats appeal to your palate, the cookbook includes a recipe for jerky made without meat that is supposed to taste so much like it that testers couldn't tell the difference.

In addition to recipes both to make and to combine with other foods, Bell's book covers the history of drying. Detailed instructions are given for making jerky with electric dehydrators, smokers, air drying, and conventional, microwave, and convection ovens.

For a copy of "Just Jerky," check out bookstores or send a check for $17, which includes shipping, to Mary Bell, Route 2, Box 1568, Lanesboro, Minn. 55949.

CHICKEN JERKY

¼ cup pineapple juice
2 tablespoons olive oil
1 tablespoon teriyaki sauce
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 teaspoon crushed garlic
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
1 bay leaf
1 pound chicken strips

Mix together all ingredients with the exception of strips. Allow the ingredients at least 15 minutes for flavor to blend. Add strips. Marinate at least one hour. For longer marinating time, place in the refrigerator in a covered container or in an airtight plastic bag. Remove from marinade and place in a drying environment.

Bell writes that this is one of her favorites. Poultry is more fibrous than red meat and becomes a more brittle jerky. Thin slices dry very quickly and tear apart quite easily. For variety, substitute lemon juice for pineapple juice and add ½ teaspoon fresh ground ginger.

"Just Jerky"

LEMONY LAMB JERKY

1 pound lamb strips
½ cup lemon juice
½ cup honey
2 tablespoons finley chopped fresh mint
1 teaspoon olive oil
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon finely ground black pepper

Marinate strips in lemon juice for at least one hour. Mix all remaining ingredients together. Allow the ingredients, at least 15 minutes for flavors to blend. Add strips. Marinate at least one hour. For longer marinating time, place in the refrigerator in a covered container or in an airtight plastic bag. Remove from marinade and place in a drying environment.

"Just Jerky"

TURKEY JERKY

2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons freshly grated onion
2 tablespoons teriyaki sauce
1 tablespoon granulated sugar
1 tablespoon olive oil
1 tablespoon fresh grated lemon peel
2 teaspoons paprika
1 teaspoon crushed garlic
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
½ teaspoon liquid smoke
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
1 pound ground turkey
Salt to sprinkle

Mix all ingredients with the exception of ground meat. Allow the ingredients at least 15 minutes for flavors to blend. Add ground meat. Marinate at least one hour. For longer marinating time, place in the refrigerator in a covered container or in an airtight plastic bag. Remove from marinade container. Form into shapes and place in a drying environment. Sprinkle a little extra salt on top of the jerky while it is still moist.

"Just Jerky"

JERKY DIP

¾ cup powdered jerky
¼ cup yogurt
8-ounces cream cheese
1 teaspoon finely chopped green onion
½ teapsoon minced garlic
¼ teaspoon fresh lemon juice

In a bowl, stir all ingredients together. Cover and refrigerate for flavors to blend for at least one hour. Makes 2 cups.

At last, here is the do-it-yourself guide to making your own jerky: The low-fat, low-calorie, high-protein, popular meat snack.

For everything you wanted to know about jerky, the cookbook, "Just Jerky The Complete Guide To Making It," has the answer.

TASTES-LIKE-MEAT JERKEY

2 cups finely chopped onion
1 tablespoon brown sugar
½ tablespoon minced garlic
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon hot pepper or olive oil
1 tablespoon rum
1 teaspoon liquid smoke
½ cup finely grated raw onion
1 tablespoon grated raw, green bell pepper
1 package (1.5 ounces) instant oatmeal
¼ cup water
1 pound soy protein

Caramelize onions in brown sugar. When browned, add garlic. Add next eight ingredients. Stir and allow flavors to blend at least 15 minutes. Mix oatmeal with water and add to soy protein. Mix flavorings and soy protein together. marinate at least one hour. For longer marinating time, place in the refrigerator in a covered container or in an airtight plastic bag. Remove from marinade container. Form into shapes and place in a drying environment.

"Just Jerky"

GRANDPA'S VENISON JERKY

¾ cup soy sauce
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1 teaspoon liquid smoke
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon minced garlic
½ teaspoon grated ginger
½ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
1 pound meat strips

Mix together all ingredients except meat. Let set for 15 minutes for flavors to blend. Add strips. Marinate at least one hour. For longer marinating time, place in refrigerator in covered container or in airtight plastic bag. Remove meat from marinade. Place in drying environment.

Author's note: For best results, dry about 3 hours in dehydrator. Then put in smoker for 1 to 2 hours to give meat more flavor and complete drying process. This jerky makes good bouillon.

"Just Jerky"

VENISON JERKY

2½ pounds venison, partially frozen
⅓ cup soy sauce
1½ tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
¼ rounded teaspoon black pepper
¼ rounded teaspoon garlic powder
¼ rounded teaspoon onion powder
½ teaspoon hickory smoked salt
⅓ cup packed brown sugar
1 small bottle liquid smoke

Trim off fat from all meat. Slice thinly no thicker than ¼ -inch.

In medium bowl, combine the remaining ingredients, whisk until sugar is dissolved. Add meat, making sure all the meat is coated, cover and refrigerate overnight or for eight hours.

Heat oven to 150-200 degrees.

Place cooling rack over baking sheets, place the meat in single layer on the wire racks; place the baking sheets in the oven and dry the meat for not less than eight hours until brown. Meat must be thoroughly dry. Cool before removing from the rack. Store in glass jar.

JERKY

Beef or venison cut into thin strips
1 cup soy sauce
1 cup water
½ cup Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon onion powder
½ teaspoon garlic powder
½ teaspoon liquid smoke
½ teaspoon red hot

Recipe may be halved or doubled depending on how much meat you have. Soak slices in above mixture, in sealed bag or container, in the refrigerator for 2-3 days. Dry in dehydrator or hang pieces in oven and bake at 150 degrees for 5 hours.

"Very good recipe," contributor writes. "I had some jerky done commercially and this tasted the same."

A message from Somerset County Dairy Princess Amanda Meier reminds us that 1997 has finally arrived. Many of us resolved to improve our health this year. But did you ever think about including dairy products in your new health regimen? Dairy products provide many nutrients that help your body in numerous ways. For example, calcium helps build strong bones and teeth, plus it helps in the long run by preventing osteoporosis. Also, for those of you who resolved to lose weight, many dairy products come in reduced or non-fat varieties.

Dairy products are expected to become a major culinary trend in 1997. Milk consumption in the American diet is up for the first time in 20 years! Many people are on the way to becoming healthier as they start to drink more of this smooth, all-natural beverage. Also, they are discovering that they don't have to "drink it straight." Try toasting 1997 with a great dairy shake such as this one! Happy "Moo" Year!

Frosty Apple Health Drink

1 quart cold milk
3 ounces apple juice concentrate
1 pint vanilla ice cream, softened
cinnamon and nutmeg

Add all ingredients in a large mixing bowl and beat until frothy. Top with cinnamon and nutmeg to taste. Serve immediately. Yield: 6 servings.

Enjoy, and for more delicious dairy recipes like this one, call 1-800-WHY-MILK.

SHOWSTOPPING FLOWERS

Gardeners will remember 1996 as a marginal growing year for flowers. Despite the gloomy growing (ex. marigolds that ordinarily grow 24 to 30 inches only finished at 18 to 24 inches in 1996), the Penn State Flower Trial gardens yielded several showstoppers.

Gardeners may want to purchase Lobelia cardinalis, the cardinal flower. With several cultivars available of this perennial plant in 1997, expect to see more spectacular types with bright red or pink flower spikes.

The cultivar "Fan Scarlet" was particularly nice at the flower trials with its dark foliage providing color early and the brilliant red flowers standing out against the darker foliage. This perennial will flower easily from seed in the first season. They bloom in the garden in late July and throughout August.

Gysophila "Garden Bride" and "Gypsy" are small purple flowered Baby's Breath suitable for the borders of flower beds, as specimen plants or as the focal point of a low flower bed. The double-flowered "Gypsy" provided a little better color than the taller single-flowered "Garden Bride."

Alyssum "Gold Pastel Mix" provides nice growth for perennial borders and rock gardens with lots of purple and white flowers blooming most of the late summer and fall.

Geranium "Maverick series" is a very vigorous seed geranium. It produced large flower heads. In contrast, many of the small, less vigorous seed geraniums flowered themselves to death in 1996. They produced many flower heads and very little foliage.

In a year when many of the salvia plants were small and slow to fill out, Salvia "Bonfire Elite" grew vigorously and produced many bright red flowers. A tall cultivar, it produces large vigorous flowers. Another interesting salvia to try is "Lady in Red."

Visitors to the trial gardens especially enjoyed Celosia "Pink Candle." Petunia "Purple Wave," really stood out by mid-August. Time after time, it was the first petunia in the garden to look good after a heavy rain. Often it recovered in less than one day. The other "Wave" petunia, "Pink Wave," was new to the garden this year and performed well, but not as well as the "Purple Wave."

Use Verbena "Imagination" as a ground cover. This annual, has purple flowers and vigorous, spreads to fill the bed quickly, and has done well in both wet and dry years.

To get the complete story, check out Penn State Internet site @ HTTP://Garden.cas.psu.edu where the full results of the 1996 trials are posted.

For vegetable lovers, an orange-fleshed watermelon and a cherry tomato with plum-like fruit were the favorites in the garden.

QUESTION — Christine Mansberger, Shippensburg, would like the recipe for a cookie called Five O'Clock Teas, which were made at the Valley Pride Bakery in Shippensburg until they went out of business.

QUESTION — Margaret Flerlage, Waldorf, Md., requests recipes for bread puddings and sauce toppings to put on it.

QUESTION — A reader would like healthful bread recipes to make in a bread machine. Is it possible to make bread machine bread without white flour? She prefers oat flour, which doesn't have enough gluten in it to raise sufficiently.

QUESTION — Donna Taylor, Washington Boro, wants a recipe for salt rising bread.

QUESTION — Sally Reinahl, Valley View, is looking for a recipe for caramel custard pie that does not use brown sugar. She found many recipes using brown sugar, but her grandmother made it with granulated sugar and she likes the flavor better. Note: Generally you can substitute the granulated sugar for the brown sugar. Try it. Or does someone have a different recipe?

QUESTION — Kathy Gephart, Rebersburg, wants a recipe for honey mustard pretzels.

QUESTION — N. Martin, Denver, wants a recipe for homemade hot dogs made with chicken or beef. What size casing is used? She also would like a chicken bologna recipe. She writes that she uses a sausage press for stuffing bologna and sausage.

QUESTION — Dennis Hagan, Reading, would like a recipe for deep fried cheese cubes. In the recipes he has tried, he was unable to get the breading to stay on the cheese cubes. Any secrets?

QUESTION — Wm. Lucas, Warfordsburg, wants to know where to buy shredded coconut, not flake coconut.

QUESTION — Sarah Clark wants recipes for heavenly hash bars, a fudge candy, and a seven minute frosting with grated apple, which is good served over gingerbread or spice cake.

QUESTION — Phyllis Stauffer of Carlisle would like recipes for breads that are often sold at bake shops or orchard stands. One she particularly likes is vegetable bread. It looks crumbly on top and is a softer bread.

QUESTION — Margie Hartman of Pittsburgh would like to know if anyone has a recipe for New Year's Pretzel.

QUESTION — Cel Brown of West Chester wants the recipe for a bread mix like the ones in the store called Daily Bread Company's. These mixes can be made up ahead.

QUESTION — Thomas Martin, Strasburg, writes that he is looking for a recipe for frozen strawberry yogurt, which combines yogurt and strawberry Jell-O.

QUESTION — A faithful New York reader would like a recipe for grilled chicken breast that tastes like that served by Shady Maple on Thursdays.

QUESTION — Shirley Lilley, Baltimore, Md., would like a recipe for gingerbread square cupcakes and frosting (a dollop on top of each) such as marketed by Valley Pride Bakery each fall season and sold in the Chambersburg area.

QUESTION — Yvonne Musser, Lancaster, said she would like a recipe for buttermilk salad like they serve at Akron Restaurant in Akron.

ANSWER — For Violet Cassner, Newburg, here is a recipe for tomato jelly using Jell-O from Sarah Clark, Breezewood.

Strawberry Jelly With Tomatoes

5 cups sugar
5 cups tomatoes, peeled, diced, uncooked
1 large box strawberry Jell-O

In a large saucepan, cook sugar with tomatoes until boiling. Boil for 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat. Add strawberry Jell-O; stir until dissolved. Pour into jars. Refrigerate overnight. Seal the next day.

ANSWER — A long time New York reader wanted a recipe for Greek Honey Cookies, which are delicious although sticky. Thanks to Josephine Matenus, Dallas, for sending a recipe.

Melomacarona Cookies
Greek New Year's Day Cookies

4 cups Farina
2 cups olive oil
½ cup confectioners' sugar
1 cup Greek honey
½ cup Achaia-Clauss 7 Star Brandy
Juice of 1 orange
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
2 teaspoons baking powder

Combine the Farina with the olive oil and mix with a wooden spoon until creamy, add the sugar and mix, add honey (warmed and beaten lightly with a whisk) and the brandy. Beat; add orange juice, grated rind, cinnamon cloves, and baking powder, and beat the mixture until smooth and slightly thickened. If the batter is too thick, add more brandy. If too thin, add more Farina.

The dough should be firm enough to form into egg shapes and flatten. Butter a baking pan and place the egg-shaped cookies on pan.

Score a cross on top of each egg and place in a 350 degree oven for about 25 minutes until golden brown.

Syrup:

1 cup honey
1 cup sugar
2 cups water
1 cup chopped walnuts
½ teaspoon lemon juice

Prepare syrup by boiling together honey, sugar, water, and lemon juice for 5 minutes. Drop in the walnuts and stir until slightly thickened. Take off heat.

When the cookies are done, dip each one into the hot sauce and place on a plate to cool.

Reheat the sauce left in the pan and pour over the already dipped and cooled cookies.

Sprinkle with a little chopped nuts and dust very lightly with confectioners' sugar. Makes about 2 dozen cookies.

ANSWER — Mrs. Burkholder wrote that several years ago she was served a rice dish that she hasn't forgotten. It was rice with bits of broccoli and had a very buttery taste. Another ingredient was slivered almonds. Sarah Clark, Everett, sent a recipe that she said is one of her families favorites and might be what Mrs. Burkholder wants.

Broccoli Casserole

1 clove garlic, minced
¼ cup butter
¼ cup chopped almonds
4 ounce can sliced mushrooms, drained
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 onion, chopped
4 cups cooked broccoli
1 cup grated cheese
1 cup buttered crumbs
1 cup instant rice

Saute garlic and onion slightly in butter. Layer the ingredients into 9x13-inch baking pan in the following order: half the broccoli, half the almonds, mushrooms, rice, and half the broccoli. Heat cheese and mushroom soup together until cheese is melted. Pour over casserole and top with remaining almonds and buttered crumbs. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes or until hot and bubbly.

ANSWER — A reader from Easton wanted a recipe for a sweet tea biscuit that has currents in them. Thanks to Frances Homa, Alpha, N.J., for sending a recipe.

Tea Scones

2 cups flour
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup dried currants
6 tablespoons butter
1 beaten egg
½ cup milk
1 slightly beaten egg

Stir thoroughly the flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt. Stir in currants. Cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add one beaten egg and milk, stirring just until dough clings together. Knead gently on floured surface (12 to 15 strokes).

Cut dough in half. Shape each half into a ball and pat or roll to 6-inch circle, about ½ -inch thick. Cut each circle into 6 or 8 wedges. Place wedge on ungreased baking sheet (don't have sides touching). Brush scones with one slightly beaten egg. Bake at 425 degrees until golden brown, 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 12 to 16 scones.

Dauphin County Beekeeper Wins Best Of Show

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — David Calderone of Mechanicsburg, Dauphin County, received a Best of Show Award for his white extracted honey entry at the 81st Pennsylvania Farm Show. The largest indoor agricultural exhibition in the United States, the Farm Show is held at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg, Jan. 11-16.

Sinnce he started beekeeping 10 years ago, Calderone has been attending the Farm Show. Calderone owns a small-scale beekeeping operation, Sugar Valley Apiaries, for a hobby and a second income. He produces both honey and beeswax products. His entry won first place in the class for white extracted honey and Best of Show for the extracted honey division. Judges scored the honey on moisture content, freedom from crystals, cleanliness and freedom of foam, cleanliness and neatness of containers, accuracy of filling, and flavor.

Calderone currently serves as president of the Capitol Area Beekeepers Assocation. In addition to regular meetings, educational development courses, a newsletter, and conferences, the organization assists the Pennsylvania Beekeepers Association with their Farm Show promotional activities. According to Calderone the promotion activities emphasize the importance of bees to Pennsylvania agriculture. "Bees are the keystone of agriculture," says Calderone, "They represent an integral part of the complex relationship between nature and agriculture because of their contribution to the pollination of many cash crops."

Throughout the week of Farm Show, the Pennsylvania Beekeepers Association sells ice cream made with honey at a food booth. The ice cream is made by replacing half of the corn syrup with honey which gives the ice cream a smoother texture and softer consistency. In addition, the association also conducts brief educational seminars. Twice a day the group performs a honey extracting demonstration which explains how the honey is removed from the comb. New to the show for 1997, the beekeepers are conducting a "Beekeepers Adventure." The demonstration offers a brief overview of all aspects of beekeeping from why bees are important to how honey is made to understanding inspection laws.

Pennsylvania is home to approximately 7,000 beekeepers. Fifty of those beekeepers exhibited 188 entries at the 1997 Farm Show, an increase over last year's show, according to Calderone.

Triple Decker Chocolate Cake with Reese's Peanut Butter Filling. The massive cake required four hours to decorate. Julie, from Lehigh County, also won the Blue Ribbon Apple Pie Contest and her daughter won the Greatest Chocolate Cookie Contest (see related stories for more details).

Third prize winner in the cake contest was Tina Felker who entered Felker's Dark Chocolate Cake. Tina, who won her first blue ribbon in a baking contest at 5 years of age, considers her baking skills "a gift from God." She enjoys baking for friends, her husband Scott and children Aaron, 5, and Hannah, 3, in Snyder County. Tina has used her recipe for so long that she can't remember where it first originated.

The second-place winner in the Greatest Chocolate Cookie competition was Amanda Ulmer of Northumberland County. Her Peanutty-Cocoa Bonbons had won a first that the Montour DeLong Fair previously.

Third place winner was Amanda Darr, daughter of Shelly and Melta Darr of Somerset County. Her Brownie Caramel Cups took a blue ribbon at the Somerset Fair to qualify her to enter state competition.

The Hershey's Greatest Cake and Cookie Contest is sponsored by Hershey Foods and the Pa. State Fair Board Association.

JEN'S CHOCOLATE PEANUT BUTTER SWIRL BARS
First Prize

Bar:
- 2 cups sugar
- 2 eggs
- ⅓ cup oil
- 2 cups brewed coffee
- ½ cup Hershey cocoa
- 2 tablespoons white vinegar
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 2 teaspoons baking soda
- 2 cups flour

Topping:
- 8-ounces cream cheese
- 1 egg
- ½ cup sugar
- ½ cup Hershey chocolate chips
- ½ cup Hershey Reeses peanut butter chips

Frosting:
- 12-ounce bag Hershey semi-sweet chocolate chips
- ½ cup Reeses creamy peanut butter
- ½ cup Planters Nut topping
- Reeses small peanut butter cups for garnish
- Wilton gold leaves

Cream together sugar, eggs, and oil. Add dry ingredients, coffee, vanilla, and vinegar. Pour into a greased 13x9-inch pan. Cream together topping ingredients and swirl for marble effect. When cake is cooled, frost with frosting. Melt the chocolate chips over the stove with creamy peanut butter. Frost the bars. Sprinkle over the top the Planters Nut Topping. Cut into bars and garnish with peanut butter cups and Wilton gold leaves.

PEANUTTY-COCOA BONBONS
Second-place

- 2 3-ounce packages cream cheese, softened
- 1 tablespoon milk
- 4 cups confectioners' sugar
- ⅓ cup Hershey's cocoa
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 cup finely chopped nuts
- 2 cups Reese's peanut butter chips
- 2 tablespoons shortening

In large mixer bowl, beat cream cheese and milk until fluffy. Blend in confectioners' sugar, cocoa, and vanilla. Stir in nuts if desired. Cover. Chill several hours or until firm enough to handle. To form centers, shape into ¾ -inch balls. Place on wax paper-lined tray. Refrigerate, uncovered, 3 to 4 hours or until dry.

To coat: In a one-quart microproof bowl, place peanut butter chips and shortening. Microwave on high one to two minutes, stirring once, or just until chips are melted and mixture is smooth when stirred. Dip chilled centers into peanut butter mixture; remove with fork. Slide from fork onto wax paper. Refrigerate bonbons, uncovered, one hour. Store in a cool dry place.

One of the highlights of the baking contests is the opportunity for Farm Show visitors to sample the entries after judging is completed.

Tina Felker enjoys baking for husband Scott and children Aaron, 5, and Hannah, 3.

Showing off the Greatest Chocolate Cookies are Amanda Ulmer, second, Jennifer Intrepido, first; and Amanda Darr, third.

CHOCOLATE CHERRY CAKE
First Prize

- 2 cups sugar
- 2 cups flour
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup oil
- ⅔ cup cocoa
- 1 cup buttermilk or sour milk
- 1 cup coffee, brewed, hot or cold
- 2 teaspoons baking soda
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 20-ounce can chilled cherry pie filling

Mix all ingredients together with the exception of the pie filling. Line two 9-inch baking pans with wax paper. Pour batter in and bake at 350 degrees for 25-30 minutes.

After baking let cakes cool 10 minutes. Flip cakes to wire racks, carefully remove wax paper and cool completely.

Topping:
- ½ cup cold skim milk
- ½ teaspoon vanilla
- 1 envelope whipped topping mix

Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

To make topping, blend together skim milk, vanilla, and whipped topping. Whip at high speed until topping peaks, about 2 minutes. Continue for two more minutes until light and fluffy.

Place one cake layer on plate. Spread half the whipped topping top with half the pie filling. Top with second layer and spread with the remaining whipped topping and pie filling.

BROWNIE CARAMEL CUPS
Third Prize

Dough:
- ½ cup shortening
- ½ cup granulated sugar
- ½ cup brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 2 tablespoons milk

Blend together ingredients and then blend together dry ingredients.
- 1½ cups flour
- ½ cup Hershey's cocoa
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- ½ teaspoon salt

Slowly add the dry ingredients to the creamed mixture. Mix well. Shape by rounded teaspoonful into balls, put in greased gem pans. Press dough to form pan. Bake at 375 degrees for 8 minutes. Cool and gently remove from gem pans.

Caramel filling:
- 1 bag caramels
- ½ cup evaporated milk

Melt together over low heat. Fill brownie cups. Cool.

Icing:
- ½ cup sugar
- ⅓ cup evaporated milk
- 1 cup Crisco
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat together well. Frost tarts. Ground nuts may be added. Makes 3 dozen.

TRIPLE DECKER CHOCOLATE CAKE WITH REESE'S PEANUT BUTTER FILLING
Second Prize

- 4 cups flour
- 4 cups sugar
- 1½ cups cocoa
- 4 teaspoons baking soda
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 cups Italian cappuccino instant coffee
- 2 cups milk
- 4 eggs
- 1 cup Crisco oil
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 2 teaspoons Godiva liqueur
- 2 tablespoons white vinegar

Mix together the first six ingredients with a spoon until the mixture looks like chocolate powder. Add the remaining ingredients and blend until smooth. Use three 9-inch round cake pans, greased well and lined with wax paper. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes. After they come out of oven invert cake on rack and put a thin layer of Reese's peanut butter on the hot cakes. Cool.

Reese's Peanut Butter Filling:
- 1 cup butter flavored Crisco
- ¼ cup Reese's Peanut Butter
- 1 pound powdered sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon meringue powder
- 8 ounces whipping cream
- 5 ounces Reese's peanut butter chips, melted

Cream the Crisco and peanut butter until smooth. Add the powdered sugar, salt, meringue powder, and whipping cream. Blend until very creamy.

In the microwave, melt the Reese's peanut butter chips on high for 45 seconds. Add the melted chips to the filling, blending well. Chill.

DARK CHOCOLATE CAKE
Third Prize

- 2 cups sugar
- 1¾ cups flour
- ¾ cup Hershey's cocoa
- 1½ teaspoon baking soda
- 1½ teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup milk
- ½ cup oil
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 1 cup boiling water

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Grease and flour pans. Combine dry ingredients. Add eggs, milk, oil, and vanilla; beat for two minutes on medium speed.

Remove from mixer. Stir in boiling water. Bake in round pans for 30 to 35 minutes or rectangular pan for 35 to 40 minutes. Cool and frost.

Recipe for frosting was not released.

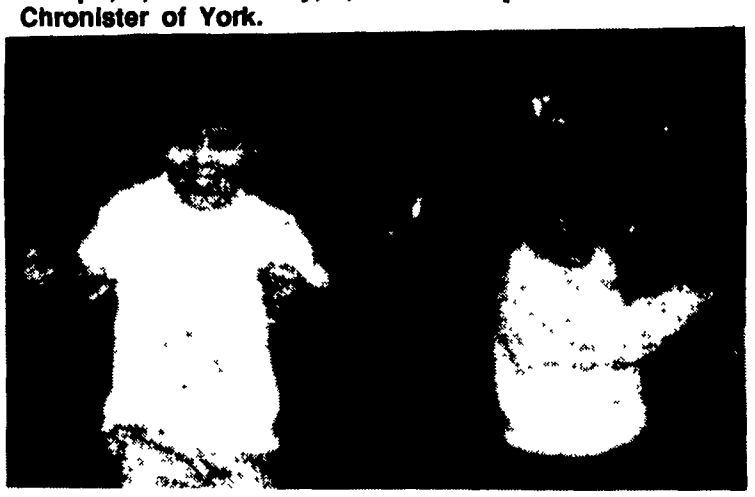
Farm Show Is More Than Animals And Tractors

These three brothers like to see everything at the Farm Show, especially the rodeo and the tractors. Daniel, 10; Joseph, 8; and Zachary, 3, are the sons of John and Jill Chronister of York.

Waiting for the judges decision in the Greatest Cookie Contest are the daughters of Judy and Fred Boyce, Johnstown. From left are Morgan, 3; Allison, 8; and Shannon, 11, who entered the competition.



After climbing up and down stairs adult visitors find chairs inviting but their offspring still have boundless energy to jump, play, and dance together.

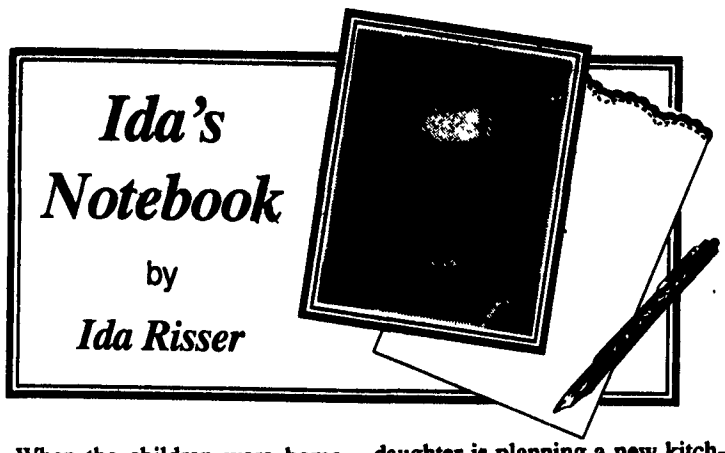
Six-year-old Elizabeth Blank of Parkesburg pulls Martha, 4, and Daniel, 2, around the Farm Show. The Blanks are from Parkesburg.

Shaver's Creek Environmental Center offers daily hands-on lessons on wildlife for Farm Show visitors.

Pa. Alternate Dairy Princess Lisa Fitch places "got milk" stickers on Farm Show visitors.



When the children were home for the holidays, I had an opportunity to visit some places that I usually don't go to. One was a custom kitchen display store as a daughter is planning a new kitchen. Another was a trip to a large outlet center where I would not go alone. Here I surprised myself by buying a blazer in a bright color.

One interesting place that we visited was the candy museum in Lititz. Wilbur chocolate is made here and also other products which are shipped to bakers, dairies, and candy makers. Methods of making candy long ago are shown together with a beautiful collection of prized chocolate pots. They are from all over the world and date to the 1700s.

When I took the Christmas tree down this year, I had the job of finding a place for my many gifts. Now I know that I should be glad that so many people remembered me but finding a place for everything is a job. The shiny new teapot is very useful as someone else gave me eight big boxes of a variety of teas. The candy and nuts will gradually be used but the "cow" mugs and "cow" salt and pepper shakers need a space on the shelf. The photograph album and flower watering pot are useful as are the clothes that I received.

My husband hunted a place for a big colorful picnic umbrella and a rain suit. The clothes that he received were put to use right away. He too got candy and nuts which a son told us would keep us "fat and happy." Although, I do not really agree with that.

Now that all the grandchildren have gone home the house is quiet. No more running and screaming, no more puppet shows in the basement, and no more hugs.

ANSWER — J. Gehman, Newburg, wanted a basic bagel recipe and variations of it. Thanks to several anonymous readers for sending in recipes.

Basic Bagel Recipe

2 tablespoons sugar
1 package yeast
1½ cups warm water
4½ to 5 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt

Dissolve sugar and yeast in ½ cup warm water. Let stand 5 to 10 minutes. Stir in the 4 cups flour and salt to form a soft dough. Knead dough until smooth and elastic. Put into a bowl and grease the top. Let rise about 30 minutes. Punch down dough and divide into equal pieces. Pat each ball into a 3-inch disk. Make a hole in center and twirl on forefinger until the hole is 1½ -inches in diameter. Place on greased baking sheet and let rise again until puffy, about 20 minutes.

Optional: If you prefer a glossy smooth surface, place raised bagels on an ungreased baking sheet and broil for 1½ to 2 minutes on each side, 5 inches from heat.

Bring one gallon water and 1 tablespoon sugar to a boil in a large kettle, reduce heat and simmer. Cook as many bagels that fit into the pan at a time, 7 minutes, turning once. Drain and place on greased baking pans. Bake at 375 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes or until golden. For bagels that have been broiled, bake 25 minutes.

Variations:

Onion bagels: Prepare bagels as above except cook ½ cup finely chopped onion in 3 tablespoons butter until tender but not brown. Brush bagel with butter mixture over tops after 15 minutes of baking. May sprinkle with poppy seeds, sesame seeds or garlic granules.

Whole Wheat Bagels

1 teaspoon brown sugar
1 package yeast
1½ cups warm water
3 cups flour
2 cups whole wheat flour
2 tablespoons honey
1 teaspoon salt

To make dough, follow instructions from the basic recipe.

Rye Bagels

2 tablespoons sugar
1 package yeast
1½ cups warm water
2 cups rye flour
2½ cups all-purpose flour
1 tablespoon caraway seeds
1 teaspoon salt

To make dough, follow instructions from basic recipe.

Cinnamon Raisin Bagels

¾ cup raisins
3 tablespoons sugar
1 package yeast
1½ cups warm water
½ cup water
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt
4½ to 5½ cups flour

Plump raisins by covering with boiling water; let stand until cool, drain. Dissolve sugar and yeast in the ½ cup water and let stand 5 to 10 minutes. Stir in the 4 cups flour, cinnamon, raisins, and salt to form a soft dough. Knead dough until smooth and elastic. Put into a bowl and grease top. Let rise about 30 minutes. Punch dough down and divide into equal pieces. Pat each ball into a 3-inch disk. Make a hole in center and twirl on forefinger until hole is 1½ -inches in diameter. Place on greased pans and let rise again until puffy. Bring about one quart water to a boil in a saucepan, reduce heat and simmer. Add one bagel at a time and flip over and remove from water, let drain and place on greased baking pans. Bake at 375 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes until golden.

Togetherness Marks Pennsylvania Farm Women's Journey From Past To Future

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — About 200 members gathered for the 78th annual Society of Farm Women of Pennsylvania state convention on Monday in Harrisburg.

The day-long session opened in the Pennsylvania Forum and concluded with an evening banquet held at the Raddison Penn Harris Convention Center.

Since last year's session was cancelled due to the Blizzard of '96, the agenda was packed with business reports and election of officers. In keeping with tradition the members still managed to incorporate fun and humor into their annual gathering.

Deputy Sec. of Ag Russell Redding welcomed the members to the Forum. He spoke on recent agricultural trends and the need for world trade because of market changes. A world market is needed because 96 percent of the world population is outside the U.S. In addition, the U.S. has the lowest population growth in the world, he said.

The largest market is in the fast food area. To illustrate the growth, Redding said that for every McDonalds built in the U.S., two are built outside the U.S.

Daphne Fry, president of Lancaster Society 27, appliqued the new banner for the Society of Farm Women of Pennsylvania. In addition to sewing, Daphne helps her husband Lowell with two broiler houses on their Manheim Farm and cares for daughter Colin, 10 months. Shown with her is her mother-in-law Kathryn Fry who is president of the Lancaster County Society of Farm Women.

Since farmers produce more food than needed in the U.S., farm income has been dwindling. Almost 65 percent of farmers need off-farm income to survive.

"We don't want to be barred from world markets for unscientific reasons," Redding said.

He also explained the reason for the confusion in many agricultural related legislation. "There are 16 different definitions of agriculture in laws," Redding said. This makes it difficult to properly interpret laws.

Election of officers and directors also took place. Lois Hughes

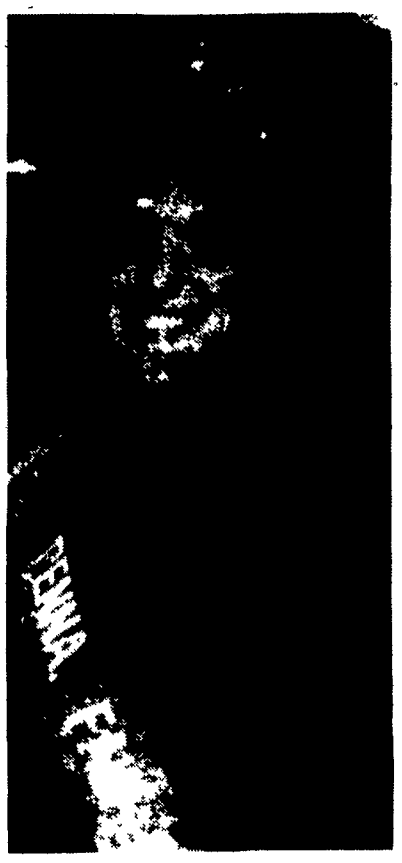
Every year Matthew Rissinger and daughters Emily, 4, and Rebecca, 8, of Audubon like to eat the cake samples after the contest is over.

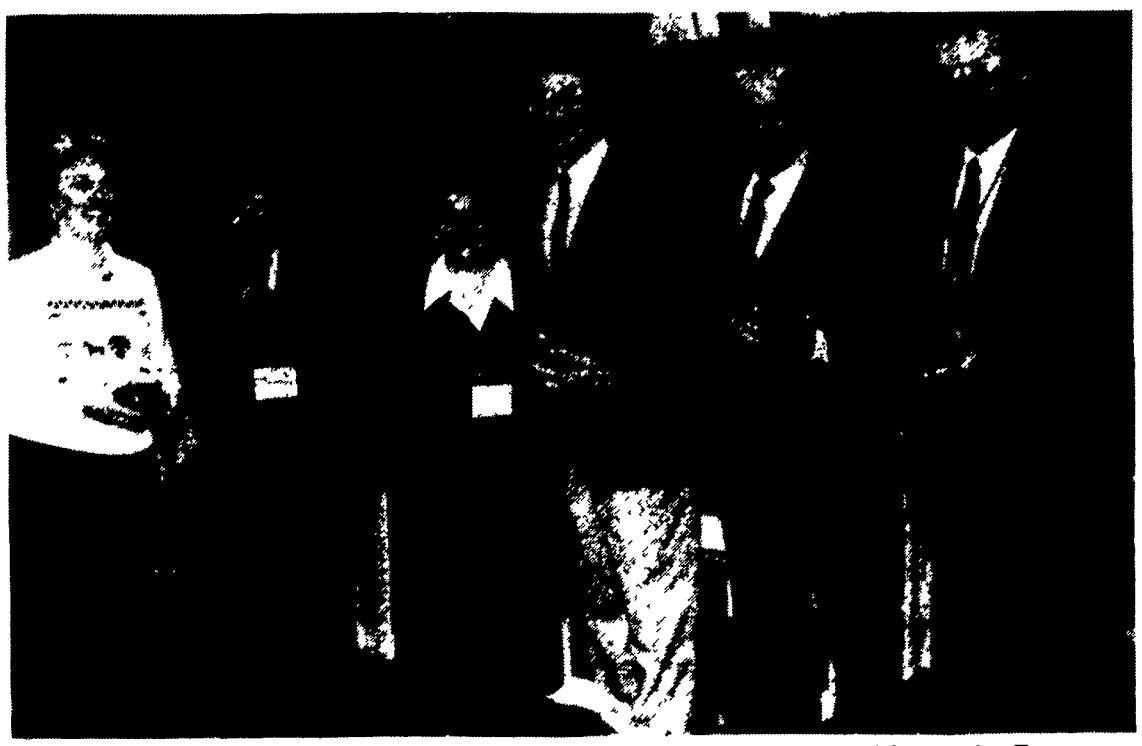
Extended families gather annually at the Farm Show to cheer each other on. Kneeling are Snyder countians Richard and Charlotte Gelnett, parents and grandparents of this tribe. Charlotte entered 38 items this year. Several of the grandchildren model dresses she made for them in the Fashion Show. Included are Lonnie and Maelee Gelnett from Paxtonville and children Zora, 18; Jessica, 16; and Amelia, 10. David and Cindy Ela of Beavertown with children, Shane, 15; Caleb, 14; Andrew, 12; and Amber, 9.

Former winner of the Greatest Chocolate Cake competition is Dolly Getz with husband Shawn and 10-month-old Miranda. "I'm still baking for whoever calls," said Dotty, who also brought another cake to the Farm Show competition after qualifying at the Manheim Farm Show. No ribbon this year — you can't win them all.



Pa. Fair Queen Feather Thomas

From Washington Boro are dairy farm family Robin Rohrer with children Tiffany, 14, and Tyler, 11.



International Day brought 138 dignitaries from 35 different countries to the Farm Show. The purpose was to foster relationships to encourage trade. Greeting visitors from Poland are representatives from the Pa. State Association of County Fairs Jackie Everett, left; Russell Redding, center; and Don Evans.

Wilmer, Buelah, and Beth Musser from Lititz beat the Saturday crowd by coming early.

Farm Women

Centerpieces for the evening banquet were made by Farm Women Societies of Lancaster County. of Cambria replaces Dorothy Stricker, Berks County, who finished her three year term as president. Catherine Schott, Lebanon County, was elected first vice president and Becky Swallow of Somerset County is second vice president. Doroth Caskey of Adams County continues her term as secretary, and Barbara Nissley of Lancaster County continues her term as treasurer.

Three new state directors were elected for a total of six. These include Grace Book, Perry County; Mary Pankake, Dauphin County; Sharon Engle, Franklin County; Emma Spencer, Huntingdon County; Carol Goldinger, Cumberland County; and Janet Schlegel, Berks County.

Treasurer Barbara Nissley reported total assets for the state society is $10,072.

Because many members are growing older with some in retirement homes, the State Society submitted legislation to change the bylaws. The members voted on allowing societies with the majority of members who are 70 years of age and older be allowed to remain as members of the local society but not the state. Dues would be reduced to $2.35 annually. Approval was given for these societies to be known as Group-At-Large.

Marie Baughman reported that 500 booklets with the new by laws will be printed. Inserts will be imprinted to add to those who have previous copies of the by laws.

Certificates of achievement for Farm and Home Safety programs were presented to societies of Cambria, Somerset, and Adams Counties.

To increase dwindling membership, Catherine Schott suggested that each society reevaluate programs by surveying members to determine how programs can better meet the needs of its membership.

Despite loss of members due to death and illness, total membership did increase in the societies in Chester, Lebanon, Somerset, and York Counties.

Five $1,000 and five $250 scholarships were awarded this past year to children and grandchildren of members who are studying ag-related courses. These scholarships are possible through the state cookbook sales directed by Naomi Bupp of York. Bupp reported the cookbooks are in the ninth printing with 22,500 copies.

In the afternoon session, entertainment was provided by the Chambersburg High School Steel Band who produced music from 50 gallon steel barrels.

Kenneth Winebark of Lebanon County told members about the On Fire ministry that he and his wife Janet began for youth. He sang several solos that portrayed his spiritual journey in finding God's guidance for his life. He challenged members to be praying mothers and grandmothers because many kids don't have dads and moms who care for them.

The evening banquet included musical entertainment by Rhonda Smith Marsh of Harrisburg. Joseph Emerich of Cambria County showed slides and spoke of his work as environmental education coordinator for which he has received national awards.

County presidents reported on the activities of individual societies. County societies range in number from one society with eight members in Perry County to 28 societies with 657 members in Lancaster County.

Monies for helping the community are raised through garage sales, auctions, sales of candy, food, cookbooks, cleaning supplies, and even fines for members' infringement of rules.

Swine Judge So Impressed With Lineup That He Names Chester White Champion

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — This year's Farm Show swine judge was more impressed with one class of hogs over any other that he had seen in the 20 years he had been attending the show.

The class so impressed swine judge Gale Bressner, a Chester White purebred breeder from Chenoa, Ill., that he named the Chester White division winner as grand champion over all swine at this year's show.

The hog was exhibited by the Ken Wetzel Family, Rossiter, at their first Pennsylvania Farm Show. The gilt sold for $850 to Lazarus Brothers, Germansville, at the sale following the show last Saturday.

"I don't think that in any one time that I've been here previously to judge that I've seen Chester Whites like here today," said Bressner, whose family has a 25-sow herd. He is a feed company representative who does swine consulting work. Bressner said this is his fifth time he has judged the state Farm show.

He spoke about how good the leanness and muscling was for the Chester White gilts in the show ring.

Bressner awarded champion Chester White to the March gilt, KWF 2-6 Kris 18-9. The reserve was also shown by the Wetzels, KWF16 Angie (S: LL5 KWF New Life, D: RCH5 MS Tonto Gonzal), a February gilt, which Bressner called a "very excellent gilt in her own right."

Bressner had commented upon the other winners as he selected them at last week's show.

Berkshires

Bressner was impressed with the lineup of the potential champions from the Berkshire division.

He said, "We've got gilts that display structural correctness and productivity," and one stood out. The champion had the "most length of front, length of body, and structural evenness."

The winner was a March Berkshire gilt shown by Greg Innerst, Red Lion, GBI 6 Carla (S: GBI5 Wide Track 2-5, D: GBI 5 Miss Spencer 9-2). Reserve went to the February gilt also shown by Innerst, GBI 6 Bebe Queen (S: ADF5 Awesome 39-2, D: GBI 5 747 Queen Van 2-2).

Durocs

The February classes swept the Duroc show at the Farm Show. One, the champion, was shown by David Holloway, Glen Rock. The reserve was shown by Rodger Bankert, Hanover.

Bressner said the February gilt shown by Holloway won the class "flat out," because of length of rump, body cavity, and overall function and leanness. While judging for market characteristics, Bressner indicated that "we still have to keep muscling in hogs but we've got go keep hogs productive."

The grand champion was awarded to Holloway, DCHH6 MS Reo (S: RN4 Jim Dandy, D: DCHH4 MS Reo). The reserve went to the February second place shown by Bankert, BDC6 Ms Strongbox 2-7 (S: JTPS Paragon, D: BDC4 Ms Strongbox).

Hampshires

A gilt that Bressner believed had the "right framework and is really lean" for her age won grand champion Hampshire gilt at the Farm Show.

The "nicely balanced gilt" was exhibited by Dan Wetzel, Rossiter, DRW 6 Jolly (S: DRW5 High Promotion, D: GM4 Joyce A), a March gilt.

Wetzel swept the Hampshire division with his reserve champion, a February gilt, DRW6 CM (S: DRW5 Notice, D: DRW5 My Girl). Bressner said that the competition was close with the reserve.

Reserve champion Chester White was exhibited by Ken Wetzel.

Grand champion Duroc gilt went to Dave Holloway.

Landrace

An excellent Landrace female exhibited by Leon Arnold, Lebanon, easily won grand champion of the Landrace competition, according to Bressner. The hog, a March gilt, was THO6 Delight.

Reserve went to the February gilt, LAG6 Ms Milkman's Warrior, exhibited by Grant Lazarus, Germansville. Bressner said the reserve had "thick muscling, thick-bodied, is a wide gilt, a gilt that just comes right at you."

Poland Chinas

The January gilt in this division "excels all other gilts" with her incredible body cavity, thickness, and muscling won champion Poland China.

The hog, Whinney, was shown by Cheryl Bennecoff, Kutztown.

Closely resembling the champion gilt was the won also shown by Bennecoff, a February gilt, Ms Concrete (S: DMCW5 F, D: Ms Tucker). The reserve was a "heavily muscled, lean, and sound functioning female," said Bressner.

Spotted

Champion went to LLB6 2-3 (S: ANS2 Standard 2-2, D: LLB2 INXS Timber F Power), a January gilt.

Reserve champion went to the second place January gilt, also shown by Lazarus Brothers, LLB6 2-2. Bressner said the reserve was a "big-scaled, large-bodied gilt that was easy moving."

Yorkshires

A January gilt that exhibited an extremely wide body and that was very structurally correct won grand champion Yorkshire.

The gilt, LLA6 Ag Arena (S: HSH5 Zing 3-7, D: LLA4 Ag Arena 18-8), exhibited by Leon

First-Time Swine Progeny Test Takes Look At Genetics

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Jim Parlett, Airville, wanted to take a look at how well his Hampshire boar could do at the first-ever Farm Show Progeny Swine Contest.

The boar already sired several county fair champions, including York Fair, Blair County reserve, Schuylkill County reserve, was the boar that sired the Maryland State Fair champion, and was the boar that sired the Cumberland County, Maryland reserve.

His boar sired the four hogs that were taken to the progeny test. As a result, one of them, a Hampshire-Duroc cross, won grand champion of the on-foot evaluation at the test.

Parlett said a key component of the progeny test was to look at lean gain per day. "The focus was mainly genetics," he said.

Most exhibitors agreed: you can take a good close look at how good your genetics really are as a result of the progeny test contest — and win some premium money as well.

Dave Holloway, Glen Rock, exhibited the reserve champion on foot of the Swine Progeny Test Show last week at the Farm Show.

Holloway exhibited a purebred Duroc to reserve champion.

Holloway said the progeny test was a first-ever for the Farm Show. As part of the contest, exhibitors brought four hogs to the Meat Animal Evaluation Center in State College on Oct. 3 last year. The hogs all had to be sired by the same boar. All were put on the 90-day test, from Oct. 3 to Jan. 2, and were fed and evaluated in an identical way at Penn State.

During the 90 days, hogs were measured for lean gain, feed efficiency, rate of gain, and judged on foot at the Farm Show. Then they were judged again on rail, in terms of backfat, loin eye, carcass weight, lean percentage, and other factors.

Holloway said that the test will "compare as closely as you can the genetics of hogs in the same breed and between breeds." The evaluations can differ greatly from the show ring to the kill floor.

Genetic differences "can vary quite a bit sometimes," said Holloway, but the point of the test and the contest is to determine what the differences are in visual appraisal and rail. This will help the producer make necessary changes to the genetics or the overall management to help improve the herd.

Holloway attributed his success to hogs that "grew relatively good, had a decent rate of gain, went to higher weights and stayed lean — they look like they'll have good yield," he said.

The on-foot evaluation took place on Thursday of last week, and the rail evaluations were performed the next day.

In the end, Leon Arnold, a hog exhibitor from Lebanon, won the overall evaluation; Penn State won reserve.

You ask You answer

This column is for readers who have questons but don't know who to ask for answers.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

Do not send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a reply. If we receive the answer, we will publish it as soon as possible. Please include your phone number because we sometimes need to contact the person to clarify details. We will not publish your phone number unless you request it.

QUESTION — Dick Shull, Landisburg, would like to know how to stop down drafts in a chimney on windy days.

QUESTION — Tom Brown, Gettysburg, wants to know where to find parts or information for a Samson windmill built about 1890.

QUESTION — Here is an unusual problem sent in by a reader. In October, she bought some items at the Arthur Hoffer Public Sale on Cider Press Rd., Manheim. Recently, she sorted through the items and discovered a whole set of lids to Revere, West Bend, kettles. She was told that the person who had purchased the kettles inquired about the lids at the sale, but at that time, no one knew where they were. If you are or know the person who purchased the kettles, please call (717) 665-5770, and you can have the lids free.

QUESTION — A reader wants three Christmas balls to the series sold by the Dillsburg Historical Society. Call her at (717) 432-4231. Needed are the first three years: 1988 Warrington Meeting Haus; 1989 Logan House, and 1990 Bowmansdale Bridge.

QUESTION — Sherry Rechlin, 105 Pond Rd., Franklin, CT 06254 would like to know where to find a copy of the cross stitch book, "Cow Belles" Book 8 by Linda Gillum and published by Dimensions.

QUESTION — Elizabeth King, 1977 A Mine Rd., Paradise, PA 17562, would like to purchase an old-type Singer Sewing Machine from the early 1930s. She doesn't know the model number but knows that it is black with gold trim. A lever on the front right hand side pushes up and down to change stitch length and for reverse sewing. A tag under the lever says 15K and another one above it is oval shaped that says Singer Sewing Machines.

QUESTION — Jasmin Los, York, is looking for a source to purchase discounted sewing supplies from a catalog or store. She needs items such as snapes, eyelets, and quilt binding and finds the prepackaged items are priced too high.

QUESTION — Virginia Weaver, 2026 Rockvale Rd., Lancaster, PA 17602, would like to buy some Danny Orlis books.

QUESTION — Pam Eyer, 8 Hosfeld Rd., Carlisle, PA 17013, wants a crochet pattern to do the yoke of a sweatshirt. The top of the sweatshirt is cut off and redone in crochet. She would also like patterns for heavy cardigans to crochet that look similar to knitted ones.

QUESTION — Ivan Kauffman, Allensville, would like to know where to purchase an Arts-Way Dion gearbox for a self unloading wagon.

QUESTION — Gary Winters, Upper Strasburg, would like a source of information for obtaining tractors and parts in the Midwest and in the South.

QUESTION — Mrs. Gary Winters, 13279 Upper Strasburg Rd., Upper Strasburg, PA 17265 would like a quilt pattern for an Allis-Chalomers tractor and for a ship pattern.

QUESTION — R. Wenger, Lititz, would like to know of someone who repairs rebounders. He needs springs.

QUESTION — Cheryl Miller of P.O. Box 6254 Hallem, PA 17406, would like an green blooming Iris (flag) rhizome. One called Pride of Ireland is sold at Wayside Gardens but every time she tries to order one, they are sold out.

QUESTION — Phyllis G. Woods, Edinboro, wants to know how to make braided rugs out of wool coats, etc.

QUESTION — Beatrice Minimoto, 10141 River Landing Rd., Denton, Md. 21629, would like a pattern source for a life-sized adult muslin doll.

QUESTION — Mrs. Raymond Schlabach, 7433 Garrett Hwy. Oakland. Md. 21550, wants a Singer Buttonholer #160506, which makes oval buttonholes, for an old black treadle sewing machine.

QUESTION — Naomi Becker of Paxinos, Pa., is wondering if anyone knows if there is a book on making party favors for all occasions or if any readers have good ideas.

QUESTION — J. Johnson, Herndon, would like to know where to purchase cassette tapes that teach the Pennsylvania Dutch dialect.

QUESTION — Jacob Ebersol, Elizabethville, would like information on the history of Rocoma Farms, in Leola. Was it a private dairy farm or only a milk bottling company? When did it start and go out of business?

QUESTION — Ruth Peters, Danboro, is looking for a source for support stockings (not pantyhose) that are approximately 30% spandex and 70% nylon. For many years, she used National Wholesale Co. of Lexington, N.C., but they no longer sell that style.

QUESTION — S. Miller from Hagerstown, Md., would like to know where to purchase horseradish root.

QUESTION — Dorothy Gordner, Jersey Shore, would like directions for making milk strainer disc dolls, which were popular in the 1950s.

QUESTION — Helen Werner, Reinholds, wants to know where to buy a new 12- to 20-inch carousel that plays merry-go-round music. She also is looking for a book on cast-iron implement seats.

QUESTION — Mark Stancill, Bel Air, Md., wants to know where to purchase or have made a set of handles and hardware for an old cross cut saw.

QUESTION — H. Donald Brior, Rock Glen, wants to know where he can purchase a wooden sauerkraut stomper complete with handles, which is used to make sauerkraut in crocks.

QUESTION - C. Martin is looking to buy Mary Holmes' books in fair condition and at a reasonable price.

QUESTION — Evan Weidman, Westfield, has an old milk jar with raised lettering that says One quart liquid/Jane's Creamery. On the back is written Cream Top, Pat. March 3 '25. Weidman wants information on the Creamery and the years it was in operation.

QUESTION — Mabel Burkholder, Fleetwood, would like to know where to purchase American Limoges, fine porcelain from the Salem Heritage Collection, Bridal Bouquet china plates, the design is in blue and gray. She also wants a set for 4-12 of Glamour by The American Limoges China Co. made in USA Briar Rose GNL, which has a picture of wild roses in rose and green.

QUESTION — Salome Fisher, Lancaster, would like to know how to make baskets out of telephone books.

QUESTION — Sue Baughman, Gordonville, would like a source to buy British oil, which previously sold in drug stores. It contains kerosene, turpentine, linseed oil, and coal tar. The Baughmans use the British oil in an old family recipe for salve.

QUESTION — Harold Kuchler, Coatesville, needs to replace a Proctor-Silex 2-quart ice cream freezer bucket, preferably stainless steel. Where can he find one?

QUESTION — Lynn Joshua, Lititz, wants to buy "Wildflowers and Stories Behind the Names," by Phyllis Busch and "Sugar From Farm to Market," by Winifred Hammond.

ANSWER — Bruce N. Carpenter of Winchester, Va., wanted attachments, specificately a snowblower attachment, for a Roto-Hoe 4 Seasons garden tractor. Blaine Bowser Sr. of Grantsville, Md. writes that he has attachments. Phone him at (301) 245-4301.

ANSWER — Blaine Bowser of Grantsville, Md., has information for the person who wanted to make salve. Contact him at (301) 245-4301.

ANSWER — To S. Miller of Hagerstown, Md., who wanted to know how to determine male from female pearl guinea hens, Paula Barber, White Lake, N.Y., writes that as with all guinea fowl, the hens will only say, "Buck Wheat." She writes that you can get the pearl guinea hens to answer you if you repeat "Buck Wheat" rapidly several times. The male will make a fast raspy-crackling sound that can be heard miles away.

ANSWER — Sophie Benedict, Friendsville, Md., wanted to know how to clean club aluminum. Thanks to Frances Homa, Alpha, N.J., who wrote that dark stains on aluminum are caused by minerals in foods and water. It can be removed by boiling water to which vinegar has been added.

ANSWER — To whiten nylon, a Lancaster subscriber suggests using RIT or another brand name of fabric whitener and brightener or color remover, which is available in stores that sell dyes for tinting and dyeing fabrics.

ANSWER — For Harold Kuehler, Coatsville, who wrote of problems with his fireplace, Harry Salotti writes that the symptoms indicate a serious problem. The cause of the smoke could be a cracked flue, a leak in the smoke chamber or in the fire box. If smoke is getting through so can heat and flame such as a chimney fire. He strongly recommends calling in a professional chimney person. Salotti is a retired construction official and would be happy to discuss the problem. Call him at (908) 362-8394.

ANSWER — For the person who wanted cow horns, write to Esther Smoker, Holtwood, PA.

ANSWER — C. Stadier is trying to locate handles for Chefs Ware stainless steel by Townecraft. Esther Smoker, Holtwood, writes that the address is Townecraft, 31-33 Omaha St., Dumont, NJ 07628.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — Evelyn Shafer, Perkiomenville, wanted a recipe for red beet jelly. Thanks to Frances Homa, Alpha, N.J.; Mrs. Isaac Kirk Sr., Silver Spring, Md.; and many others for sending recipes.

Red Beet Jelly

3 cups red beet juice
4 cups sugar
1 large package raspberry-flavored gelatin
1 package Sure-Jell fruit pectin

Combine red beet juice, gelatin, and Sure-Jel in a kettle. Bring to a boil, add the sugar and boil again. Put mixture into jars and seal. Makes 3 pints.

Beet Juice Raspberry Jelly

6 cups beet juice
2 packages Sure Jell fruit pectin
½ cup lemon juice
8 cups sugar
2 (3-ounce) packages rasberry Jell-O

Mix together first three ingredients and bring to a boil. Add remaining ingredients and boil together for 10 minutes. Put into jars and seal.

ANSWER — Ardelle Landis wanted a recipe for peanut butter melt-a-way candy. Thanks to Mary Davis, Ebensburg, and others for sending a recipe.

Peanut Butter Candy

½ pound butter, softened
1½ pounds confectioners' sugar
1 cup peanut butter
7 ounces marshmallow cream
1 tablespoon vanilla
Chocolate for coating

Beat together butter and ½ pound sugar until light and fluffy. Add peanut butter, marshmallow cream, and vanilla. Mix in remaining sugar. Chill thoroughly. Make candy in size and shape desired. Place on parchment paper. Chill one hour or longer. Coat with chocolate.

New reasons to own North America's most popular balers

- Over the last decade, farmers have chosen John Deere balers more often than any other make. Now, there are seven new models that make 750- to 2,200-pound bales. One model is designed specifically for silage.
- New monitor options let you control nearly all baling functions from the tractor cab.
- New pickup options pack even more hay into the variable-belt chamber.
- Exclusive 7-inch-wide diamond-tread belts reduce chafing and improve bale formation
- New tying systems (including twin electric twine arms) reduce tying time.
- New lockback PTO collar rotates as much as 60 degrees for easier hookup.
- See why more and more farmers choose John Deere balers...visit your John Deere dealer's store, today.

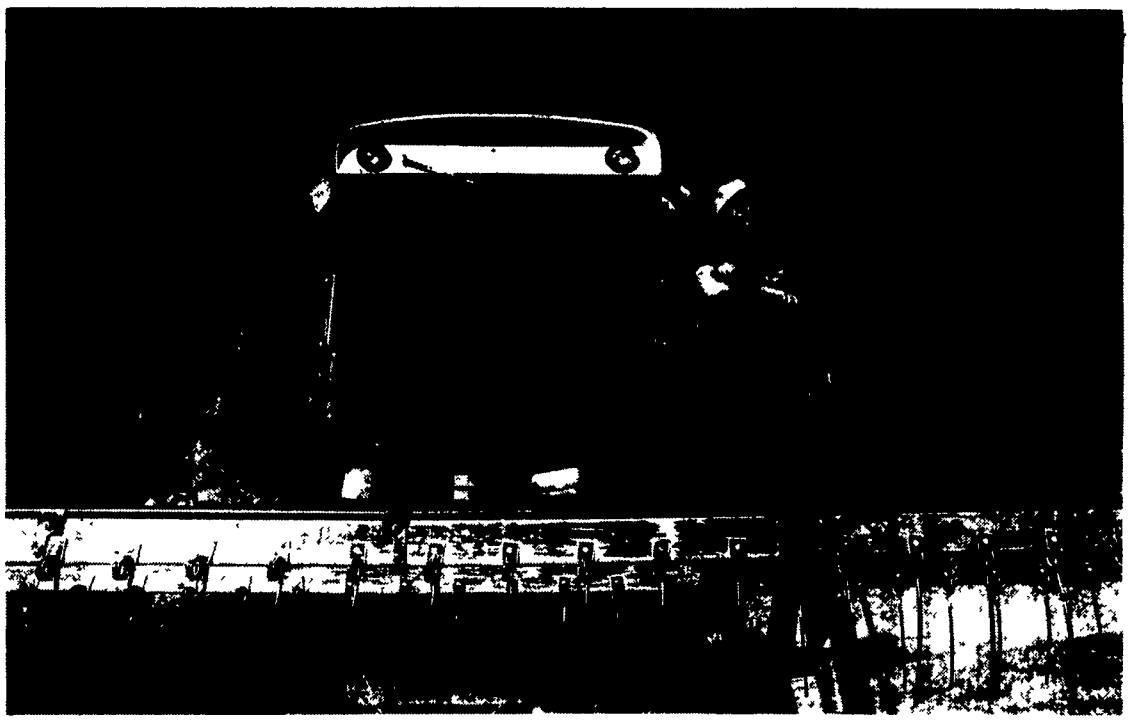
Pennsylvania Farmers...and Old Guard Insurance.



Farming is not your job. Farming is your way of life.

Your Pennsylvania farm is worth protecting. That's why many of this state's top independent insurance agents are proud to offer farmowner's insurance protection through the Old Guard Insurance Group, the state's leading insurer of farms like yours.

The insurance professionals at Old Guard understand your special needs. For nearly a century, Old Guard has dedicated itself to protecting the farms of Pennsylvania, Maryland and Delaware.

Are you uncertain your present farmowner's policy gives you the quality features and coverages you deserve? Are you concerned about the level of professional service you receive from your insurance agent? If yes, call Old Guard at 1-800-732-0050 for the name of the agent in your hometown.

Your friends at Old Guard speak your language. Their agents are part of your community. They want to help protect the way of life you have worked so hard to create...the way of life of a Pennsylvania farmer.

That's Old Guard Insurance. 1-800-732-0050.

American Farmland Trust Asks Pennsylvanian To Manage Franklin County Farm

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A 43-year-old Pennsylvania dairy farmer characterized as one of the state's leaders and pioneers in dairy grazing has been selected by American Farmland Trust (AFT) to runs its Cove Mountain Farm near Mercersburg as a nationwide model of low-cost, environmentally sound agriculture and stewardship.

AFT, a national farmland conservation group, said Glenn Moyer of Friedens, will lease the 250-year-old farm just north of the Mason-Dixon line in the Little Cove Valley of Franklin County. Fulfilling the wishes of the late farmowners, Pittsburgh natives and fervent conservationists Anthony W. and Anya F. Smith, the farm will be used to demonstrate the economic and environmental benefits of grass-based dairy farming.

Grass farms rely on management techniques that maximize home-grown forage and minimize capital investment. AFT and other agricultural experts believe this kind of farming system can help smaller dairy farmers better compete.

"Over the last 11 years, I've maintained an open door policy to anyone with an intereste in grass-based dairying," said Moyer. "I hosted pasture walks, field days and visitors from other states and foreign countries, including Ireland, Scotland, New Zealand, Great Britain and Australia. AFT's plans to convert Cove Mountain Farm to a nationwide model of grass-based dairy fit very closely with my desire to promote the practices as broadly as possible. For me, this truly is a dream come true."

Moyer was raised on a dairy farm in Snyder County. He worked on various dairy farms in Juniata County, until he and his wife Evelyn bought a 101-acre farm in 1975 in Snyder County. Seven years later, they sold that farm, purchasing a 197-acre dairy farm in Somerset County. In 1985, he began the conversion to a grass-based system and is milking 88 cows.

"Glenn is a pioneer and one of the state's leaders in dairy grazing," said Tom Calvert, retired district conservationists and grazing specialists with the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Natural Resources Conservation Service. "He took a run-down row crop farm and converted it to a grass-based dairy with good grazing management."'

The infrastructure to run a grass-based system will be established by Moyer and AFT. Cove Mountain will provide an altnerative to today's conventional dairy farming philosphy of "get big or get out." Pasture-based forages will supply most of the nutritional needs of the farm's milking herd and young stock. Winter feed will be mechanically harvested and stored for later use, but generally forages will be harvested by grazing animals rotated through a series of two- to three-acre paddocks. Such a system will minimize the need for pesticides and fertilizers and virtually eliminate the potential for soil erosion. In addition, because the animals will not be confined to one location, manure will be naturally dispersed, minimizing the problems of nutrient management and animal waste.

Moyer plans to milk up to 90 cows at Cove Mountain starting the spring of 1998, while his two oldest children run the family farm some 70 miles west in Somerset County. Moyer, his wife and youngest child will make their home at Cove Mountain as of the summer of 1997. They will supervise the construction of a state-of-the-art dairy parlor.

"Glenn comes very highly regarded and recommended," said Bryan Petrucci, AFT's director of resources conservation who has been managing the project along with Dennis Bidwell, AFT's director of land protection. "We're happy to have someone of his calibre joining us for this important nationwide demonstration project."

In their wills, the Smiths expressed a strong desire to see their farm used as a "center for ecological operations and studies at which research, educational or demonstration activities are carried out in ecological agriculture, forestry or wildlife management and protection ... with a view to the conservation of soils, water, woods or wildlife." The Smiths purchased the picturesque farm between the Cove and Tuscarora Mountains in 1954. The site had been farmed since the first European settlers arrived in Little Cove Valley in the 1730s. The Warren Ironworks furnace operated on the property from 1828 to 1853, with its alloys used for the C&O Canal aqueducts. Anthony Smith ran a dairy on the property through 1968 when he converted the farm to wheat and hay production.

Cooperative Director Institute Set

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — The 1997 Pennsylvania Cooperative Director Institute will be held at the Penn State Scanticon Conference Center Jan. 28-30.

The institute is designed to give both new and experienced directors of cooperative businesses a chance to learn more about their roles as cooperative leaders. Pennsylvania cooperative directors who have completed a previous institute or who have more than five years experience can enroll.

The theme for the institute is "Developing Strategic Leadership." Topics to be covered include factors in strategic planning, choosing a winning strategy, lessons from the marketplace, maintaining and enhancing shareholder value, legal issues, board dynamics, and board management relations.

Other issues facing cooperative leaders and their organizations will be addressed in more than 15 topic sessions and in informal sessions among participating directors and managers.

Speakers will include Penn State faculty and staff, cooperative staff members, and business leaders. Workshops and breaks will provide opportunities for participants to interact with other directors and managers to share concerns and challenges.

Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture Charles C. Brosius will be a keynote speaker for the institute. As a former cooperative director, he will share insight into the critical decisions cooperative directors must make as they face the future. He also will speak about the vital role cooperatives play in expanding opportunities for Pennsylvania'a producers.

Dr. David Butt, associate professor in the Smeal College of Business Administration at Penn State, will address issues related to board dynamics and board management relations.

Porter Little, vice president and senior portfolio manager of Co-Bank, will conduct business and finance training.

Donald Schriver, executive vice president and CEO of Milk Marketing Inc., will share some of his experiences and discuss issues of strategic leadership and planning in creating opportunities for success.

The Pennsylvania Cooperative Director Institute has graduated 304 directors and 69 management leaders in the past 11 institutes. Forty-four cooperatives in 11 states have enrolled board members in the program.

The Pennsylvania Cooperative Director Institute is supported by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and planned in consultation with an 11-member committee of cooperative leaders.

For more information about the institute, call Dick Poorbaugh at (814) 863-0644, send e-mail to Poorbaugh@po.aers.psu.edu, or write to The Cooperative Business-Education and Research Program, The Pennsylvania State University, 206 Armsby Building, University Park, PA 16802.

Harvest Corn No Matter What Row Spacing

COLUMBUS, Ind. — Claas of America offers the RU 450 row independent converging corn head for its self-propelled forage harvesters. The RU 450 enables corn to be harvested no matter the row spacing or direction harvested and features a working width of 14 feet 9 inches.

The head features three rotating drums which cut and deliver the crop. Double transport discs on each drum capture the corn plants for crop delivery. The mowing disc, located under the transport discs, cuts the crop and then delivers it to the feed augers. The three-symmetrical rotors assure even crop flow to the feed rollers.

The chainless rotor drive system is made up of universal drive shafts and oil bath gearboxes. Drives are protected by low maintenance overload clutches. With fewer moving parts than a conventional corn head, the RU 450 requires less maintenance resulting in higher output.

The new Claas RU 450 row independent converging corn head for self-propelled forage harvesters enables corn to be harvested no matter the row spacing or direction harvested. It features a working width of 14 feet 9 inches.

Case Reaches Milestone With Hay, Forage Products

RACINE, Wis. — Case Corporation recently added another entry to its record book with the production of its 50,000th hay and forage machine at its Hay & Forage Industries, Inc., plant in Hesston, Kan.

"Case is enjoying a successful resurgence in the hay and forage market, thanks to our position as managing partner of Hay and Forage Industries," said Bruce Spidle, Case product and marketing manager for livestock production equipment.

Case began manufacturing hay and forage equipment at HFI in 1987 and today produces nearly 40 different Case IH products there, including small, mid-size and large rectangular balers, self-propelled hay and grain windrowers, mower conditioners (disc and sickle bar), round balers, pull-type forage harvesters, pull-type grain windrowers, and bale processors.

"The ultimate goal in this business is to build quality products farmers, ranchers, and custom operators can rely on to help ensure the success of their operations," said Spidle.

Trojan Introduces Nursery Water Swing

CONRAD, Iowa — The nursery model of the Trojan WaterSwing with PlayGuard is one answer to water conservation in any size nursery operation.

This new product is a smaller model of the standard WaterSwing with PlayGuard that was introduced in June 1996. The difference is the physical size. The width of the PlayGuard has been reduced by one inch to eliminate side biting by nursery pigs, the leading cause of water waste in hog confinement operations.

Additional benefits of the WaterSwing with PlayGuard include reduced wear of panels, 360-degree access to water for all pigs, and ease of height adjustment.

Utility Tractor Good In Close Quarters

ATLANTA, Ga. — "The 67 PTO horsepower MF 283, a reliable, productive utility tractor in use by farmers across North America, now offers greater versatility and improved productivity with four-wheel drive and new high-performance features," said John Sargeant, Massey Ferguson® product marketing manager.

"The MF® 283 can easily handle primary tillage jobs on small and specialty farms, and light tillage, haying, hauling and chores on larger farms," said Sargeant. "It's also a proven performer in hard useage applications by rental firms, construction and grounds maintenance operations, and manufacturing and building companies."

The new four-wheel drive model has a single cast center beam front axle for excellent loading capacity and longer life, even with front loader use. The axle also provides a sharp 55-degree turning angle for tight turns in close quarters.

A parallel drive design places the drive shaft along the left hand side of the engine and chassis to achieve a low overall profile and low center of gravity for stability, and a shortened wheelbase for improved turning.

Four-wheel drive is engaged by the operator on-the-go by simply pushing down on a T handle control located to the left of the seat. No clutching is required, there is no power interruption to the wheels, and productivity and convenience are maintained.

The MF 283 features a Perkins 67 PTO HP four-cylinder, direct-injection diesel engine with a proven record of easy starting, high torque backup, and outstanding fuel economy. Perkins' engines have a unique long-stroke design that develops high torque at low engine rpm. This "torque backup" gives the MF 283 added lugging power to pull through difficult job conditions without having to constantly change gears.

Feed Mixers Provide More Ration Options

Model 3000 three-auger mixers give you more ration options by mixing up to 100 percent dry alfalfa hay (rectangular bales). Select belt discharge or auger discharge. Sizes are 205, 305, and 380 cubic feet. With extensions, sizes are 232, 343, and 428 cubic feet. Choose trailer or stationary models.

Model 9300 four-auger mixers are available in sizes from 190 to 750 cubic feet. The four notched augers mix quickly and efficiently — even rectangular bales of dry alfalfa in limited amounts. Trailer, truck-mounted, and stationary models are available.

Model 9100 tumble mixers use a unique central spiral circulator, which has no bearings and no moving parts to wear out. Double-circulation mixing saves time and mixes better.

Patz offers a comprehensive line of mixers for total mixed rations (TMR) and other feeding programs.

Master Dealers, Distributors Attend Festival

PENN YAN, N.Y. — In recognition of their outstanding job of promoting and selling Seneca brand products, Seneca master dealers and distributors were invited to attend the 11th annual Buckwheat Festival here as guests of Robson Corporation.

The following annual achievement awards were also presented: President's Award for highest sales dollars to Phil Jones of Arkport, N.Y.; Vice President's Award for the second highest yearly sales dollars to John Murphy of Penn Yan, N.Y., and two most improved awards to Paul Platt of Appleton, N.Y. for the largest increase in sales dollars; and Roger Quesnel of Whiting, Vt. for the largest percentage increase in sales dollars.

The day's activities included observation of local field trials, awards, Seneca "hospitality," and dinner at the festival. Guests then attended a performance of Ty England preceded by the entertainment of comedian Royce Elliott sponsored by Seneca Hybrids.

Conference To Examine How Compost, Tillage Reduction Pay Harvest Dividends

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Healthy soil — the foundation of farming and food systems — and dynamic approaches to land management will be major topics of this year's "Farming For the Future" Conference, Feb. 7 here at the Nittany Lion Inn.

The conference includes dozens of talks by successful farmers and other agriculture professionals, a trade exhibit of sustainable products and services, and ample time for networking with participants.

"The paradigm for the end of the century will be soil quality and its protection — one of the most important themes in agriculture," said Will Brinton, founder of Woods End Research Laboratory in Maine. President of the internationally known soil- and compost-consulting service, and a native Pennsylvanian, Brinton will describe "minimum tillage" composting in one of his conference presentations.

"Low-tech, on-farm approaches that utilize less maneuvering of compost can be more economical while improving the texture of compost," Brinton said.

Brinton also will address the use of compost for disease suppression in crops, an important focus of Woods End research.

"We'll talk about some of our field studies to use compost extracts as a spray for field crops, efforts to create a bioassay to predict the potential for disease suppression in any compost, and review the work going on in this area."

Vegetable and dairy sheep farmers Uta and Angelika Luebke of Austria will describe how controlled microbial composting ensures top-notch, biologically active compost through adequate turning of materials, careful monitoring and appropriate curing periods. The Luebkes also emphasize nitrogen-fixing cover crops, effective rotations, and reduced tillage for dynamic soil building. "Luebke methods pay significant soil-health dividends, which can reward you with more consistent, healthier harvests," said Luebke associate George Leidig of Autrusa Compost Consulting, Blue Bell.

Narrow-row corn production and transplanting no-till vegetables into cover crops are two cost-conserving, soil-saving systems that farmer Steve Groff is fine-tuning at the Cedar Meadow Farm in Holtwood. "With an average soil loss in Lancaster County of nine tons per acre per year, you begin to realize the importance of keeping our valuable soil resource in place," said Groff, who will lead two conference presentations.

In 1996 on-farm research, Groff saw better grain yields and fewer weeds in "ultra-narrow" 15-inch row corn, compared with 30-inch rows. The method could reduce herbicide costs in corn silage and grain while reducing soil erosion, he said.

Groff successfully no tills tomatoes, pumpkins, sweet corn, peppers, and fall broccoli into killed cover crops using a Holland transplanter customized by vegetable crops specialist Dr. Ron Morse of Virginia Polytechnic Institute. "We have some hard results that prove the value of no-till transplanting," said Groff. He likes how the combination of cover crops and no tilling cuts erosion, improves soil tilth, increases organic matter levels, enhances water infiltration, provides nitrogen and lessens pest problems.

Many other resource-enhancing presentations are scheduled for the conference, including:

- Forming partnerships to save farmland (and communities)
- Grazing management and marketing strategies
- Managing organic matter to improve soil health
- Regional heirloom and hybrid seed sources
- New approaches to starting producer co-ops
- Starting a farm improvement club: farmers helping farmers
- Marketing pastured poultry
- Adding value with on-farm processing
- Extending the vegetable production season.

To find out more or to request conference registration matterials, contact PASA, P.O. Box 419, Millheim, PA 16854, (814) 349-9856.

High Oil Corn Enhances Livestock Feed Value

GOLDEN VALLEY, Minn. — Narrow profit margins combined with feed price instability have many livestock producers searching for new ways to get more from every corn kernel fed, reported Fran Marier, Northrup King Co. agronomist.

Increasingly, these producers are turning to corn with higher oil content to reduce feed costs and improve livestock efficiency.

Marier explains that most high oil corn averages 6-to-7.5 percent oil, compared to 3.5-to-4 percent for regular dent corn. Since oil contains 2.25 times the energy of starch, high oil corn contains significantly more energy, allowing livestock producers to optimize feed rations without the expense of added fat.

Larger corn embryos, which are responsible for the increase in oil, also contain higher levels of lysine and tryptophane amino acids. Marier says that this combination of higher energy levels and enhanced amino acid balance can improve performance of swine, poultry and dairy or beef cattle.

High oil corn is produced by planting a blend of a high-yielding male-sterile hybrid with a special high-oil pollinator line. Since stray pollen from nearby normal corn yields can reduce oil content of grain produced in the outer 30 rows, high oil corn should be planted in larger fields to maximize purity. In addition, growers should increase plant population by 2,000 plants per acre to compensate for pollinator plants which produce small or no ears.

To determine if high oil corn will deliver economic advantages for their farming operation, Marier advises producers to work with their local seed dealer and livestock nutritionist, or contact a Northrup King agronomist.

Hard Work, Preparation Contribute To Farm Show Beef Success

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — A half hour may be a lot of time to groom a beef heifer for a championship. But when it's for the state Farm Show, it's time well spent.

Curt Stockdale, Dayton, spent more time than that preparing his April junior yearling heifer for the show ring, and walked away on Monday afternoon with the Farm Show supreme champion heifer banner.

Curt, 19, son of Dennis and JoEllen Stockdale, is a freshman at Kansas State University studying animal science and industry. Curt attributes his success to working the animal up for "prime time" — spending hours in the chute cutting, brushing, and grooming for show.

It also helps to have a champion animal. The heifer won its class at the Angus Junior National Show in Kansas City, was reserve calf champion at Atlantic National, won its class last year at Farm Show as a "baby," said Stockdale, and was supreme champion heifer at last year's Pennsylvania Beef Expo.

The Limousin bull won supreme champion bull honors on Monday afternoon. The late 2-year-old bull was exhibited by Maple Lane Farm, Enon Valley.

The Farm Show selects a supreme heifer and bull from five breeds.

In other breeds, Limousin grand champions were swept by Maple Lane Farm, Enon Valley. The grand champion heifer went to Maple Lane for their late junior yearling heifer. The reserve also was awarded to Maple Lane Farm. Grand champion Limousin bull went to a late 2-year-old bull also shown by Maple Lane. Reserve also went to Maple Lane.

Grand champion Polled Hereford heifer went to Frank Granberry III, Zelenople, for his early summer yearling heifer. Reserve champion Polled Hereford heifer went to Salunga Acres, Mount Joy, for a junior heifer calf. Grand champion Polled Hereford bull was a 2-year-old exhibited by Don Hennon, Mercer. Reserve was an early summer yearling bull exhibited by Solid Stone Farm, Littlestown.

At the Charolais show the previous day, champion heifer was shown by Dunkard Valley Farms/ J. Myers, Dallastown. They also won reserve champion female. There were no Charolais bull entries.

At the end of the Polled Hereford show on Monday at the Farm Show, the winner of a special raffle to raise funds for the Pa. Junior Polled Hereford Association was announced. Les Middleton, Mt. Vernon, Ohio, was the winner of the lamp, decorated by Dottie Metzler of Salunga Acres, Mount Joy. The raffle raised $650 to help defray costs of the trip to the national show, to be held in July in Fort Worth, Texas.

Ned Sayre, Churchville, Md. judgd the Polled Hereford, Charolais, and Simmental Shows. Angus and Limousin cattle were judged by Dr. Doug Parrett, Urbana, Ill.

CHARACTERISTICS OF PENNSYLVANIA EGG FARMS

Paul H. Patterson
Assistant Professor
Department Of Poultry Science

In his thesis research at Penn State University, Eric Lorenz (who is also a research aide in the Poultry Science Dept.) has sought to profile the primary production unit of the egg industry in Pennsylvania. While the egg industry nationwide has become more sophisticated and consolidated, there is a need to be aware of what the average farm is comprised of, and what makes it run efficiently. With accurate composition information, changes and modificiations can be made more easily when future challenges are presented.

More than three hundred egg producers in 22 Pennsylvania counties were surveyed during the spring and summer of 1996. Results were summarized into the characteristics of the farm, a profile of the farm manager and the current management practices.

Farm

A typical egg farm in Pennsylvania houses an average of 110,517 hens in 1.7 houses (approximately 65,000 hens per house). Most producers carrying out some other type of agricultural enterprise at the same location (58.1 percent). The most common additional enterprise are crops, 32.6 percent, dairy + dairy and crops 22.4 percent, or beef cattle + beef and crops 20.4 percent. The number of acres associated with a Pennsylvania egg farm ranged from 3 to 2,000 with an average of 128.8 acres per farm.

Among Pennsylvania hen houses, 89 percent are high-rise while 2.5 percent have shallow pit's and another 3.1 percent housed hens on the floor with litter. Ventilation was primarily accomplished with side wall inlets (90.1 percent, another 8.6 percent have inlets located above the cage rows, turbo style) and 1.2 percent have curtain sides. Manure handling included cages with curtain backs (42.8 percent), dropping boards (42.2), manure belts (8.8) or full stair-step cages (6.1). Watering systems included nipple drinkers (77.8 percent) and cups (21 percent).

Farm Manager

The average age of the respondents was 48.4 years old with 20.2 years of experience in the egg industry. The majority (43.2 percent) had completed their high school degree, while another 20.4 percent had completed further technical or collegiate training. Most (61.9 percent) were sole proprietors of their egg farms, 22.7 percent were held as family corporations and another 13.4 percent as partnerships. The number of contract producers (55.1 percent) was slightly greater than the number of independent producers (44.9 percent).

Management Practices

The majority of Pennsylvania producers are marketing their eggs to the consumer as shell eggs (65.2 percent) with 13.0 percent being dedicated to the breaker and another 15.2 percent are sending eggs to both markets. Most producers surveyed are producing white eggs (87.8 percent) with 7.1 percent producing brown and 5.1 percent producing both white and brown eggs. From the survey results, the top five strains utilized by Pennsylvania producers include the Hyline W-36 (27.5 percent), DeKalb Delta (20.1 percent), H&N nick chick (14.8 percent), DeKalb XL (8.0 percent), and Shaver White (7.4 percent). The percentages do not reflect the actual number of hens, but rather the strains chosen for a flock or hen house.

While the amount of labor spent caring for the hens varied considerably (0.1-4.0 hr.) among the different farms, the average time spent per 1,000 layers was 1.16 hours. Another way of saying this is one individual might care for 33,613 hens in a normal 40 hour week. If the average farm is 110,000 hens it would required 3.3 workers per farm.

There are many other interesting findings from Eric's thesis work that will no doubt be analyzed in the coming semester. His hope is to utilize this information to help better prepare Pennsylvania producers for the coming changes and challenges the egg industry will no doubt face in the future.

Where trade names appear, no discrimination is intended, and no endorsement by Penn State Cooperative Extension is implied.

Fruit, Vegetable Growers To Meet In Hershey

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — Fruit and vegetable growers from throughout Pennsylvania will be gathering at the Hershey Lodge and Convention Center for the 138th Annual Meeting of the State Horticultural Association of Pennsylvania and the 1997 Vegetable Conference and Trade Show, Jan. 28-30.

The State Horticultural Societies of Maryland and New Jersey also meet in conjunction with their fellow fruit growers from Pennsylvania. In all, more than 1,500 are expected to attend the three-day event.

About 120 exhibitors will display the latest in equipment, supplies, pesticides, and varieties for fruit and vegetable growers at the trade show. These commercial exhibits will be open all three days during the educational sessions and during the lunch hour to allow growers to meet with the sales representatives.

During the conference growers, industry specialists, and university researchers will conduct seminars on all phases of the tree fruit, small fruit and vegetable industries. More than 30 pesticide applicator updaate training credits are available to growers attending the sessions.

The sponsoring organizations will be holding their annual business meetings during the event and will combine for a joint buffet and evening social on the opening night. The fruit growers auxiliary groups have scheduled activities during the day for spouses not interested in attending the regular sessions.

The annual George Goodling Memorial Lecture by Dr. Donald Ricks of Michigan State University will highlight the opening day of the fruit sessions. He will speak on "The Use of Consumer Market Research for Apple Industry Planning." Other fruit session speakers will cover new sprayer technologies, building the export market, various aspects of peach culture, and orchard disease, weed, and insect control.

The vegetable program this year will feature full-day sessions on marketing as well as pumpkins and vine crops. Sessions on processing vegetables, general vegetables, bedding plants, and small fruits will also be offered. A special session on the "Basics of Vegetable Production," designed for new growers, will be held the first day.

Small fruit topics will be featured in the afternoon sessions on Jan. 29-30. Strawberry plasticulture, mechanical blueberry harvesting, pick-your-own marketing, blueberry culture pest management, and crown gall in raspberries and grapes will be covered. A special joint session on the morning of Jan. 30 will cover topics on soil management and pest resistance.

For more information on the fruit program and registration, contact Maureen Irvin, State Horticultural Association of Pennsylvania, 697 Mountain Rd., Orrtanna, PA 17353, (717) 677-4184.

For more information on the vegetable program and registration, contact William Troxell, Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers Association, RR 1, Box 392, Northumberland, PA 17857-9723, (717) 473-8468.

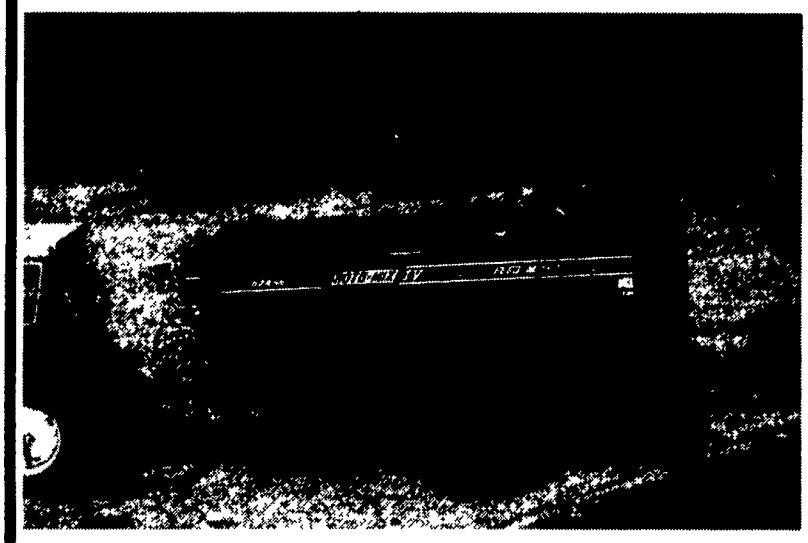
ROTO-MIX FEED MIXERS



The ROTO-MIX professionals know that quality feed means increased consumption, therefore, higher production levels. With ROTO-MIX IV you reduce fines, minimize shrinkage, and eliminate dead spots The gentle tumbling action mixes fragile flaked and high-moisture ingredients without grinding, resulting in a fluffier, more nutritional ration. Nothing robs a ration of nutritional value more than fines. Conventional auger mixers use pressure to move the feed through the mixing chamber, thus crushing the feed and creating fines. But the ROTO-MIX patented mixing system uses a rotor to gently lift the feed past the wedging point of the lower side auger, keeping fines to a minimum and reducing nutritional loss. Even the most nutritious ration is effective only if the cattle eat the complete ration. Improperly mixed feed allows the cattle to "nose out" what they don't want, disrupting the balance of nutrients. But the ROTO-MIX end-to-end... side-to-side mixing system provides the most thorough TMR available, ensuring that your cattle will consume a balanced ration of nutrients in every pound of feed they eat.

Check all the ROTO-MIX advantages... the bottom line is what counts.

ALFRED

The new Automatic Forage Distributor

Airablo is proud to present "Alfred", the new automatic forage distributor

Whether it's silage, square or round bales, "Alfred" services directly to the animals without any effort on your part

Operating on a rail placed in front of the animals, the distributor moves along at a slow pace, permitting the cows to eat directly from the round bale, basket or hopper as it passes before them.

This system of feeding has several important advantages
- It assures a constant, fresh supply of forage in front of the cow
- Less waste
- Repeated small feedings stimulate a cow's overall consumption
- Better assimilation of feed
- Completely eliminates manipulation of forage in front of the cow

Whether it's a hay basket or a silage hopper attached to a round bale feeder, "Alfred" allows you to distribute two types of forage at the same time with one control panel and one carriage system

An electric rail feeds the system and can work 24 hours a day if desired CSA and UL certified, this system eliminates the use of batteries and assures low maintenance costs

Only Airablo feeders allow the complete forage feeding system with a minimum of maintenance and mechanical upkeep, thanks to Airablo's dedication to innovation.

Punctual and trustworthy, "Alfred" is cost effective and built to save you time and effort.

THINK CONCRETE WHEN PLANNING YOUR FEED STORAGE!!

"This is the kind of silo you need to protect your valuable feed."

"HOW WILL YOU BE STORING YOUR VALUABLE FORAGES AND GRAINS IN THE 21st CENTURY?"

It's not too early to begin planning your storage and feeding systems for the year 2000 and beyond.

As margins narrow, dairymen need to invest in efficiency; this can have as great an influence on PROFIT as milk price changes.

Protect your valuable feeds from the elements... increase the efficiency of your feeds, your animals, and your labor.

"IF YOU NEED A SILO...
YOU NEED TO CALL BOB FRANCIS...
There will be a modest price increase effective January 1, And besides our schedule is already filling in. Don't wait too late and be disappointed.

INTRODUCING...

SWEETCAKE 16NU

FEED SUPPLEMENT BLOCKS FOR THE LIVESTOCK INDUSTRY

• High Natural Protein • No Urea • Fat Enhanced
• Balanced Supplementation • Safe For All Livestock Classes

Sweetcake Advantages

- Aids in making the best use of your available forage
- Promotes a more even herd consumption, with 24-hour availability to all cattle
- Reduces labor to save you money and give you more time to make important management decisions
- Supplies much-needed vitamins and minerals that forage lacks to help your cattle perform to their genetic potential
- Supplies fat in most formulations to enhance energy intake

For Dairy

- Replacement heifers that grow out soundly and economically
- Body condition on dry cows so they can return to lactation, producing at the maximum potential
- Healthier herds, with essential trace minerals that help prevent metritis, retained placenta and other health problems
- Prompt re-breeding, thanks to essential nutrients

For Beef

- Stronger, healthier calves at birth
- Heavier Calves at weaning
- Cows that cycle better for improved conception rates
- Cows that milk better to raise a better calf

- AVAILABLE IN 200 LB. SIZE -

MADDY NUTRITION

What have you heard?

Here's what we hear from our customers that have been willing to close their ears to the competition and open their eyes to our results:

DE of Quarryville: "My cows have never been this healthy and looked this good."

RH of Fredericksburg: "Maddy Nutrition saved my farm. What they saved me in my feed bill pulled me through."

BBS of Narvon: "I've jumped 8 lbs. of milk when I went on Maddy."

Close your ears to the competition and open yourself to savings and results of common sense nutrition and God's blessing

IN ALUMINUM BODIES
EBY BUILDS IT

M.H. Eby custom-builds aluminum truck bodies for the agri-transportation market Nobody offers more sizes and options in:

- FLATBED BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of 5 widths.
- GRAIN BODIES - Lengths to 24', landscape and general purpose dumps to 12'.
- LANDSCAPE BODIES - Lengths to 12', We'll build to your specs!

Let EBY custom build one for you.

For greater payload capacity, Eby's aluminum design is equal in strength to steel and up to 40% lighter Our corrosion-resistant components never need painting. That means minimum maintenance, improved appearance and higher resale value.

Eby products have superior standard features. And we offer customer options for virtually any application. Agriculture is your business - building bodies to haul it is ours.

Wagner Shows Supreme Meat Ram, Fought Has Best Ewe

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

After becoming the champion Dorset ram and winning the overall champion ram honors of the 1997 Pennsylvania Farm Show, the fall ram lamb, shown by Lee and Louise Wagner, Easton, in Northampton County, was named the supreme champion in the meat breeds by Judge Bud Martin.

The contending entry, was the champion Hampshire late spring ewe shown by Josette Fought, Carlisle, in Cumberland County, that was the champion ewe of the show.

In the Dorset show, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Herr, Narvon, in Lancaster County had the reserve champion ram, and Mike and Wendy Vanwagner, Dauphin, had both the champion and reserve champion ewes.

The Herrs also captured both the premier breeder and premier exhibitor awards.

In the Hampshire, Josette Fought also had the champion ram and won both the premier breeder and premier exhibitor awards. Tim and Sarah Fleener, Robesonia, Lebanon County had both the reserve champion ram and the reserve champion ewe.

In the Oxford division, Mike Koehler, Schnecksville, Lehigh County, had the champion ram, the champion and reserve champion ewe and had both the premier breeder and premier exhibitor awards. Erin Harpster Boalsburg, Centre County had the reserve champion ram.

In the Southdown division, Steve Kwisnek, Clarksburg, Indiana County, had the champion ram, the champion and reserve champion ewe, and the premier breeder and premier exhibitor awards. Jennifer Flinchbaugh, York, had the reserve champion ram.

In the Suffolk show, Lyn Lee Farms, State College, in Centre County, had the champion ram and was named the premier breeder and premier exhibitor of the show. William and Elizabeth MacCauley, Atglen, Chester County, had the reserve champion ram and the champion ewe. Breezeview Farm, Atglen, Chester County had the reserve champion ewe.

In the Cheviot division, John Eaton, Windsor, York County, had the champion ram. Erdenheim Farm, Lafayette Hall, Montgomery County, had the reserve champion ram, the champion and reserve champion ewe, and the premier breeder and premier exhibitor awards.

In the Shropshire division, Wey Shropshires, Mertztown, Berks County, had the champion ram, the reserve champion ewe, and the premier breeder and premier exhibitor awards. Jessica McMurtrie, Pleasant Gap, Centre County, had the reserve champion ram, and the champion ewe.

Last Opportunity For Dairy Refunds

NORTH CORNWALL (Lebanon Co.) — Applications are being accepted by local office of the U.S. Department of Agriculture Farm Service Agencies for the 1996 Dairy Refund Payment Program, according to a news release from the Lebanon FSA.

All local FSAs send out notices of program dates, deadlines and specifications, as they are distributed by the USDA down channels to the local level. While this information was made available here first by the Lebanon FSA office, it applies statewide.

The program, for which refunds no longer will be made after this one, is one that was designed to curb growth in milk production and help pay off national debt — all dairy producers were assessed a deduction from their milk checks during the year with funds going into the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) which was to use the funds to purchase excess dairy supplies from the open market, in order to stabilize prices; those who produced less milk than the previous year received a refund, while those who expanded paid for price stabilization.

During the several years that the program was in effect (it was ended with the 1996 Farm Bill), the assessments increased according to the level of refunds made.

According to the news release, refunds can be made only if acceptable documentation is provided the FSA.

The acceptable documentation includes payment receipts or statements from milk handlers that show:

- The name and address of the producer, which may include any documentation from other producers marketing milk on the dairy operation as a joint operation, partnership or corporation.
- The pounds of milk marketed for commercial use during the refund period (1996) and the base period (1995) by month. (Less milk has to have been produced in 1996 compared ot 1995 to be eligible.)
- The amount of assessment deducted for CCC during the refund period.
- The name and address of the milk handler.

The refund payment amount will be the assessment withheld from the producer's proceeds from Jan. 1 through April 30, 1996. This will be the last refund payment issued under the Dairy Producer Refund Program.

In addition to the milk marketings for all producers on the dairy operation, month-by-month milk marketings for the required base and refund periods must be submitted for all realted persons.

If the total milk marketings during the refund period for the producer and all related persons exceed the milk marketings for the base period, the producer or producers requesting a refund payment are inelligible.

Those considered to be related persons of the producer, for the purpose of calculating refund payment eligibility are:

- The spouse and minor children of the person making the claim.
- The guardian or parent of a minor child making the claim.
- Any partnership, joint venture, joint operation, or other enterprise in which the person has an ownership interest or financial interest.
- Any estate or any trust in which the person seeking the refund is a beneficiary or has a financial interest.

Making fals statements regarding related persons is a type of violation in which a civil penalty may apply.

Other violations in which a civil penalty may apply include altering dates or data on milk marketing receipts; making false statements on government form CCC-140 for refund payment or other document; and providing false information to obtain a refund payment for which the applicant is not entitled.

A Return To The Farm Show For The Charles, And A First-Time Swine Championship For Philip

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — When Lancaster Farming interviewed the Charles family in the Jan. 4 issue of the newspaper, Crystal Charles thought the family had a "decent shot" at placing high at this year's Farm Show.

She got her wish — her brother Philip, 11, son of Cliff and Nancy Charles who live southwest of Lancaster, won supreme champion swine on Tuesday afternoon at the Farm Show's Junior Swine Show.

Philip's hog, a 257-pound York/Large White/Pietrain crossbred gilt and the heavyweight division winner, beat out 388 other hogs from around the state to claim the supreme title. The contest included eight purebred divisions.

It's been a banner year for Philip, to put it mildly. Philip, who is home-schooled, won grand champion hog at the West Lampeter Community Fair in the fall. He's placed high in many showmanship competitions, which he said he enjoys when he's not helping out on the family's 250-sow farrow-to-finish farm.

For the family, including Crystal, 17, Eric, 15, and Philip, this was the grand finale and a fitting return from their one-year absence at the Farm Show, a first-time hog championship.

Swine judge Lauren Christian, professor of animal science at Iowa State University, praised the hog from the beginning: when it won the heavyweight class, it appeared "excellent in terms of body design — a long-bodied, big-framed animal." When it won the crossbred division, Christian said the hog was "extremely long and really free" and exhibited "leanness and youthfulness . . . it puts it all together in one package."

Christian said the youth who exhibit in the junior show benefit from the competition, which teaches them to raise and care for the animals and gives them exposure to the "biology that's involved," he said, in raising swine.

Philip said he intends to "put the money in the bank" from the sale of the hog for "future use."

Christian commented on the reserve champion, a 259-pound Duroc crossbred gilt, heavyweight division reserve champion, that exhibited "correctness of design through the ham region." The reserve swine championship was shown by George Billig, 11, son of Tim and Teresa Billig, New Tripoli.

George, who also won for the first time ever at Farm show, is in the fifth grade at Northwestern Lehigh. He's shown a few first place hogs at the Allentown, Reading, and Kutztown fairs. The hog is a Duroc/Hampshire crossbred gilt.

Like Philip Charles, the supreme champion hog exhibitor, George said he will put the money from the sale of the hog "in the bank."

There was a total of 389 swine exhibited at the show. Following is a list of show placings.

According to the governor, Pennsylvania exports increased from $453 million to $513 million from 1994 to 1995. That's a 13 percent increase. In addition, the state lies within reach of 40 percent of the population and purchasing power in the U.S. as well.

The annual agribusiness awards were presented at the dinner. Pick Rite, Inc., of Lewisburg, and Utz Quality Foods, Inc. of Hanover were the selected winners. Each year the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture recognizes two companies which have made a significant contribution to the development and expansion of agribusiness in Pennsylvania.

Pick Rite, a designer and manufacturer of innovative vegetable harvesting equipment, dominates the new tomato harvester sales market in the Midwest, and eastern part of North America, as well as Ontario, Canada. Their harvesters are also exported to Mexico, Australia and Canada.

Born in a small welding shop in 1983 to meet the needs of a local farmer, Pick Rite, Inc., is still privately held by the same two families. Elvin Stoltrzfus, a farmer, is president, and Joseph Yoder, a welder, is the vice president. The firm now employs 47 people. They won the small company category.

Utz Quality Foods, Inc., was recognized in the large company category. A manufacturer and distributor of potato chips, pretzels, corn and tortilla chips, and popcorn, Utz was founded by Sallie and Bill Utz. They began making and selling Hanover Home Brand potato chips in a small summer house with hand-operated equipment. Sallie made about 50 pounds of chips per hour, and Bill delivered the chips to local stores and farmers' markets in the Hanover area. Demand for the chips grew rapidly.

The 1970's saw major growth in Utzes with production expanded to 7,000 pounds per hour, and distribution expanded into Delaware, Virginia, and West Virginia.

Utz now produces over 12,000 pounds of potato chips per hour, operates three manufacturing facilities and five distribution centers in Pennsylvania, and has over 950 employees.

In 1996 Utz celebrated its 75th anniversary, and every one of those years, sales volume has always exceeded the previous year.

In a new contest, Presque Isle Wine cellars in North East, Erie County, was named the winner of the first commercial wine competition ever held at the Pennsylvania Farm Show. Their 1995 Late Harvest Vignoles was selected as the best of show and gold medal winner from amoung 88 entries submitted by 13 wineries. They also received the Governor's Cup, two silver awards and three bronze awards.

Presque Isle was among the state's first two limited wineries established in 1969 and now produces about 5,000 gallons of wine annually. The firm is owned by Douglas Moorhead, Marlene Moorhead, and Marc Boettcher. The grapes for the winning wine were grown by Thomas Obourn, associate extension agent in Erie County.

Other gold medalists in the new Farm Show competition included Blue Mountain Vineyards, New Tripoli, Lehigh County; Calvaresi Winery, Bernville, Berks County; Nissley Vineyards and Winery Estate, Bainbridge, Lancaster County; and Mount Nittany Vineyard & Winery, Centre Hall, Centre County.

The annual Farm-City awards previously were announced later in the week at the Farm Show. But this year they were announced at the Farm Show dinner. Gov. Ridge and State Ag Secretary Charles Brosius presented the awards to representatives from Franklin, Mifflin, and Tioga County committees for conducting successful programs during the year.

"Farm-City activities present a unique opportunity to increase public awareness of the tremendous contributions made by Pennsylvania's food and fiber industries and the challenges encountered while meeting the world's increasing needs for agricultural products," Brosius said.

"Urban and rural residents need to work together to ensure a better quality of life for future generations. Farm acreage continues to decline in Pennsylvania, but our 50,000 farm families still produce an abundance of high quality, affordable food and fiber for our neighbors here and abroad.

"Without our farms and farm families, city and urban families would have no food, and without businesses from our cities and towns, farmers would not have markets and processing facilities for their products."

At a private presentation event prior to the dinner, representatives from the various commodities groups visited with Gov. and Mrs. Ridge and gave samples of

Record For Food Court Sales At Farm Show

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Commodity groups sponsoring food stands at the Pennsylvania Farm Show reported record food sales.

Food stand organizers attribute the record business to good weather conditions and last year's blizzard. Because of the poor traveling conditions and record snowfall for the 1996 Farm Show, public attendance was low. "This year, we had two days of good weather, and the public took advantage of the nice traveling conditions while we had them," explains Clair Hilsher, a volunteer at the Pennsylvania Poultry Federations food stand.

The Pennsylvania Poultry Federation was not prepared for the crowds. After having their best day ever on Saturday, the poultry stand sold out of all their menu items by 6 p.m. on Sunday. The poultry producers were able to restock in time to open again Monday morning and order more supplies for the rest of the week. "The chicken breast sandwich is by far our most popular item," says Hilsher, "and, our poultry hot dog, selling for one dollar, is great for kids."

Mushrooms are another big seller. Pennsylvania Mushroom Growers Cooperative member, Bob Ferranto, claims, "The Food Court is the most popular room." As a new item on the mushroom menu, grilled portabellas, an exotic mushroom variety, have contributed to the increased sales. Portabella sales have increased nationally over the past several years, from one of the lowest sales among mushroom varieties to second in sales for 1995. Ferranto says their national popularity was reflected in Farm Show sales.

The milkshakes, beef and pork sandwiches, baked potatoes, and fried vegetables also had increased sales, 20-30 percent over last year's weekend sales. On Saturday alone, the milkshake stand, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association and Valley Grange "1360," sold 14,000 milkshakes.

Tom Lyon, Division Manager for the Pennsylvania Co-operative Potato Growers, reported sales for Saturday and Sunday surpassing the records set for the 1996 Farm Show weekend. Lyon shows his Pennsylvania pride, explaining the increases, "We offer fresh baked potatoes and fresh cut fries. There are non better than those grown in Pennsylvania."

The commodity groups stress the importance of the Farm Show Food Court to Pennsylvania agriculture. The money raised by the commodity organizations from food sales is used for research, promotion programs, scholarships, 4-H, FFA, and college level activities. Henry Gruber, Executive Director of the Pennsylvania Livestock Association says, "We could not do it without all the volunteers. All the commodity groups are working together, supporting each other, to benefit all facets of Pennsylvania agriculture."

KNIGHT
3000 Series
Reel Auggie Mixer.

LESS PRESSURE, FRICTION, AND WEAR ... FASTER MIXING AND BETTER FEED QUALITY ... ALL FEATURES OF THE KNIGHT REEL AUGGIE

3000 SERIES REEL AUGGIES FEATURE THE FOLLOWING ADVANTAGES:

- Blends by gently lifting, fluffing, and tumbling the entire load, reducing mix time, power requirement, machine wear, and dead spots
- Aggressive upper and lower auger with hardened, replaceable knives, for thorough end-to-end movement
- Shear angle for both the upper and lower auger
- Simple slide tray or three auger discharge available
- Oil bath drive with external grease banks
- Constant Velocity PTO with integral slip clutch
- Hay-Max Kit option for better break-up of most hay and bulk materials
- Tow, truck mounted, and stationary units from 147 to 488 cubic feet

Simply . . . the Best

GEHL. Scavenger® Manure Spreaders

NEW

Several In Stock!

In Stock at Binkley & Hurst

THE BEST JUST GOT BETTER!

Better Performance. Gehl Scavenger®, the original V-tank spreader, has built a well-deserved reputation for delivering unmatched performance in a wide variety of materials. The new Scavenger takes that performance to the next level with even better spreading patterns in the toughest heavily-bedded manures.

Increased Durability. Not only has the new Scavenger been designed to out perform all other V-tank spreaders, but the main drive system components have been beefed-up for extra durability and increased dependability.

Why is Scavenger the Best? One big reason is the unique new round-core auger. This auger features segmented paddles grouped in a spiral pattern. This flighting configuration delivers more material to the discharge expeller in less time for faster unloading. The paddles are precisely positioned to deliver more uniform feeding to the discharge expeller. This exceptional design breaks up and blends all types of manure.

The auger is hydraulically powered both up and down (unlike competitive units that use springs, gravity or fixed augers). This design provides more control to chop through bridged material or power down through heavy loads.

Outstanding Application Control. Gehl's proven Varifio discharge system has been made even better. It's 33 percent wider on the Model 1315. On all new models the expeller assembly has been significantly strengthened. New square-tooth expeller paddles spread smoothly and evenly. You choose the rate you want, from heavy spring-time spreading to light top-dressing. With Scavenger you have complete control right at your fingertips.

Scavenger is Simply Better. The Gehl Scavenger is a simple spreader. It's solid and durable with sealed, welded tank construction and a full length channel steel sub-frame. Every Scavenger is built to deliver top performance year after year.

Your Gehl Dealer can show you why the new Scavenger V-tank spreader is still the best.

INTRODUCING THE NEW, IMPROVED LEWIS POULTRY HOUSEKEEPER IV.

WHY MORE POULTRY GROWERS ARE CHOOSING THE POULTRY HOUSEKEEPER.
- Removes caked or wet litter while leaving dry litter in the house.
- Aerates and fluffs the remaining litter to reduce ammonia and improve drying time.
- Stock piles or spreads litter after leaving the poultry house.
- Completely cleans out your poultry house when needed.
- Loads new litter outside the house and spreads it back in the house.
- 100% Hydraulic - No cumbersome PTO shafts

COMBINE VIDEOS & BOOK

❑ NEW VIDEO! THE TWO THOUSAND MILE HARVEST. Every year, ten of the world's largest combines follow the grain harvest for a five month journey from Texas over the heartland of the U.S.A. to Lethbridge, Alberta. The crew of eighteen show what life on the road is like through their working days - coordinating moves from site to site, coping with the machinery on a grand scale, progressing with humour and ingenuity through the unpredictable and evocative midwestern landscape. This is the ultimate harvester's road movie. VHS. Colour. 60 minutes. $34.95.

❑ NEW VIDEO! CLASSIC COMBINES Viewers both young and old will enjoy watching 150 years of harvesting grain, from the days of the scythe to the satellite. Covers Claas, International Harvester, John Deere, New Holland & many more makes. See machinery in full action. VHS. 60 minutes. $34.95.

❑ WORLD HARVESTERS Book from McCormick's 1831 reaper to the computerized mobile machines of today. Complete details about manufacturers & technical aspects are covered. Covers models from U.S.A., Canade, Britain, Austrailia. Most detailed book available. 70 colour, 60 b&W photos. 112 pgs. hardcover. $29.95.

❑ SPECIAL! Both above videos plus book, reg. $99.85 value for $79.85

KRAUSE CONSERVATION TILLAGE

ROCKFLEX DISC HARROWS

For 20 Years KRAUSE Disks have Tilled Your Fields, Spring & Fall

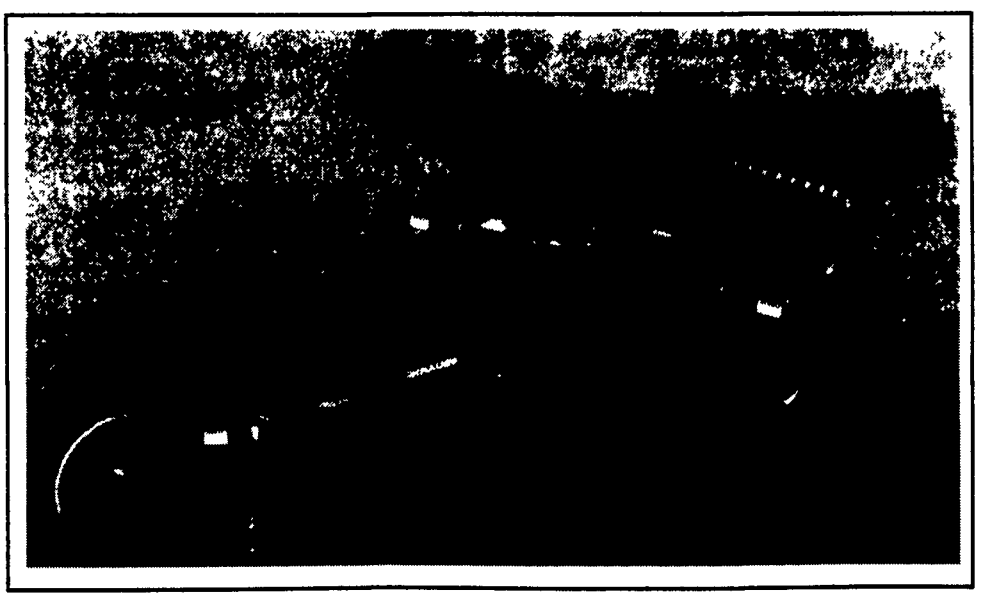
KRAUSE HAS A DISK HARROW FOR YOUR OPERATION:

The 2200 Series at 12'3" or 13'10" cutting width serves the smaller farm.
The 3950 and 4900 Series are folding models for larger HP tractors.
Larger operations want the heavy-duty cutting performance of the 2480 series.

KRAUSE EXCLUSIVE FEATURES:

- 12'3" Transport on the 3948 that cuts 18'...
- Nuts at both ends of the Tie Rods...
- Precision Machined Ductile Iron Spools on all Rockflex Models...
- Rugged Walking Beam Transport on 2480s...
- Overlapping Front Gangs on all models...
- Superseal Regreaseable Bearings encased in rubber on all Rockflex Models...
- Wide, heavy-duty scrapers on all models...

Choose from (6) Series
Series	Width of Cut
2200	12'3" to 13'8"	22" x 6 Ga	8" or 9⅛"
3950	18'1" to 26'9"	22" x 6 Ga	7¾" or 9⅛"
4900	18'1" to 25'2"	22"x6 Ga to 24"x¼"	8" or 9⅛"
4850	28'2" to 34'	24"x¼" to 24"x5/16"	8" or 9⅛"
2480	22'11"" to 26'	24"x¼" to 26"x5/16"	9"F & 10"R
2450	29'4" to 35'8"	24"x¼" to 26x5/16"	9"F & 10"R



KRAUSE ALSO MAKES PACKERS

Put a KRAUSE Packer behind your Rockflex Disk
- Available in sizes from 24'4" to 36'4"
- There's a KRAUSE Packer sized right for you.

FEATURING:
- Telescoping tongue on sizes over 28' wide
- Tongue leveling link for quick field adjustments
- Super Seal Regreasable Bearings

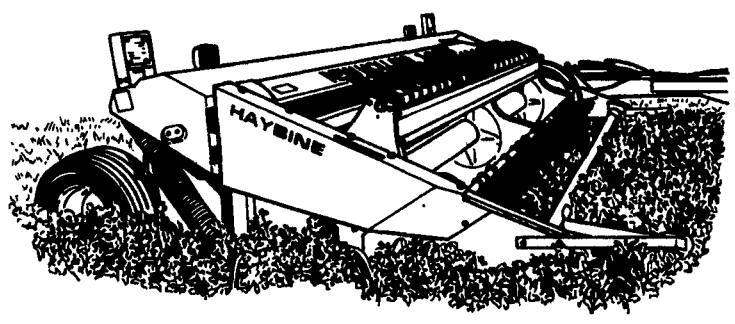
ALL NEW HAYBINE



A BETTER WAY TO MOW

The New Holland Model 1465 Haybine® mower-conditioner features a new header with a five-bat reel for more uniform crop flow. You get a cleaner cut and less scalping in a proven design. And the "1465" can be ordered with a mechanical tongue shift or hydraulic tongue shift. Other great features include:

- A torsion-bar roll-pressure system
- Chevron-design rolls for thcrough, gentle conditioning and fast drydown
- 100% bolted knife assemblies

When performance, reliability and durability count, you can count on the "1465".

KNIGHT Manufacturing Corp.

3000 Series
Reel Auggie Mixer®

LESS PRESSURE, FRICTION, AND WEAR . . .
FASTER MIXING AND BETTER FEED QUALITY . . .
ALL FEATURES OF THE KNIGHT REEL AUGGIE

3000 SERIES REEL AUGGIES
FEATURE THE FOLLOWING ADVANTAGES:

- Blends by gently lifting, fluffing, and tumbling the entire load, reducing mix time, power requirement, machine wear, and dead spots
- Aggressive upper and lower auger with hardened, replaceable knives, for thorough end-to-end movement
- Shear angle for both the upper and lower auger
- Simple slide tray or three auger discharge available
- Oil bath drive with external grease banks
- Constant Velocity PTO with integral slip clutch
- Hay-Max Kit option for better break-up of most hay and bulk materials
- Tow, truck mounted, and stationary units from 147 to 600 cubic feet

The Knight 3000 Series Reel Auggie Mixer - Simply . . . the Best

NEW HOLLAND

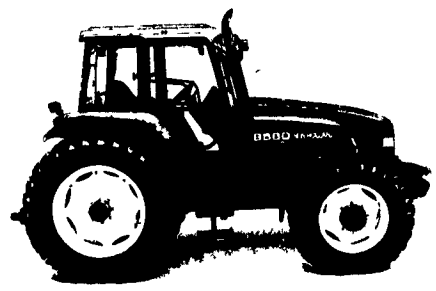
STEP UP TO THE POWER!



BE MORE PRODUCTIVE EVERY DAY

New Holland 60 Series GEMINI™ tractors deliver uncompromised power and versatile performance

POWER. Reliable 7 5 liter engines feature exceptional lugging ability

PERFORMANCE. The exclusive 18 x 6" Range Command™ transmission features six powershift gears in three ranges Or, choose the new 23 x 12 Dual Command™ transmission

COMFORT. Exceptional visibility front to rear, plenty of legroom, easy-to-reach controls, two doors, comfortable seat and quiet interior

SERVICE. Exclusive flip-up hood allows total access to battery and filters

TRACTORS THAT TAKE HARD WORK SERIOUSLY

New Holland 35 Series tractors really pull their weight in the field.

- 4-cylinder, New Holland engines have good lugging capacity, and produce very little smoke or noise
- The high-capacity, 14 5 gpm hydraulic flow assures dependable operation
- 3-point lift system, activated by a touch control, is best in class
- Electro-hydraulic differential lock provides maximum traction when needed

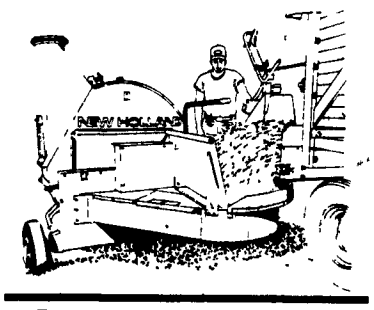
TOUGH

RELIABLE AND DURABLE

Need to handle the toughest jobs? Check out the Model L465 New Holland Super Boom™ skid-steer loader The "L465" is built tough to give you superior performance and durability.

The "L465" has a 30-horse-power, diesel engine and a 1,250-pound SAE operating load It has a Pick Up 'n Go™ universal attachment system so it's compatible with New Holland or competitive attach-ments And, you can get to routine service points with the boom down

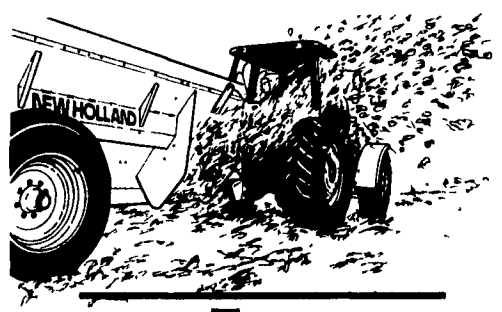
Stop in to see what makes New Holland Super Boom so tough



GET INCREASED SPINNING ACTION

Save time and increase efficiency with a Model 28 New Holland forage blower This 540-rpm blower features a 44-inch diameter hopper that center-fills silos up to 80 feet high

The Whirl-a-Feed® rotary table spins crops into the blower housing and material gets off to a fast start up the blower pipe Spinning action breaks up heavy clumps, and virtually eliminates plugging



THIS SPREADER'S GOT STAYING POWER

The Model 306 side-delivery spreader spreads slurry, free-stall, gutter, poultry and even most pen-packed manure cleanly and quickly. Offset auger paddles use power efficiently. Hydraulics control the spread pattern for a consistent spread rate.

Get optional side extensions for 1700-gallon capacity It's built so well it comes with a twelve-year tank warranty.

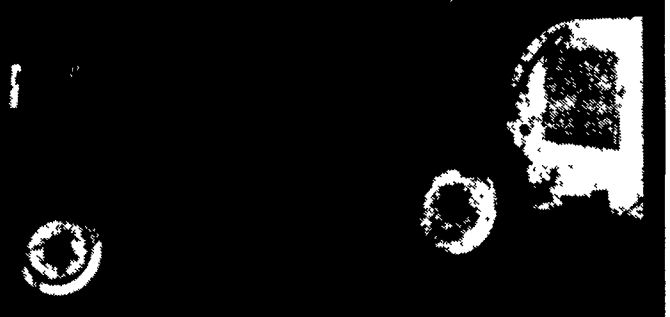
8011L • 81 HP
UTILITY SERIES TRACTORS
9011L • 98 HP



BELARUS VALUE. IN MORE WAYS THAN ONE.

Introducing two big changes in how small jobs get done. The 8011L and 9011L offer a low clearance design and tight turning radius that provide even higher levels of maneuverability. Yet they still manage to offer the same durability, value and affordability you expect from Belarus.

Choose from the 8011L and its tough 81 hp, four cylinder water cooled engine or the 9011L's turbo charged 98 hp. Both engines have strong torque characteristics. Add it all up, and you've got utility tractors ideal for every type of operation from orchards and vineyards to poultry operations and grounds maintenance.

But the exceptional value doesn't stop there. The 8011L and 9011L offer excellent lift capacity for front end loader applications. Other impressive features include power assisted steering and a fully adjustable seat for operator comfort and convenience.

Combined with their ease of maintenance and servicing, it's not hard to see how Belarus makes even the smallest jobs easier in a big way. That's Belarus value.

PURINA PROFILE

MARTIN'S FEED AND FERTILIZER

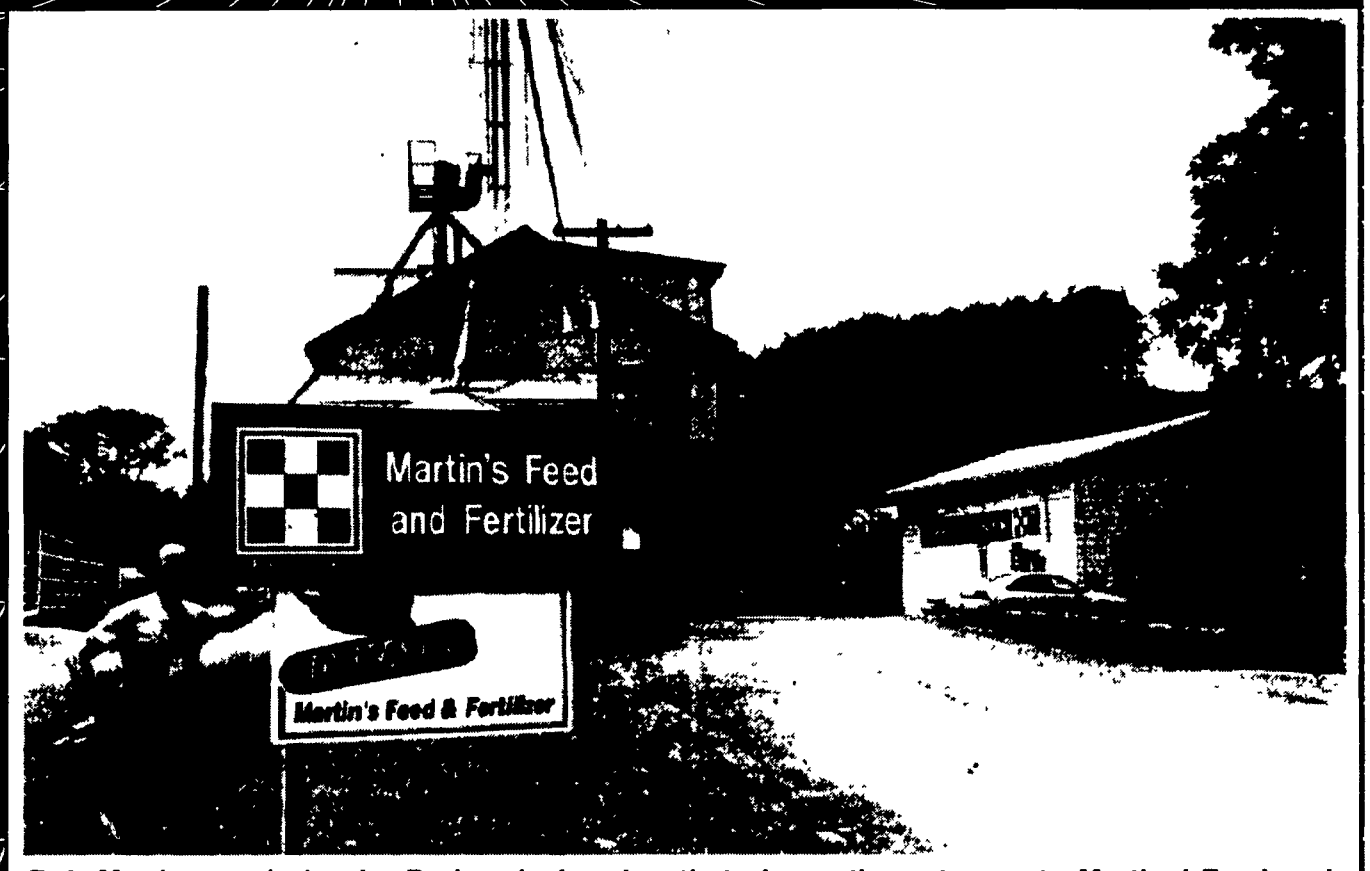
Ed and Bob Martin's father purchased the old water-powered mill along Penn's Creek near Coburn in Centre County in 1960. In 1970 the family Purina dealership under the name of Martin's Feed and Fertilizer, Inc. was moved to the present location in the small town where farmers from all over the area have hauled their grains for many years.

Over the last 20 years, many new dairy farms have been added to their 30-mile radius service area because Lancaster County Amish families moved here and built new dairy barns and divided the larger farms into small units.

Today, the Martins are impressed with the quality of Purina feeds and the back up research that helps guarantee this quality. "We are very strict on quality," Ed said. "And Purina has helped us make sure we are giving this quality to our customers. It doesn't always pay to buy the cheapest feed. You can cut on the quality of ingredients you put in the feed but you lose in animal health and production."

Martin's Feed also tries to keep formulas simple so they are more constant. "Cows don't like change, and the fewer times you need to change their feed the better they will produce," he said.

Along with the capability to deliver feeds in both bulk and bags, the people at Martin's Feed are knowledgeable in many different aspects of agriculture. Forage testing and soil sampling provide the background information that forms the basis of many of the recommendations they are called on to make. If you have need for expert nutritional or crop management advice and want to deal with knowledgeable people who know the local area and are very strict on quality control, the Martins



Bob Martin stands by the Purina dealer sign that shows the entrance to Martins' Feed and Fertilizer at Coburn in Centre County.

Farrell Brown is one of the drivers who delivers Purina Chows to local farmers
